Demos Level Spy Charges At Stans

Formal Document Says Nixon's Money Involved

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Democratic Party accused Maurice Stans today of helping hire a "political espionage squad" to spy on Democratic officials and candidates, and financing the operation with funds intended for President Nixon's re-election campaign.

The Democrats named Stans in a formal legal document along with three other men formerly connected either with the President's campaign or with the White House.

The complaint alleged that they "embarked upon a conspiracy" last spring to purloin political secrets from the Democrats "by any available means, including theft and photographing of documents, and installation and monitoring of wiretapping and eavesdropping devices."

Named with Stans, chairman of the Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President, were former campaign aides Hugh W. Sloan Jr., G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt Jr.

The allegations were contained in an amended complaint, submitted by Democratic party lawyers in U.S. District Court here, to a civil suit filed last June against five men arrested in the break-in at the Watergate offices of the Democratic National Committee.

The amended complaint added the four men and the Committee for the Re-Election of the President as codefendants and upped the demands for damages from $1 million to $3.2 million.

The latest allegations, according to sources close to the Democrats, were based on information gleaned from a self-described participant in the alleged wiretap operation. He was not identified.

The Democrats charged that Stans, former commerce secretary, and the others conspired, among other things, to destroy financial records showing that $114,000 in Nixon campaign funds were diverted to a special account to pay the "espionage squad."

Sloan was treasurer of Stans' committee at the time of the Watergate incident, but left his post last July. Liddy was counsel to the committee but was fired in June after he refused to talk to the FBI about the Watergate Caper.

Hunt was a $100-a-day White House consultant at the time but he no longer holds that job either.

The Democrats alleged that the June 17 break-in was conducted to repair and replace faulty eavesdropping equipment installed earlier. They also alleged that the squad tried to break into the offices of Sen.George S. McGovern in May.

American Veto In U.N. Draws Arab Hostility

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Arab world reacted angrily today to the United States veto of a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning Israel for its punitive air raids against Lebanon and Syria. Syria threatened "hard strikes" at the interests of countries it said were supporting Israel.

Relations between Egypt and West Germany also took a sharp turn for the worse and Egypt rejected today as "unconvincing and insuffient" the West German explanation of statements made following the Munich Olympics slayings last week. Egypt also was angry because the Arabs were referred to as "terrorists," whereas they are regarded in the Arab world as heroes.

The sequence of events began last Tuesday morning in the Israeli section of the Olympic Village in Munich when Arab guerrillas killed two Israelis and kidnaped nine other who subsequently were murdered. Altogether five guerrillas, 11 Israelis and a West German policeman died.

A police spokesman in Munich reported that police arrested a Syrian Arab at Munich airport Sunday on suspicion he might have been connected with the guerrilla attack. Police said they had nothing definite against him, that it was a precautionary arrest and that the man was being questioned. Three other Arabs were arrested at the time of the shoot-out.

The first anti-American statement stemming from the events came today in Cairo where the 18-nation Arab League expressed its "dismay" over the Security Council failure to condemn the Israeli air attacks. The United States vetoed the

BART Trains Run At Long Last

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The sleek new Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) today began limited operations of the first completely new mass transit system built in the United States in 65 years.

The first riders at midmorning were Bay area officials and newsmen.

"The whole world is watching the billion and a half dollar bet we're making out here in Golden Gate country," said San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto. "We're going to win that bet. We're going to have the most beautiful and efficient transit system in the world. We're going to show that we can develop balanced transportation in the fourth largest population mass in the country."

Similar ceremonites were conducted simultaneously at the system's 11 other stations opening along the first 28-mile section.

"That train has been a long time coming down that track, but it's finally here," said Ogawa, standing in for Mayor John Reading who was out of town.

Turnstiles opened at noon for the first paying customers, who inserted fares ranging from 30 cents to $1 into automatic ticket dispensing machines.

The first trains rolled one decade and $1.4 billion after voters in three San Francisco Bay Area counties approved construction of the first completely new mass transit system in the nation since 1907.

With its luxurious, high-speed cars and a schedule promising to carry passengers into San Francisco more rapidly than they can drive from outlying suburbs, BART is viewed by mass transit experts as a crucial test of whether commuters can be lured out of their cars.

The key section—a 3.6-mile transbay tube between San Francisco and Oakland and the downtown San Francisco subway—won't begin operation until midsummerof next year. By 1975-76, BART expects to carry 62 million passengers a year over 75 miles of subway, elevated and ground level track.

"We think it will be what we promised the public, although it is bound to improve as we get additional equipment," said B. R. Stones, BART's general manager.

"Right now we're in the crazy position of hoping not too many people show up to ride our trains because we don't have enough cars to handle big excursion crowds," said Stokes. "The thing we do not want is hordes and hordes of people."

During the first two months of service, eight trains of two to three cars each will operate only on weekdays between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. BART, which is the first completely automated rail system ever built, was financed almost entirely by local taxpayers in San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties who approved the system in a 1962 election and by auto tolls from the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. A special sales tax was added in the three counties in 1969 after cost of the system jumped well above the original $1 billion estimate.

Bank Snooping Ruled Violation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal court ruled Monday that a new law allowing the government to check the banking records of individuals violates the right to privacy and is unconstitutional.

The U.S. district court said the Bank Secrecy Act, which was passed in 1970 and went into effect this year, insofar as it gives the government a blanket power to examine records of individuals "is such an invasion of a citizen's right to privacy as amounts to an unreasonable search within the meaning of the Fourth Amendment."

The provisions of the law requiring banks to maintain microfilmed records of all transactions and report to the government on large international money transactions were upheld.

But, the court said, the law, is unconstitutional insofar as it authorizes the government "to require virtually unlimited reporting from banks and their customers of domestic financial transactions as a surveillance device for the alleged purpose of discovering possible, but unspecified, wrongdoing among the citizenry."

The court said the relationship between the requirements of this law and the likelihood of uncovering wrongdoing was "far-fetched."

A three-judge panel which ruled on a challenge to the law noted that the Act makes no provision for any judicial or administrative requirement for the Secretary of the Treasury before he orders an individual's bank records disclosed.

The court also noted that when the government gets the records of an individual's bank account these might contain "details of his personal financial affairs" such as to whom he is paying money, and other information appearing on checks.

The judges said this is the kind of information that must be obtained from the individual himself through legal means.

The challenge to the Bank Secrecy Act was made by California banker Fortney Stark and the American Civil Liberties Union and was backed by the American Bankers Association.

The government contended that the individual depositor had "no inherent interest" in bank records.

House Speaker Albert's Accident Comes To Light

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Speaker Carl Albert said today he "had a small accident" in traffic Saturday night, but damage was minor and "we settled it" at the scene.

The Washington Post published a story this morning saying that Albert was driving when his auto hit another car and a small truck in northwest Washington Saturday evening. There was no injury, damage was minor, and police did not file a report, the Post said.

The newspaper said a policeman drove Albert home after the accident, and that Albert earlier had tried to shove two other policemen at the scene, saying, "Leave me alone. I am Carl Albert, Speaker of the House...you cannot touch me."

Albert was asked whether that report of the incident was accurate.

"It's hard to say that a report is correct," he said. "I had a small accident. I was not drunk. I did not know I had hit the man (the other car) until I went around the corner and a boy told me I had. A boy came up and we had a friendly chat and we settled it —that's it."

Asked if he had had anything to drink, Albert said:

"I had been in New York all day. They were passing out drinks all day and I didn't have any. When it was all over, I took something. I don't know what it was."

He declined to say what the ettlement of the accident amounted to, but "there was less than $100 damage —let's put it that way."

Police were quoted as saying the accident occurred outside a night club in the northwest section of the city at about 11:30

13 Dead In Two Bus Accidents

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Two bus accidents only 30 minutes apart on the same highway leading to Mexico City killed 13 persons and injured 60, police said Monday.

The accidents happened on the northbound highway at 6:30 and at 7 p.m. Sunday. The first mishap occurred when a bus overturned, killing four passengers.

Half an hour later, another bus hit a protective guard rail and overturned, killing nine passengers.

Mines May Have Crippled U.S. Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon has revealed that a U.S. Navy destroyer may have been the first victim of the American mine blockade placed around North Vietnam in early May.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said Friday the destroyer Warrington was racked by two underwater explosions while operating in the Tonkin Gulf July 17. The ship was damaged so badly it may have to be scrapped rather than repaired, Friedheim said.

Frontrunners May Lose Out In Fight For McInnis' Seat

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Competition among the three front-runners to succeed Marin County Supervisor John F. McInnis is so intense that a fourth person may be appointed by the governor, Republican sources said today.

The front-runners since McInnis's death two weeks ago are Jack G. Nixon, Robert A. Roumiguiere and Beth Rowen.

But since none of the three has been able to outdo his rivals in broadening his support, "other names may be looked at," the sources said.

The other names cited as likely to be added to the competition were Richard P. Nave and Joseph J. Garbarino.

Others considered possible candidates are San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen, former Marin County Grand Jury chairman Clifford S. Lund, Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission Chairman Albert J. Boro, John A. Busterud, head of environmental planning for the Pentagon, and Dr. Charles W. Aby, former San Rafael city councilman.

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini has decided not to seek the appointment.

Of the three front-runners, only Nixon, an insurance broker, has served in an elective position. He was a director of the Marinwood Community Services District from 1968 to 1970. He is chairman of the county planning commission.

Roumiguiere is a real estate broker. Mrs. Rowen is a former vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee. Garbarino, a partner in a garbage company, is chairman of the San Rafael Planning Commission. Nave is president of the Marin Property Owners Association.

No appointment is expected until at least late next week.

G.M. Recalling 1972 Cadillacs

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. Monday announced recall of 37,000 Cadillacs produced at the end of the 1972 model year to find 5,000 defective left rear axle shafts.

The Cadillac Motor Division of GM said that the shafts may be a fraction of an inch too long and "could result in unusual pressure on the wheel bearing singled by loud noise.

"If this is ignored and the driver continues to operate the car without having it serviced," Cadillac said, "the bearing will fail and could cause a loss of rear wheel brakes."

Cadillac said that should the rear brakes fail "front brakes still are entirely operable, and by using caution, the car can be brought to a safe stop."

Slight Earthquake Hits Southern Cal

RIVERSIDE (UPI)—A slight earthquake rumbled through two southern California counties early today but there were no injuries or damage reports.

Scientists at the Cal Tech seismological laboratory said the tremor occurred at 2:40 a.m. and measured 3.8 on the Richter scale. They said it apparently was along the San Jacinto fault line which is a branch of the San Andreas fault.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Blast In Manila

MANILA (UPI) — Terrorits early today bombed the Manila Electric Co. compound and a power substation at the entrance of a swank subdivision near the residences of Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo and U.S. Ambassador Henry A. Byroade.

The incidents were the latest in a series of bombing attacks in the Greater Manila area that Philippine military authorities blamed on Communist urban guerrillas of the Maoist New Peoples Army.

Down Drifts

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical Storm Dawn, returning to the area of its birth almost a week ago, drifted about 475 miles off the Florida coast today as only a windy rainstorm.

The National Hurricane Center said Dawn, with peak winds of 40 miles per hour in squalls, may turn toward the coast tonight but will "not pose a threat to any land area for the next 36 hours."

Korea Talks Set

SEOUL (UPI) — The first official North Korean delegation to enter South Korea since World War II will arrive in Seoul tomorrow for a second round of Red Cross talks on reuniting "lost" families in divided Korea, South Korean officials said today.

Red Cross delegations of the two sides will meet Wednesday for the first and only official meeting between the two sides during the northerners' four-day stay in South Korea. The return visit reciprocates a similar meeting held Aug. 30.

Racial Violence

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Several fires broke out in businesses in the black district last night and police arrested about 20 persons for violating a curfew imposed during a weekend of racial violence.

A police spokesman said early today that "everything is just as quiet as can be now." He said the flurry of fires, along with isolated incidents of rock throwing, ended about 12:30 a.m.

He said the largest fire was in a storage building.

The incidents followed a day of relative calm when black leaders met with city officials in this northeast Georgia city of 15,500 and demanded more participation in local government.

Star Injured

The singer-dancer was rushed to Barton Memorial Hospital where X-rays showed she also sustained five fractures of the face and a broken left arm, according to Paul Block, a spokesman for her public relations firm.

Block said the audience was aware something had happened even though it was unable to see the accident.

Jets Are Out

BERN, Switzerland (UPI) — The Swiss government today settled a two-year controversy over a new jet fighter for its air force by deciding to buy none at all.

Five countries entered the bidding when Switzerland went shopping for a new plane in 1970 — the United States, France, Britain, Italy and Sweden.

By early this year the choice had narrowed to the American Corsair and the French Milan.

The Corsair was given the Defense Ministry's approval which angered the French, who accused Switzerland of being "anti-European."

Today the Federal Council announced that "Switzerland has renounced for the time being the purchase of a new aircraft."

Yemeni Suspected

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Yemeni diplomat living in Switzerland is the top suspect behind the Munich massacre of 11 Israeli athletes, according to Newsweek magazine.

The magazine identified the diplomat as Daoud Barakat, chief of the Black September organization in Western Europe. He lives in Switzerland and represents Yemen before the United Nationa and other international organizations in Geneva.

"Barakat has helped plan some of Black September's most spectucalr capers and is the prime suspect as a mastermind behind the Munich massacre," the magazine reported yesterday.

Scarf Fatalities

CHICAGO (UPI) — A study in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association showed that nearly half of the persons involved in accidents involving the wearing of scarfs died.

Reporting on the "long scarf" or "Isadora Duncan syndrome," JAMA said in the study of 11 cases the death rate was 45 per cent.

The journal said all accidents occurred in the winter when the scarfs became entangled in moving machinery. Nine of the victims were females between the ages of 10 and 30.

Goldwater Sees McGovern Loss

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., predicts that George McGovern will suffer the same fate he did as the 1964 presidential candidate.

"I got the hell beat out of me. He's going to get the hell beat out of him," Goldwater said Saturday night on a tour of the South to boost Republican candidates for the Senate and House.

$2 Million Dredge Destroyed By Fire

America Uses Veto, Kills U.N. Measure

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States cast its second veto in U.N. history Sunday, killing a resolution calling for an end to hostilities in the Middle East because it ignored the massacre of Israeli athletes in Munich.

The United States vetoed the measure, a simple Somali resolution that called only for a cessation of military operations in the Middle East, because the Security Council refused to link recent retaliatory Israeli attacks on Syria and Lebanon with last week's slaying of 11 Israelis in Munich at the hands of Palestinian guerrillas.

Although the resolution had the necessary majority of votes for passage, the U.S. veto killed it. The vote was 13 in favor with the United States—one of the veto-holding powers on the council—voting against and Panama abstaining.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush earlier in the day had tried and failed at getting a U.S.-sponsored resolution to a vote. The resolution would have condemned the "senseless and completely unprovoked" attack by the Black September Arab guerrilla group on the Israeli team members.

Before the vote on the Somali resolution, the council—meeting in an emergency session called by Syria and Lebanon to condemn Israeli attacks into those countries—rejected a series of Western amendments that would have broadened the Somali measure to deplore all acts of terrorism.

The Soviet Union and China also cast two vetoes, blocking the acceptance of one of the Western amendments that was otherwise ratified by nine votes —the required majority for passage. It was China's second U.N. veto and the 109th for the Soviets.

The only other time the United States cast a veto was in March, 1970, when it helped Britain block an African attempt to extend the scope of the sanctions imposed on the white minority Rhodesian regime.

Bush said after Sunday's Security Council vote:

"Is it not a double standard to suggest that states must control their own forces, a point which we readily grant, but that these states need not control irregular forces in their territory—forces of murder, forces of terror?

"We have been walking a very dangerous path by our silence on terrorism. We invite more terrorism by our silence in the disaster in Munich. Are we indeed inviting more Munichs?"

In his speech before the council, Bush said: "Vunich was so horrible, so vicious, so brutal, so detrimental to order in the world and to peace in the Middle East that we simply must not act here as if it did not exist."

Mexico Seeking Exportation Law

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Finance Ministry is seeking a law to force non-Mexican companies to export a percentage of the products they produce in Mexico, a ministry spokesman said today.

The law could hit U.S. companies heavily, depending on the percentages of exports demanded.

American auto companies, for example, would be required to export either completed cars or parts manufactured in Mexico. Ford, Chrysler and General Motors all have factories in Mexico.

Finance Minister Hugo Margain Friday hinted at the measure during a speech to congress. He said more than 100 foreign companies were exploiting the Mexican market, while their own home offices forbid them to export products.

MEYER LANSKY

Citizenship Application Turned Down

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israel's supreme court rejected today the citizenship application of reputed Mafia chieftain Meyer Lansky, in effect upholding the government's claim that he would constitute a "threat to the public safety."

Lansky, 72, came to Israel in 1970 and stayed for one year on a tourist visa before applying for citizenship under the law of return, which forbids rejecting the immigration request of any Jew unless he is adjudged such a threat.

The state had said that if the court ruled against Lansky, it would grant him free passage to anywhere he wants to go instead of sending him back to the United States, where he is under indictment on charges of illegal gambling and tax evasion.

"On the basis of the cumulative weight of the evidence ... the respondent (the government) was entitled to conclude that the appellant has a criminal record, closely tied in with organized crime," the court said.

"(the respondent) further was entitled to reason that because of this past ... there is a reasonable fear that if he were allowed to stay in the country he would consitute a danger to public safety."

Israeli Official Shot In Belgium

BRUSSELS (UPI)—A man believed to be an Arab shot and seriously wounded an Israeli Embassy official in an ambush Sunday night, police reported today.

The official was identified as Ophir Zadok, 42, a member of the Israeli Embassy staff. Police said he was lured to a downtown cafe by a man who claimed he had information on a planned terrorist attack on the embassy. As soon as they entered the cafe the other man pulled a gun and fired four or five times, police said.

Zadok was seriously injured. Police said his life was not in danger but that he was too badly hurt to be questioned.

In Tel Aviv, a Foreign Ministry communique said the assailant identified himself as a Moroccan in a telephone call and lured Zadok to the Princess Cafe with word he had information on an impending sabotage attack against an "Israeli object."

The communique said when Ophir reached the rendezvous the assailant drew a pistol and fired four shots at the Israeli.

The Israeli communique said the identity of the assailant "is known to the Belgian authorities, who are searching for him. The Israeli official has been operated on and is in no danger."

The incident took place at 8 p.m. Brussels time, according to the communique.

"On 10 September, a man identifying himself as of Moroccan nationality and giving his name, phoned the Israeli Embassy in Brussels claiming he had information with regard to an impending act of sabotage against an Israeli object," it said.

"The caller was not prepared to enter the embassy but was prepared to meet with the Israeli official in the Brussels Cafe Princess."

The attempt on Zadok's life happened five days after 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team, five Arab guerrillas and one German policeman were killed in Munich as result of an Arab terrorist attack.

The man said he could give information on a terrorist attack being prepared against the embassy. As he did not want to come to the embassy, Zadok agreed to a meeting in the cafe in the downtown Place de Brouckere, the officials said.

Police said Zadok entered the cafe Sunday around 8:40 p.m.accompanied by another man, believed to be an Arab. The shooting followed.

Poll: Voters Support Nixon's Bombing Policy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A national pollster reported today that potential voters surveyed favor President Nixon's bombing policy in Vietnam by a margin of 55 to 32 per cent.

"The rationale behind public thinking is that 'by mining harbors and bombing, the North Vietnamese will come to peace terms faster,' " said syndicated poll-taker Louis Harris.

Harris also said the potential voters approved by 74 to 11 per cent the President's contention that "it is important that South Vietnam not fall into the control of the Communists."

The poll was anything but good news to Democratic presidential candidate George S. McGovern, who is pegging his campaign heavily on a pledge to get the United States out of Vietnam as quickly as possible.

Today, McGovern turned to the issue of wage-price controls, saying in a statement issued by his headquarters in Washington that the administration's program had been a "disaster" and the Price Commission "almost a total failure".

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew took up the same subject in a speech to union members in Las Vegas, Nev., saying the administration wants to abolish the economic controls as soon as possible.

"None of us likes wage and price controls," Agnew said. "We intend to rid ourselves of them as soon as we can. But the times and our legacy from the past, my friends, pretty much determine our policy options."

In his statement, McGovern said the Price Commission had failed to do its job because of a preoccupation with "maintaining profits, not with controlling inflation".

"The Republican wage-price controls have been a disaster," McGovern said. "The inflation has not stopped. Consumer prices rose at a rate of 3.5 per cent in the eight months between November, 1971, and July—only a little below the rate prior to the controls and considerably above the 2.5 per cent goal."

McGovern said inflation was "actually accelerating" because over the last three months, the wholesale index has risen at a 7.4 per cent rate, faster than at any time during the last 12 months.

A greatly different view of the state of the economy was taken Sunday by Donald Rumsfeld, director of the administration's Cost of Living Council, who said the job-producing record of the economy during a year of controls and defense industry cutbacks has been "nothing short of spectacular."

"The ability of this economy to grow and expand and break a new record practically every month on the employment side, that is to say the number of people productively employed in this economy, is amazing," Rumsfeld said.

Rumsfeld said the 5.6 per cent unemployment rate reported last month still was too high, but he said the rate has been coming down and he anticipated it would fall further "in the period just ahead."

McGovern scheduled campaign appearances in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area today. Sunday he made appearances at Espanola, N.M., and Houston, Tex., telling a crowd of 10,000 at Espanola that a "better day" was coming for Spanish-surnamed people of the United States.

Nixon scheduled a busy day in the White House today. He had meetings scheduled with the Council on International Economic Policy; Joseph DeSilva, a supporter who is secretary-treasurer of Local 770 of the Retail Clerks International Association in California; Joseph R. Samson, newly elected national commander of the AMVETS; and with Russell Train, chairman of the Council of Environmental Quality, who is leaving for the Soviet Union.

Sargent Shriver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, said Sunday Israel should not be condemned for its raids on suspected terrorist bases in Lebanon and Syria because they were provoked by Arab terrorists' attack on the Israeli Olympic team.

Shriver was interviewed on ABC's Issues and Answers.

Shriver today started a two-day tour of California. In a taped interview in San Francisco he said Palestinian Arabs must be included in any peace solution to the mideast conflict.

Chicano Hecklers Stop Kennedy Speech

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Chicano Activists, chanting and jeering, prevented Sen. Edward M. Kennedy from making a speech Sunday on behalf of Democratic Presidential Candidate George McGovern.

About 30 hecklers clapped rapidly and chanted "Chicano power, Chicano power," as Kennedy tried to speak to a crowd of about 2,500, mostly Mexican-Americans at East Los Angeles College.

The Massachusetts Senator's prepared speech was a call for improvements in the lives of Spanish-speaking Americans, and criticized the Nixon administration's record in dealing with Hispanic-Americans.

He did not get to deliver it.

"It's nice to be back in sunny, Southern California," Kennedy said as the protesters kept him from being heard. "I'd forgotten what it was like to be heckled."

Kennedy offered to let the activists have the microphone if they had anything to say, proposing they send a spokesman to speak for seven minutes, and then let him talk for seven minutes.

One of the protestors spoke for seven minutes, but when Kennedy attempted to talk, the Chicano group again began chanting and jeering. After several minutes, Kennedy gave up.

Kennedy is on a campaign swing through Southern California for McGovern. He was scheduled to address the convention of the International Association of Machinists today, along with Democratic Vice Presidential Candidate Sargent Shriver.

Classes Slated In Terra Linda

Scheduled are: belly dancing for beginners and advanced, beginning Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the center; tennis for beginners, intermediate and advanced, beginning tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Meadows Tennis Courts; ladies swimming and slimnastics, beginning Sept. 18 at 1:30 p.m.; ladies water exercise, tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Those wishing to register their pre-school youngsters for arts and crafts, music and story-telling and girls five years and up for ballet may contact the center at 670 Del Ganado Road, San Rafael.

Nixon Officials To Be Exonerated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When a federal grand jury hands down its decision in the Watergate bugging case—expected within a matter of days —top officials in President Nixon's re-election campaign will be exonerated of any involvement, according to Clark MacGregor, Nixon's campaign director.

MacGregor, in an interview on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" program Sunday, said "We are anxious to see the grand jury action completed ... people in authority will be exonerated by not being indicted."

Boa Constrictor Stolen From Cage

A San Rafael man has reported the theft of a red-tailed Colombian Boa Constrictor.

According to police, Scott M. Smith of 48 Longwood Drive told officers that a three-foot long tan and dark brown snake was taken from its cage between Friday and Sunday by a thief who opened and unlocked a garage door. Another snake in the cage was left untouched, police said.

That 'Tax Loss' From Redevelopment

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has challenged plans of the City of San Rafael for downtown redevelopment. It last week asked the county counsel to investigate the possibility of court action to prevent San Rafael from going ahead with its redevelopment plans.

Similar attacks may be expected on redevelopment plans of the cities of Larkspur, Corte Madera and Novato.

They result from fears by county and school district officials that expected increased in tax revenues will be lost if the redevelopment plans go forward.

SAN RAFAEL, Larkspur, Corte Madera and Novato are acting under a state law which permits a city to set up a redevelopment area and to divert all taxes on private improvements made subsequently in that area to pay for public improvements which, in turn, will bring more private improvements.

For instance, the taxes on whatever McKeon Construction Co. builds on the Courthouse Square would go for downtown public projects in San Rafael — which might be street widening or redesign, recreation facilities, or anything else that would improve the downtown.

Taxes on the existing downtown valuation would continue to be split up among county, city, and the various school and special districts.

COUNTY AUDITOR-Controller Michael Mitchell has sounded a series of warnings about "loss of revenues" to the county end districts through this procedure. His latest figures, given to the board of supervisors last week, show the county losing $30,000 in tax revenues and San Rafael elementary and high school districts losing $63,000 next year if the plan goes ahead.

It should be made clear that the "revenue loss" projected by Mitchell is a guesstimate of possible loss from possible future assessment increases. It is based on application of the county-wide average annual increase in assessed valuation.

Neither county nor school districts would lose any of the tax revenue they already receive from the area proposed for redevelopment. The redevelopment plan would simply freeze the assessment on those properties at its present level, as far as those taxing agencies go. Full taxes would be paid on subsequent improvements, but they would go into redevelopment.

IT IS RATHER difficult to see where the county would be put to any added expense by improvement of downtown San Rafael. The county pays health and welfare costs in the cities — but commercial and public service developments would not add to such costs. Neither would they add to the school rolls.

On the other hand, if downtown San Rafael is permitted to continue deteriorating, its assessed valuation will decline rather than increase. The result will be higher tax rates for city, county and school districts to make up for the actual loss from decline of downtown property values.

How the redevelopment taxes are used will spell how well the scheme works. But without the infusion of some public money to improve the downtown, it is difficult to see how it can be expected to continue to produce more tax revenues for city, county, and schools.

Dog Days

Each autumn just prior to Labor Day, a kind of exhaustion or mental malaise sets in around the country, including even Marin. We believe it has something to do with the end of the growing season and the shortening days. It is one of those little-understood great natural rhythms which quietly influence our lives.

POLITICS — AS USUAL

Arrigoni Sweet As Lemon In 'Invitation' To Opponent

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The excess acid stomach of politics is off to an early start in the contest between Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and challenger Barbara Boxer.

The feelings between them came through in a letter Arrigoni sent Mrs. Boxer about his proposal that they schedule joint coffees. In a patronizing twist that would frost any libber, Arrigoni said the coffees should be held only twice a week in the early afternoon because "I realize you are a busy mother with two small children."

He suggested further that "we could have one coffee hosted from your camp of followers and one hosted from my continually growing list of supporters."

HIGH PRAISE for Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has come from Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger for Bagley's passage of a $166,000 special appropriation to prove state claims to some 40,000 acres of tidelands in San Francisco Bay.

Younger said the state's litigation with developes claiming title to the tidelands "should be one of the most significant ones in California's environmental history. It may create precedents affecting state lands throughout California.

"The people of the state are in your debt for the action that you took to provide us with the necessary tools to carry it on," Younger wrote Bagley.

The veteran assemblyman never has had an image as a conservationist, but in fact has scored numerous quiet credits in this field.

DESPITE HIS TOUGH challenge from San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, has given little evidence of getting his campaign off the ground.

At least he does not lack for assurance. Asked if the President will campaign here and thus benefit Republican congressional candidates, Mailliard said he did not need Nixon's coattails. "I've been around just as long as he has," Mailliard said.

But where was Mailliard when the President was in San Francisco last week? Practically standing on the President's coattails.

THE REPUBLICAN National Committee gleefully reports it has dug up a Democrat in Sen. George S. McGovern's hometown of Mitchell, S.D., who actually is considering voting for Nixon.

The gent is Jake Martin, 72, who "has been active in Democrat Party politics for 38 years and never voted for a Republican for president," the GOP National Committee said. "This year he just might," it added.

What struck us was that with all their resources the Republicans could not even find a Democrat who is certain he will vote for Nixon.

College Board Aspirant No Longer On Staff

Your editorial of Sept. 8 attached is not factually correct inasmuch as I completed a one year contract with the Marin Community College District June 30, 1972 under a federal grant. I conducted the Work Experience Education program during that period but am not presently on the college staff.

I appreciated being mentioned in your otherwise excellent editorial.

Applauds Reprisals Against Arab Countries

We were shocked and saddened by the newest act of Arab terrorism against the Jewish people, the massacre at Munich. We agree with the President of the United States that "there must be no point of refuge, there must be no place to hide," for those who cynically threaten and destroy human lives and interrupt the peaceful pursuit of international cooperation.

We applaud the action of both houses of our Congress in urging the United States and other countries to cut off all contacts with nations providing support and sanctuary to terrorists.

Reasons For Wearing POW-MIA Bracelets

The reason for wearing a POW-MIA bracelet is to remind us of our men who may or may not be prisoners of war in North Vietnam, and to pray for their safety and return. We disapprove of North Vietnam refusing to release the names of hundreds whose fate is unknown (our nephew has been missing since January, 1966). We wear these to register our disapproval of North Vietnam who refused to allow the flow of mail and packages.

Your article re the Marine who wants to wear one leaves the impression that the bracelets are worn to register disapproval of the war generally. The reasons are not political.

AN EDUCATOR'S VIEW

By JOHN W. GILBAUGH
(Professor of Education, California State University, San Jose)

Education and politics have much in common. As there is a political spectrum to designate the left-wing or right-wing stance of politicians, there is also an educational spectrum on which left-wing, centrist, and right-wing educators can be identified.

For nearly a half century American public education has been dominated by left wingers. That is, controlled largely by advocates of social experimentalism, and social and naturalistic progressivism. Social experimentalists believe it is the job of the school to prepare youth for a progressive restructuring of society.

More than a full generation ago, the then president of the University of Wisconsin, Glenn Frank, warned of the danger to American public education from extreme forms of social experimentalism: ". . . from the widely separated quarters of the Right and the Left have arisen Americans who demand that the schools be made agencies of propaganda. Those on the right want the schools to become agencies of propaganda for their particular conservative concept of the traditional social order. Those on the left want them to become agencies of propaganda for their particular brand of a new social order based on some measure of collectivism."

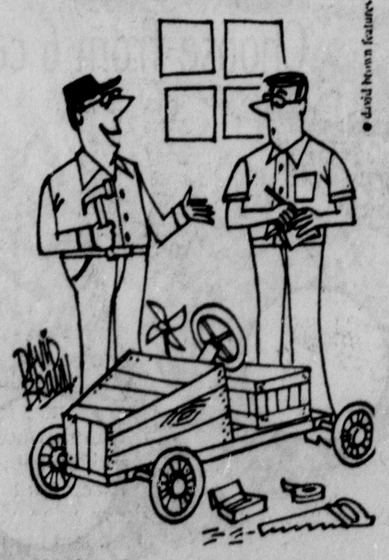
The social experimentalists play down competition and elevate cooperation to a status of dominance in school programs. Thus, education for individualism has lost ground while a favorable climate has been established for the belief that group judgment is superior to individual judgment.

While the social experimentalists and the progressivists occupy the left wing of the educational spectrum, the essentialists and perennialists are said to be right wingers.

The essentialists are advocates of basic education — the so-called three R's — and other subject matter and skills they believe will enable students to live effectively in present and future environments. The perennialists and essentialists espouse an educational system that is teacher and subject-matter centered, whereas the experimentalists and progressivists are child-centered in their approach.

Regardless of the outcome of the November elections, whether political conservatives or liberals emerge as victors at the polls, the American educational system will continue its leftward thrust with social experimentalists in firm control of United States education from kindergarten through the university. Thus, educational programs featuring social and emotional adjustment rather than academics will continue to preempt all other considerations in American public education.

TODAY'S WORLD



"So far I've licked the air pollution problem. Now all I've got to do is figure out how to make it go up hills."

ALMANAC

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

American short story writer William Sidney Porter (O. Henry) was born Sept. 11, 1862.

On this day in history:

In 1777, troops of George Washington were badly defeated by the British in the Battle of Brandywine.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Danger Of Middle East War Lessens; Nixon, McGovern Helped

The danger of renewed war between Israel and Egypt is waning. At last the ingredients of an Arab-Israeli settlement are at hand.

Israel's discussed return of the Gaza Strip and substantial parts of the southern Sinai would have come sooner, but the Israelis had to be certain that the expulsion of the Soviet forces was firm.

With the Russians out, the Egyptians cannot risk attack. With the Russians out, Israel is militarily secure and can offer generous peace terms.

Negotiations may take many months. Reprisals against the Arab terrorists for their Olympic atrocities should be expected, but renewal of the 1967 war now seems unlikely.

HOW NIXON AND McGOVERN HELPED. Nixon persuaded the Russians that they shouldn't risk war with the United States in the Middle East. McGovern persuaded Israel that there would be continuity of United States support if he were elected.

At his first press conference in January, 1969, Nixon signaled a warning to Moscow that the greatest danger of war would be to risk a military confrontation with the United States in the Middle East. The Soviets expanded their forces in Egypt, but they served to restrain Egypt from going on the attack.

In the last two weeks McGovern has sent personal assurances to the Israeli leaders that he deemed it vital to the United States to keep Israel secure.

WHAT CAIRO HAD TO DECIDE. The Egyptians were in a box. They found that the Soviet forces in Egypt were unwilling to help them drive the Israelis out of Egyptian territory. They also found that the Israelis would offer them nothing approaching an acceptable settlement as long as the Soviet troops remained.

NIXON, McGOVERN HAVE SIMILAR PROBLEMS. One is the fantastically stupid Republican bugging of Democratic National Headquarters at the Watergate. The other is the bad mishandling of the Democratic vice-presidential nomination and the contradictory statements made about it.

The electronic invasion of the Democratic offices continues to embarrass the President and his re-election committee. It should. If it was authorized, the Republicans are covering up. If it was unauthorized, Nixon has appointed men at the top of his campaign who are incompetent to pick trustworthy subordinates.

Both camps see these incidents as minor and peripheral, not bearing on how voters will choose between McGovern and Nixon. But they do bear on the issue of competence and tend to cancel out.

"LET'S TAKE THE SUBWAY." There is a worldwide subway boom. Right now 19 cities on four continents are building new subways and 23 existing systems are being extended. When this construction is completed, total subway patronage is due to reach more than 12 billion fares a year.

When the new San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit is completed, it will comprise 19 miles of subways, 27 miles of surface tracks, 23 miles of elevated lines and a four-mile tube under San Francisco Bay.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN THE U.S.S.R. While many western countries have abolished the death penalty and the U.S. Supreme Court has restricted it, capital punishment in the Soviet Union is prescribed for 33 different offenses.

In czarist times (except under martial law) the death penalty applied only to attempts on the lives of the czar and his family.

McGovern Campaign In Better Shape Than Humphrey's Was

GRESHAM, Ore — The chartered jets, the crowds that run together in the mind, the contusions from lethal-edged television equipment, the postmidnight bus rides through snarling sirens and ugly suburbs, the predawn departures, the falling further and further behind schedule — aside from satisfying the masochist inside, there is a sensible reason for enduring all this again.

It is the price you pay for perspective. When you watched Hubert Humphrey stumble thorugh the first week of his 1968 campaign; when you have been before to the Labor Day parade in Barberton, Ohio; when you have gauged the crowds at the same airports and auditoriums more than once, you have a much more confident feeling, for example, of where George McGovern stands at the end of his first bona fide campaign week. You can report that the only things the Humphrey and McGovern campaigns have in common at this point is that both candidates are nominal Democrats and both started far behind Mr. Nixon in the polls.

THROUGH MOST of September, 1968, the Humphrey campaign reeled from city to city. It was numb, desperately hung over from the Chicago convention at the end of August. Humphrey carried the albatross of Vietnam around his neck, dragging him down. Now McGovern is running further behind in the public opinion surveys, yet there is none of that sickness — at least none visible to the public.

When McGovern rode on the back of a convertible through the sunny, shabby downtown streets of Barberton, it was more like an earlier era than like 1968 (except that when he got out to shake hands along the crowd at Tuscarawas and Second, a chill ran up my back that I have experienced only since what happened to Robert Kennedy and George Wallace). When he got to the uptown section, an elderly Republican-style lady in a folding chair said to passersby, "He's an uninvited guest here." She probably said the same thing about Humphrey when he rolled past in 1964, on his way to smite Barry Goldwater at the park by the lake, before a crowd bigger than the one McGovern drew. That was the year Humphrey first called himself "the happy warrior," and nobody then thought of it as a sick joke.

Some did in '68. He started his campaign in Philadelphia, mistakenly trying to match there the crowd Mr. Nixon had drawn earlier in Chicago. It was a flop, and to make it worse there were the chanting pickets with the words that haunted his campaign: "One, two, three, four, we don't want your blanking war!" and "Dump the Hump! Dump the Hump!

WHEN MCGOVERN came into Seattle the other night, he had a good crowd waiting in the street outside his hotel — mostly young people, university age. It was one of the best rallies of his beginning campaign. But the crowd was no larger than the one Humphrey had in an auditorium in Seattle slightly less than four years before.

The difference was that a platoon of university demonstrators with a bullhorn got inside and delayed Humphrey's speech, nearly drowning him out. Much the same thing happened when he came to Portland. Neither on television nor in the newspapers was there more than a line about what he came there to say, only the fact that he had to struggle to say anything.

McGovern has encountered nothing like that. He met sizable, warm gatherings wherever his advance men wanted them — at Savannah airport, Canton-Akron airport, on Labor Day at Barberton and Chippewa Lake, in Seattle and onward. There was an occasional pro-Nixon placard, and once a chant of "Four more years!" But the candidate may have missed them altogether.

THE PEOPLE who were victimizing poor Humphrey at every stop theoretically are the ones busy now registering other young voters for McGovern. They have switched from mob censorship to fundamental electioneering.

His aides believe that as he becomes more familiar, his standing in the polls will grow, and if he listens grimly to enough unemployed workers and examines enough food-stamp potatoes before enough carefully spaced cameras in the nine weeks ahead, he will surprise the world again in November.

It seems absurd, I know. Mr. Nixon's last reported margin over him was 34 percentage points. Yet, remembering how shattered Humphrey was at this point and how close he eventually came, andsadly realizing how the absence of venomous disruption can seem a positive advantage to a politician's campaign in our times in American, you are forced to believe a serious political contest is just ahead.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Sept. 11, 1962

The Soviet Union warned the United States to keep its hands off Cuba or risk world hydrogen bomb war.

The United States claimed that Russia had exploded a nuclear device in outer space in 1961.

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 11, 1952

Gov. Earl Warren appointed William A. Gnoss, Novato poultryman, to the Marin County Board of Supervisors to serve until the November election, with understanding that Gnoss would not be a candidate for the remaining two years of the term of Robert H. Trumbull, who died in office.

Assemblyman Ralph Brown, D-Modesto, announced he would appoint a citizen committee to help put into final shape his bill to curb secret meetings of governmental bodies.

Hippiedom's Own Establishment Celebrated In Fan Magazine Style

Howard Smith is a Village Voice columnist, present "at every 'hip' event in New York, standing a well-tailored six-foot-three, surveying the scene and getting ready to tell the world."

If Walter and Louella Parsons had had a son and brought him up on McDougal Street, that boy, Mr. and Mrs. America and all the ships at sea, might have become Howard Smith.

Or so Smith's anonymous biographer speculates, adding: "Many people have laid the term 'rip-off' at Howard's feet. . .but every culture has its chronicler, and in Howard Smith, the New York hip world finds, perhaps with some reluctance, a compiler of the marginalia that makes the movement more than just a collection of manifestos."

THE MINIBIOGRAPHY appears in a new counterculture reference book titled "Mug Shots: Who's Who in the New Earth." And if Howard Smith is ripping off the counterculture — alas, he's listed as a consultant to Youth Concepts (a "marketing firm") — then "Mug Shots" is certainly ripping off him. So it goes.

"Mug Shots" (and the Howard Smiths glamorized in it) are, in fact, the indicators that the counterculture now has its own Establihment, its own Beautiful People. The names in "Mug Shots" are indeed the Names of the '70s: Kate Millett, Abbie Hoffman, Andy Warhol, Marshall McLuhan, Ralph Nader, Eldridge Cleaver — these are no longer counterculture personalities but the candidates for the covers of Time magazine, the most sought guests for the Cavett-Carson-Griffin shows, the new household words. It is the old candidate for the cover of Time magazine — the president of General Motors, the Debutante of the Year, and so on — who now seems to belong to the minority culture.

"The times they are a-changin'," went the Bob Dylan song. In a doubly ironic sense the words are true: the changers, too, have changed. If the underground has surfaced to supply a nation in the market for Woodstock chic — for a hip life-style — who's left? "Where is that whole happy tormented crowd I used to know?" cried a hip Rip Van Winkle in Smith's own newspaper upon revisiting Greenwich Village a decade later. "Where have all the hipsters gone?"

"Mug Shots" with its hip-Horatio Alger success stories gives one answer. The old outsiders have become the new insiders, suffering the awful enshrinements of all celebrities. In gushing fan-magazine style, "Mug Shots" writes of a star poet-guru: "If the planet were leveled tomorrow, Gary Snyder is the one person you would want to have at your side."

WHAT A CONFUSION of hip values:

But if the counterculture is getting ripped off, co-opted, and — dirty word — institutionalized, it is also getting thought through. The palmy days of spontaneity may be over. But the best of those impulses are being connected into a coherent philosophy.

"Where the Wasteland Ends" by Theodore Roszak is the most successful attempt so far to codify the premises underlying the mere phenomenon of the counterculture. (Roszak's forthcoming work is distinctly more serious than Charles Reich's "The Greening of America," which managed to seem simultaneously premature and too late.)

"This book," Roszak states flatly, "is about the religious dimension of political life. . .It is the energy of religious renewal that will generate the next politics."

"How are we to create a sane life?"

"How do I save my soul?"

These are the political questions Roszak considers pertinent.

HIS INDICTMENT of the Superstate and Technology comes back to one fundamental argument: They turn "people and nature into mere, worthless things." In their emphasis on perfectible methods-and-systems, they neglect in the name of a false practicality what Wordsworth called "visionary power," what Goethe called "respect for the unfathomable."

Roszak sees the counterculture as "a massive salvage operation" to restore to honor the mystical, the playful aspects of human nature — to reassert the whole man celebrating the universe as well as manipulating it.

Years from now will the counterculture be judged as an erratic but effective refresher course in the Declaration of Independence? — an elementary reminder that man exists for man and for God before he exists for society with a capital S? If so, history will find it easy to forgive all the I Ching-schlock, all the do-it-yourself astrology, all the ripping off. Maybe even the deplorable fact that it costs $9.95 to find out who's who in 1972's world of hip.

EOC Directors Still Bicker While The Money Disappears

Despite all the studies, investigations and audits into the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, the reason for its near-collapse earlier this year has never really been brought into focus.

The administrative shortcomings have been thoroughly explored but apparently no one is willing to take it one step further and ask why the shortcomings arose.

Possibly the reason is that that's the job of the board of directors. And the directors know, as do others, that they are the reason.

THEY PERMITTED themselves to be manipulated by the former executive director. They were lulled into the feeling that they were really doing something.

As long as the personal insults and accusations were flying, no one had the time, energy or interest to check how Lomax was managing the agency. They simply took his word for it.

The former executive director, W. Robert Lomax Jr., was a master at keeping board members bickering and fighting among themselves.

Not until they found they didn't have an agency anymore did the directors realize what had happened.

That was months ago and one would think that the board of directors had learned something. Not the EOC board!

AS SHOWN at last week's meeting, the board is back to bickering and fighting — manipulated by a new executive director, Alfred R. Conklin III.

Conklin and his staff of seven are costing about $10,000 each month is salaries ($7,200) and operating expenses. What they do eight hours a day, five days a month, isn't clear.

Several former and present board members have pressed the question: "What are we getting for $10,000 a month?" The answer is always some vague explanation of planning new programs to help the poor.

Then, last month, in a move never even tried by Lomax, Conklin proposed the removal of two board members who had been questioning his productivity.

Charging they had tried to destroy the agency by wiring Governor Reagan to block a federal grant, Conklin gained some support from other members of the board.

While the ouster was rejected by the full board after a shouting, fist-pounding session, it was interesting to note Conklin managed to once again skip by without explanation of what he and his staff do for $10,000 each month.

It was also interesting to note that those who supported his attempt to oust two board members were among the strongest supporters of Lomax.

Not much has changed.

Blockbuster Kills Three In Ireland

BELFAST (UPI)—Three soldiers were killed by "the largest bomb yet" in Northern Ireland, a 500-pound blockbuster which destroyed a 10-ton Saracen armored car Sunday night.

Two soldiers inside the six-wheel vehicle were killed outright when the bomb, estimated at 500 pounds of explosive, blew up under the armored car, flipped it on its back and sent it flying upside down 20 yards along a quiet country road.

Two of the other five soldiers in the Saracen had to be cut free with acetylene torches. One of them died in a military hospital this morning. Two others were in critical condition.

The soldier's death was the 125th among British troopers in three years of Ulster violence which has so far taken 557 lives.

The blast blew a crater nearly 20 feet deep in the road. A civilian driver happening by just after the rescue failed to brake in time and his car plunged into the hole. He was hospitalized, but his injuries were minor.

In Belfast, members of the paramilitary Protestant Ulster Defense Association (UDA) and the political Vanguard front organization announced they were patching up their differences to oppose "ineffectual" British Ulster policy.

The new resolve grew out of a gunfight Thursday between UDA men and British troops, the first such army-Protestant clash in three years of troubles.

Board To Discuss Insurance Coverage

The Kentfield School District board will discuss a report on insurance coverage at its meeting at 8 p.m. today at Wolfe Grade School.

They will also discuss class sizes at Adaline E. Kent School and consider four transfer requests from parents of students.

More Lung Cancer Found In Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Research Council says lung cancer, which claims the lives of 60,000 Americans annually, is twice as common among city-dwellers as it is in the countryside.

The council, research arm of the National Academy of Sciences, issued a 303-page report Sunday which concluded that city air is 15 times more polluted than country air. And, the report said, lung cancer is most common in those city areas where general industrial pollution is worse.

"Although not all studies are completely consistent," the report said, "it is clear that increased lung cancer mortality is generally associated with urban living."

The study noted that cigarette smoking is still the prime cause of the increase in lung cancer. "But smoking alone cannot account for the increase or the different rates of lung cancer in urban and rural areas."

The NRC said lung cancer is now the greatest cause of cancer deaths among American men, killing 50,000 a year. Lung cancer also claims the lives of 10,000 women annually, the scientific group added.

According to the NRC, most studies showed little if any differences in the cigarette smoking habits of city and rural dwellers. "These studies," the report said," provide some basis for concluding that the changes in lung cancer death rates are related to more than cigarette smoking i.e. an urban factor."

The NRC concluded that the urban factor was air pollution which included a group of chemical compounds created in any combustion process involving hydrocarbons such as coal, wood, gasoline and tobacco.

The group of compounds is called POM for "polychclic organic matter." A POM ingredient called benzo pyrene, carried by soot in the air, is a powerful cause of cancer in laboratory animals, the NRC said.

Though it has not been proved absolutely that POM pollution causes cancer in man," cigarette smoke and city air have some carcinogenic substances and gases in common," the report stated.

New Miss America Reigning

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Brown-eyed Terry Anne Meeuwsen, the new Miss America, says she is looking forward to her homecoming reception in DePere, Wis., next month as one of the highlights of her one year reign.

But another of the 50 original contestants, who holds opposing views on politics and lifestyle, is not so sure what her reception will be when she returns to her home state.

"I'm not going to tell anyone when I'm going back," Kathy Hebert, Miss Vermont, said Sunday.

More consumer service tips from PG&E:

How to conserve energy and reduce your bills this winter.

Have your furnace man check your heating system now. Also clean or replace filters. Then you'll be sure your furnace is working efficiently and is ready for the first cold snap.

Shut damper when your fireplace is not in use. If you leave it open, cold air rushes in and heat escapes. Also, closing drapes at night can stop up to 16% of the heat lost through windows.

Insulate. Good insulation in walls and ceilings can cut heating requirements up to 45%. You'll use less gas and reduce heating bills.

Agree on a comfortable setting for your thermostat and leave it there, except for turning it down when you go to bed. Frequent thermostat changes waste gas and increase your heating bill.

Your winter PG&E bill is usually higher than your summer bill because in winter months you need more heat and light and spend more time indoors. But if you follow these suggestions, you'll cut your winter bills and conserve natural gas. Though inflation has forced rates up modestly after years of rate reductions, PG&E service remains your best household bargain.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Woman Champ's Son Writes The Chess Book Of The Year

The book of the year thus far is "The Bridge Philosopher," by James S. Kauder, a young man who writes as well as he plays — which is very high praise indeed. Kauder is the son of Mary Jane Farell, winner of two world championships and the highest ranked woman player in the records of the American Contract Bridge League. (If he writes any more books as good as this, the columnists of the future may have to explain that Mrs. Farell is related to the famous writer.) The first hand in Kauder's book gives the thoughtful player good material.

LEAD LOW

"I win the jack of hearts with the king and lead a low diamond to dummy's queen, which holds," Kauder reports in telling the story of his encounter with this hand. "Could East be ducking with the king of diamonds? Hardly. For all he knows, the queen of diamonds might be my ninth trick.

"The normal way to continue the diamonds is to play the ace and follow with a diamond toward my jack-nine. That loses only when West started with four diamonds, king-ten.

"But I'm wondering if there could be any merit in re-entering my hand and running the jack of diamonds through West. I'm tired, but I should be able to determine which is the better play."

CASE BY CASE

"Let's see. Either play will win three tricks when the diamonds are divided 3-3, when West has the doubleton king and when East has the doubleton ten. But leading the jack of diamonds will gain an extra trick when West holds K-10-x-x and East has the doubleton eight, for it West covers the jack of diamonds, I can later lead dummy's seven, making three tricks unless West started with K-10-8-x."

As you have surely noted, the decisive card is dummy's seven of diamonds. If dummy had the deuce or trey of diamonds, you would play the suit normally, taking the ace on the second round.

AMUSING

Most of the hands in the Kauder book are amusing, but when my young friend chooses he takes a very close look indeed at a hand. Close students of the game should make sure to read "The Bridge Philosopher."

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 10 7 5 2
♥ - Q 8 7 4 2
♦ - 8 3
♣ - A 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You would jump to four hearts if you had a singleton or void in a side suit, but the actual distribution is not strong enough for this jump to game.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Dear GBG:

Your birthday determines the order in which you are drafted, if you are my age. Now President Nixon says he will end the draft by July 1st next year. Does this mean I won't have to worry about whether my birthday gets a high or low number in a lottery next year? Signed: 18-Year Old Guy

Dear Guy:

Have a Lucky Birthday, fella. The lottery goes on! I contacted the Selective Service System in Washington, D.C. and this is what one high official told me: "We do not know when the 1973 drawings will be held, but it should be early in the calendar year." The lottery numbers will be assigned, whether any men are called up or not. The lottery itself began in World War I, but it was President Nixon who introduced the idea of drawing birthdays by his Executive Order of Nov. 26, 1969. Oddly enough, if Nixon had been eligible for the draft, he would have been called to duty. Richard Nixon was born Jan. 9 and his birthday got 194 as its random sequence number in the first drawing. That year all men with numbers running to 195 were called up. A young Nixon, 19 to 26, would have become a buck private. Whew! Good thing he already was over age and Commander-in-Chief!

Corona Trial Starts; Jury To Be Selected

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI)— Juan V. Corona, a 38-year-old farm labor contractor from Yuba City, Calif., went on trial today on charges of hacking and stabbing 25 field hands to death —the worst confirmed case of mass murder in U.S. history.

Wearing a blue suit and black shoes, Corona smiled and waved to his wife, Gloria, when he entered the courtroom. Before the beginning of the trial she was outside the courthouse with a group of 15 demonstrators, carrying a sign reading, "Justice for Juan Corona."

Other pickets, mostly Mexican-Americans, carried signs declaring "Corona is Innocent," "Frameup" and "Don't Pick a Racist Jury."

Corona, apparently recovered from two suspected heart attacks that followed his arrest, is being tried in a 77-seat, windowless, wood-panelled and gold-carpeted Solano County courtroom. Tight security has been imposed for the court proceedings.

Selection of a 12-member jury with two alternates is the first task during the opening sessions before visiting Superior Court Judge Richard Patton. A panel of 100 prospective jurors has been summoned. The entire trial is expected to last several months.

The Mexican-born Corona, who has steadfastly maintained his innocence, is being prosecuted by G. David Teja, a meticulous, pipe-smoking Sutter County district attorney. The defense attorney is Richard E. Hawk, a flamboyant veteran criminal lawyer from Concord, Calif.

The trial originally was to have begun Sept. 5 but was postponed briefly by an appellate court. It was reset for today after Corona relented to a prosecution demand for fresh handwriting samples.

Teja wants to compare Corona's handwriting with a list of names in a green ledger allegedly found in Corona's bedroom. The book reportedly contains the handwritten names of seven of the victims plus dates and locations the state says are pertinent to the case.

Corona's trial was moved to this rural town of 48,000, near big Travis Air Force Base, after Hawk contended massive pretrial publicity made it impossible for Corona to receive a fair trial in Yuba City, near the grave sites.

"Juan is a kind, gentle man," Hawk says in describing his client. He says Corona's prosecutors know he is innocent and that the identity of the killer will come out early in the trial.

The case began unfolding May 21, 1971, when the first body was found by a Japanese rancher on his property. Four days later eight more hacked corpses were pulled out of makeshift graves in fruit orchards near the Feather River.

measure because it did not allude to the Munich massacre.

The Middle East News Agency, in reporting the league statement, said the U.S. use of the veto is "practically a support of Israeli aggression." A Syrian commentary broadcast over Baghdad Radio and monitored in Beirut said the Israeli strikes against Syria and Lebanon were "premediatated and prepared in advance by the Israeli state of aggression." It said the U.S. veto showed that "Israel is one of the states of the United States of America."

"Our people will use all its potential to repel the aggression and direct hard strikes against the interests of those who are supporting the aggression and standing on the side of the enemy (Israel) giving it all support and aid," the Syrian broadcast said.

In Cairo, West German ambassador-designate Hans-Georg Steltzer was summoned to Arab League headquarters by Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el Zayyat and told that Egypt rejected as "unacceptable" West German explanations of statements made following the Munich affair.

German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel was alleged to have said that Germany did not hold the Arab world responsible for the "terrorist" attack. He also was quoted as expressing regrets some Arab states did not issue statements condemning the Munich affair.

Drug Charges In Road Arrest

A 20-year-old San Rafael man was arrested at 3:50 a.m. today on Highway 101 on suspicion of speeding, possession of marijuana, dangerous drugs and drug paraphernalia, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The man, Ronald Ray Bresee, of Twelveoak Hill Drive, was reportedly seen speeding northbound on Waldo Grade. After a highway patrolman pulled him over in Strawberry, a plastic bag with marijuana and white powder was discovered in Bresee's car. In addition, the patrol reported it found about three unidentified white pills, a roach clip and two pipes in the car.

Bresee was booked into Marin County Jail and held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Application To Install Docks

The Marine Minerals Technology Center, U.S. Department of Commerce, has applied for a permit to install two floating docks within an existing slip off 3150 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, the Army Corps of Engineers reported today.

The work would consist of driving fourteen piles, installing the two floating docks and extending a gangplank from an existing dock to one of the floating docks, the Army said. Each floating dock will consist of two barges held in position by the piles.

Anyone who has any objection to the proposed docks may notify the corps of engineers — in triplicate — at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, before Oct. 9.

Dollar Mansion Merit Award

The Robert Dollar mansion on Mission Avenue in San Rafael has been given an "Award of Architectural Merit" by the California Heritage Council.

The council found the Dollar estate to be one of the finest examples of Eastlake-Queen Anne architecture in the San Rafael area, according to Mary C. Dekker, chairman of the San Rafael Historic Preservation Committee.

She said that the council is a statewide group recognized as an authority on old buildings.

The San Rafael Planning Commission tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. will consider a proposal to raze the mansion to make way for an 80-unit apartment and townhouse development at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Tiburon's Downtown Plan On Tap

The Tiburon City Council will hear a report at 7:30 p.m. today from its lands and development committee on a proposal to establish a redevelopment agency which could help finance the development of Tiburon's downtown area.

The lands and development committee, composed of Councilmen Branwell D. Fanning and Albert Aramburu, will discuss the necessary procedure to establish an agency under California law and recommend that the council begin hearings in October.

Under California law, designation of a redevelopment area and creation of a redevelopment agency freezes the assessed valuation in the area insofar as various taxing districts, such as schools, are concerned. Increased tax revenues from higher assessed valuation goes to the redevelopment agency until bonds sold to finance redevelopment are repaid.

p.m. Saturday. They said Albert's Thunderbird struck a small truck and another automobile.

Witnesses said Albert paid cash to the owner of the other automobile, whose identity was withheld by police. The witnesses said the driver of the truck left the scene after determining there had been little or no damage to the vehicle..

The Post said witnesses outside the night club expressed the opinion that Albert had been drinking, but quoted police sergeant James R. Sloan as saying that "in my professional opinion, he wasn't drunk."

Deputy Police Chief Tilmon O'Bryant was quoted as saying of the fact that no police report was filed on the incident: "A report doesn't have to be made if people can resolve minor accidents among themselves where there has been no flagrant violation of the law."

Under police rules, no accident report is required if damage is less than $100 and there are no personal injuries.

Firemen Give To Heart Fund

The Novato Professional Firemen's Association last week donated $200 to the Marin County Heart Association.

The gift was made "in view of the incidence of heart attack among firemen," according to John Rentz of the association.

The donation was earmarked for research into heart risk among professions where work is performed under stress, Rentz said.

The money was raised during a circus in Novato.

Winners Announced For Art Show

Susanita P. Chipman won best in show in the art show Friday and Saturday in Gerner Park, Novato, sponsored by the North Bay Artists, according to Herta Rothschild, publicity chairman.

Interviews Set For School Aide

Public interviews to select one of three Redwood High School faculty members as assistant principal in charge of student management — government and discipline — for Tamalpais High School, will be held Wednesday through Friday mornings.

A committee of teachers, administrators and parents will recommend one of three finalists for the promotion after the interviews, scheduled for 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on the mezzanine of the Tamalpais High School student center.

James H. O'Conner, currently a Redwood High counselor will be interviewed Wednesday; Anthony Compagno, interim assistant principal at Redwood, on Thursday, and Maria Van Buskirk, a teacher, on Friday.

Good Condition After Accident

Two Marin County men were reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital. They were injured in a motorcycle accident Saturday evening.

Mark Anan, 17, of 108 Birch Road in San Rafael was admitted to Kaiser with multiple lacerations. Michael Tachet, 23, of 2130 Redwood Highway, Corte Madera suffered two broken arms.

According to Larkspur Police, Tachet's motorcycle was rounding a curve near his home and drifted into the rear of a trailer being towed by Francis Watson of Martinas Lake, Arizona. Both men were thrown from the motorcycle, police said.

Field Trip Policy Will Be Considered

The Lagunitas School District board will consider a field trip policy in which parents will give blanket permission for all trips at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at San Geronimo Valley Elementary School.

Trustees will also discuss the opening of school and a teacher intern program at the University of Massachusetts.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Marion Silva Succumbs At 60

Requiem Mass for Marion Ann Silva, wife of former Novato Mayor M. E. (Babe) Silva will be celebrated at 10 a.m., Wednesday at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Mrs. Silva, 60, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long battle with cancer.

She was born and reared in Petaluma. She and Silva were married in 1934. They lived in San Francisco and Petaluma until they built their Novato home in 1950 at 837 Sweetser Avenue where they have lived ever since.

Her husband was a member of the first Novato City Council and served as mayor from 1962 to 1964 and again as a councilman from 1966 to 1970.

She was a member of Our Lady of Loretto Church, charter member of Catholic Daughters of America, president of Altar Society Legion of Mary, Ladies Auxiliary of Novato Volunteer Fire Department, Acacia Club and Novato Senior Citizens.

MARION ANN SILVA
Mass set Wednesday

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Michael Joseph Silva and Frank Robert Silva, both of Novato; her mother, Delia Hoppe of Novato; a sister, Josephine Baccaglio of Novato and one grandchild.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to Our Lady of Loretto or St. Anthony's churches of Novato would be preferred by the family.

20-Year-Old Is Arrested For Robbery

Leonard Franklin Pyles was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Pyle is believed by police to be one of four persons who robbed a 79-year-old invalid in his San Rafael home on July 11, according to San Rafael police.

Ralph D. Hoy, a television repairman confined to a wheelchair, was robbed of $242 in cash, a check and credit cards by four assailants who held a toy gun to his head, according to police. Paul Brent Caldwell, 25, of Sonoma, and Danny Ray Pyles, 23, of San Rafael, are to be tried the week of Oct. 24 in Marin Superior Court on suspicion of robbery and conspiracy in connection with the case.

A 13-year-old boy believed to be one of the four was turned over to juvenile authorities in August.

Some Novato Phone Trouble

A portion of customers of the 897 exchange of Western California Telephone Co. in Novato did not receive incoming calls this morning because their telephones would not ring, according to manager Gordon Lee.

The first of nine complaints came in at 7 a.m. and the company had the trouble corrected by 7:30 a.m., Lee said.

The mechanical failure stopped telephones from ringing, but did not affect outgoing calls on these telephones, he said.

Three Building Plans On Agenda

The Belvedere City Council will once again consider three applications for use permits to build on three substandard lots whose owners own contiguous property, at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

The issue was aired Aug. 21 when the council met with the city's planning commission to discuss the question, but reached no conclusion.

STANTON CREIGHTON

Funeral for photographer Stanton R. Creighton, brother of Jack J. Creighton of Mill Valley, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Godeau Funeral Home, San Francisco.

Creighton died Saturday of acute leukemia after a brief illness. He was 61.

Born in Mill Valley, Creighton was a son of the late Ralph Creighton, West Coast manager for Associated Press.

Creighton received a civil engineering degree from Stanford University in the mid-1930s, but turned to photography as a career because engineering jobs were scarce in Depression days.

He was a cameraman for Associated Press, became a Navy photographer during World War II and operated his own studio in Hollywood, doing publicity stills for movies, until joining the San Francisco Chronicle eight years ago. He was a member of the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Guild, the Presidio Golf and Country Club and the Alpine Hills Tennis and Swimming Club of Portola Valley.

He also is survived by his wife Virginia of the home in San Francisco; a son, Barry, of San Francisco; three daughters, Jill Creighton and Tonia Bush of San Francisco and Gayle O'Shea of Concord; another brother, Clifford Creighton of Los Angeles and eight grandchildren.

Burial will be in the San Francisco National Cemetery at the Presidio.

L.B. SANDERS

Funeral for Lloyd B. Sanders of San Rafael will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Salas Brothers Funeral Chapel in Modesto.

Sanders was fatally injured Friday evening in San Rafael when his motorcycle and an automobile collided.

A native of Modesto, he had lived in San Rafael for two years, and was a member of Barbers Union Local 582 of San Rafael. He was 29.

He is survived by his wife, Louise of San Rafael; his parents, Edgar and Sandra Boucher of Modesto; a sister, Patricia Ashlock of Lompoc, Santa Barbara County; and two brothers, Ralph Robinson of Tracy and Harvey Sandersof Riverbank, Stanislaus County.

Burial will be in Lakewood Memorial Cemetery, Modesto.

JOHN GEHRING

John Gehring, 60, a Hamilton Air Force Base employee, died today at a local hospital after a brief illness.

Gehring, a native of New York, had lived in Petaluma for 31 years. He served in the Air Force for eight years, and had been a civilian employee at Hamilton Air Force Base for 23 years.

Gehring was a member of the First Baptist Church of Petaluma and lived at 416 Seventh Street.

He is survived by his wife, Alma; a son, Mark Gehring of Redwood Valley, Mendocino County; a daughter, Mrs. Charles Kenyon of Lee, Mass.; four sisters, Inez Sadler and Olive Gehring of Lafayette, La., Gertrude Horton of Shreveport, La. and Clara Gehring of St. Louis, Mo.; a brother, Francis Gehring of McComb, Miss.; and a grandchild.

WALTER ANDREWS

Walter J. Andrews, 63, a Petaluma butcher, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

He was a lifelong Petaluma resident and had worked as a butcher all his adult life in markets in Petaluma and Marin County. Andrews lived at 415 E Street.

He is survived by a brother, Robert H. Maggetti, and a sister, Annette Heyward, both of Petaluma.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent De Paul Church, Petaluma, followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

LEO HOSFORD

Funeral for Dr. Leo W. Hosford, founder of the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science, will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Godeau Funeral Home, 41 Van Ness Avenue, in San Francisco.

Dr. Hosford, who was 75, died Saturday morning of a heart attack suffered in his home at 8 La Crescenta Way in San Rafael.

Born in Utah, he lived in Marin County 19 years.

Dr. Hosford, a chiropractor, first operated a chiropractic college on Sutter Street in San Francisco until the late 1930s when he changed it to a school of mortuary science.

He ran the college until his retirement in 1962. Under his leadership, it became the first to receive national accreditation.

After he stepped down as president, Dr. Hosford embarked on a world tour filming the burial rites of other cultures. Accompanied by his wife, Byrel, the project took him to the Philippines, Australia, New Guinea, India, and Africa.

Dr. Hosford was also known in Marin County as an antique car buff and once spent 18 months rebuilding a 1919 fire truck which he later donated to the town of Klamath.

He was a member of Argonaut-Argone Lodge No. 461, Free and Accepted Order of Masons.

MARIO J. CASTELLON

Funeral for Mario J. Castellon, San Rafael dance studio instruction, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Castellon was found dead by a housekeeper Saturday in his apartment at 123 Canal Street. Cause of death was still under investigation today by the Marin County coroner's office.

Castellon had lived in Marin County for four years, after coming to California as an instructor for Arthur Murray studios 12 years ago. He was a native of Nicaragua. He was 33.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trinidad Castellon and a sister, Ena Gordillo, all of Nicaragua, and two brothers, Lionel and Ulises Castellon of San Francisco.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Monday in the Chapel of the Hills. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

RICHARD CLEARY

Funeral and burial for Richard Cleary, father of Jean Schmidt of Novato, will be tomorrow in Woodside, N.Y.

Cleary, 84, died Saturday in Novato where he had been visiting his daughter at 299 San Luis Way for the past six weeks. He had a history of emphysema, according to deputy coroner Donald L. Cornish.

He was born and lived all his life in New York. He was a retired mortuary employee.

In addition to his daughter Mrs. Schmidt, he is survived by a son, Richard Cleary; three daughters, Mary Giery, Dorothy McGowan and Catherine O'Neil, all of New York and 11 grandchildren.

JOHN STROZDAS

John S. Strozdas of Sioux City, Iowa, died yesterday in Novato, apparently of a heart attack, according to deputy coroner Bill J. Thomas.

Srozdas, 61, arrived in Novato Saturday to visit his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McDonald of 415 Fairway Drive, Novato.

He was a native and resident of Iowa. He was employed as a bakery salesman there.

He is also survived by his wife, Jeanette.

Funeral and burial will be tomorrow in Sioux City, Iowa.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
by JUNE EMBURY

That great nutritionist, Carleton Fredericks, recently illustrated the need for improved eating habits by quoting a former member of the A.M.A. Council on Foods. This official described how civilized diets suffer by comparison to those of primitive peoples. He cited the Navajo Indian as an example. In contrast to many Indian groups, he has retained his vigor, despite the disadvantage of living near the white man. The Navajo consumes all parts of the sheep or goat he slaughters and eats the organs first. But in our culture, the most nutritious part, the organ meats, are rejected by consumers and go to making fertilizers and feed.

Doctor Fredericks then described the availability of the supplement containing organ substance. We are proud to have just such items on our shelves. The one called MALABAR is prepared from 100% pure beef organ meats. Next week's column: more about MALABAR.

Four Hurt In Highway Accidents

One person was hospitalized and three others injured in two separate accidents Saturday afternoon, according to California Highway Patrol.

Natale Barsotti, 78, of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead.

A passenger, Denise Di Pasqua, 16, of 5 Oak Park Drive, Novato, was treated for facial cuts, according to hospital reports.

Susan Joy Swan, 24, of Piedmont was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital with a broken pelvis and cuts received in another accident the hospital authorities reported.

Patrolmen reported that at 2:45 p.m. in the northbound lane of Highway 101 near the Rodeo Avenue exit, a mattress fell off a truck driven by Richard Texeira, 45, of Oakland. Barsott stopped his car as did Allan Ka-Pang Lee, 32, of San Francisco. Their cars were hit by one driven by Gary Maurice Ittig, 20, of San Francisco.

At 3:20 p.m. Saturday, Stoll was driving eastbound on Highway 37 east of the Petaluma River when his car hit the gravel at the side of the road, skidded across the eastbound lane and overturned in the center divider, patrolmen reported.

Taxi Driver Robbed Of Cash, Car

After riding in a taxi from the San Francisco bus depot to Mill Valley today, a passenger pulled a gun on the cab driver, stole about $60 and drove off with the cab.

The cab driver, Kevin D. O'Connell, of San Francisco, said he was forced at gunpoint to turn over all his money near 146 Elm Street at about 1:45 a.m.

A second passenger in the cab, who said he did not know his traveling companion, told police he had been dropped off at his home at 175 Elm Street, just before the holdup.

The man, Charles Dolson, 21, said he saw his traveling companion draw a gun on the 24-year-old cab driver just after Dolson got out of the car. Dolson fled and reported the holdup to the Mill Valley police.

According to police, Dolson said he had been offered a free ride home by a man, about 30 years old, whom he had just met in a San Francisco restaurant.

A few hours after the robbery, the California Highway Patrol discovered the Red and White Cab Co. car over an embankment on Shoreline Highway, between Muir Beach and Stinson Beach.

$28,000 Theft Case Bound Over

The Tiburon man charged with burglary and grand theft in connection with the theft of $28,000 from a motel room has been bound over to Marin Superior Court for trial.

The 34-year-old Hodge turned himself in to Federal bureau of Investigation agents in Indianapolis, Ind., on Aug. 14, reportedly following an unsuccessful attempt to leave the country, and was returned to Marin to face the charges.

Hodge also faces charges in Indiana, where he is accused of arranging a fire at an Ohio warehouse in order to collect $420,000 in insurance.

California Gets $20.7 Million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Thirty-nine counties have received a total of $20.7 million as their share of the 1971-72 revenues from U.S. forest reserves.

State Controller Houston Flournoy announced Sunday that the amount is $9.48 million more than the total for the previous year.

The $20.7 million represents 25 per cent of the federal revenues received from forest reserves in California during the fiscal year ending last June 30.

Plumas County received the largest amount, $2.9 million, followed by Trinity, $2.7 million, and Siskiyou, $2.68 million.

Art Exhibit

Marin County artist Emily Burns is currently showing seascapes and landscapes at the Bank of America Center in San Francisco. The exhibit will run through Sept. 30.

Workshops Set; Subject — Aged

Three workshops on the problems of the aged will be held at the Whistlestop, 939 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, from 7:45 to 10 p.m. on three Tuesdays starting Sept. 26.

The workshops are sponsored by Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin County Chapter, American Red Cross; and Elizabeth Moody, coordinator of volunteer services for the Marin County Department of Public Social Services.

Persons who wish to register for the workshops may notify Mrs. Moody at the Marin County Civic Center.

Jewelry Taken

Rings and watches of undetermined value were taken from a display case at Harnell's Jewelers, 615 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, by thief who smashed a window at 2:15 a.m. today, police reported.

Kirchanski Due DAR Honors

The Daughters of the American Revolution's national "Immigrant of the Year" award will be presented Sept. 28 to James W. Kirchanski, San Rafael educator.

The award is given annually to the immigrant citizen chosen by a DAR selection committee as having "done most to advance American ideals."

Kirchanski, who heads Three-R and Jameson Hall Schools in San Rafael, San Leandro and Santa Rosa, was proposed for the award by Sequoia Chapter of DAR in San Francisco. He was chosen for the devotion to American ideals characterizing his educational philosophy.

The presentation will be at a noon luncheon at the Hyatt House in Oakland.

Kirchanski was brought to the United States from his native Yugoslavia as an 8-month-old infant in October 1920. He and his Serbian parents returned to their native country in 1932, but again immigrated to the U. S. a year and one-half later.

Kirchanski says that the contrast between what he had experienced growing up in America and the repression under King Alexander in the Yugoslavia of 1932 imbued him with his appreciation of the superiority of American freedom.

JAMES W. KIRCHANSKI
Immigrant of the year

He served as an Army paratrooper in the South Pacific during World War II, and after the war studied for his B.A. degree at Wayne State University in Ohio. Later he took postgraduate work at University of California.

He started teaching in public elementary schools in 1950 in Soledad, and spent two years in the Sausalito schools in 1952-54, leaving to establish the first Three-R School in San Rafael.

Teacher Walkouts Extend Vacations

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

School bells rang today in New York City and Kansas City, Mo., where labor disputes apparently had been settled, but walkouts elsewhere extended the summer vacations of half a million students at least one more day.

The continuing disputes affected school districts in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Nevada, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. The state hardest hit was Pennsylvania, where teacher walkouts in 28 districts, including Philadelphia, affected close to 400,000 students.

In New York City, the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) told its 60,000 members to report for work as a token of "good faith" even though they have not yet formally approved a new three-year contract.

The UFT said a vote on the contract has been put off "at least until Tuesday" because of problems in putting the contract into formal language and distributing copies to teachers.

In Kansas City, some 700 maintenance workers and custodians voted Sunday to end a strike which had forced city schools to close last Thursday. Terms of their union's agreement with school authorities were not announced immediately.

In Philadelphia, negotiators for the school district and the teachers' union were meeting today to try again to settle the city's second school strike in three years.

Negotiations between striking teachers and school officials in Rockford, Ill., second largest district in the state, were interrupted Friday when board members walked out Friday, but were resumed Saturday. Some 2,300 teachers are on strike, affecting 43,000 pupils.

In Las Vegas, Nev., no new action in a court battle over busing was expected until Tuesday. Fifty-two elementary schools serving 30,000 youngsters were shut down when a state court halted a federal ruling ordering busing for racial integration. Officials say the schools will stay closed until a decision is reached in federal court.

Arguments on a court order against teachers' strikes in seven Rhode Island communities will be heard Monday in state Supreme Court. Teachers and school officials appeared to be waiting for a ruling before making further decisions.

Gunmen Kill Police Chief Of Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (UPI) —One or more gunmen broke into the north shore home of Bermuda Police Chief George Duckett Saturday night, shot him to death and wounded his 17-year-old daughter, police said Sunday.

There was no known motive for the killing, spokesmen said. They said it had not been determined what weapon or weapons were used or whether there was more than one gunman. Officials said Scotland Yard was sending two investigators from London to enter the case since Bermuda is British.

Police said Duckett, 41, heard a noise at the back of his house and went to investigate. Gunfire rang out and his daughter, Marcia, ran to the kitchen, where her father lay on the floor. The girl was struck by a bullet moments later. She was reported in satisfactory condition Sunday in King Edward VII Memorial Hospital.

Soon after the shooting, police set up roadblocks around Duckett's home, located in what investigators described as a bleak and lonely area on Hamilton's north shore.

Police said Duckett's wife, Sheena, was in the house at the time of the shooting but was unharmed. She phoned police shortly afterwards.

Addicts Dropped From Welfare

NEW YORK (UPI)—About 1,000 drug addicts have been notified that the city has removed them from welfare rolls, an action prompted by the Department of Social Services' crackdown on welfare fraud.

The move affects addicts registered at three treatment centers who failed to reply to a department letter requesting information on where they received drug treatment.

Human Resources Administrator Jule Sugarman noted that a new welfare requirement provides that addicts receiving public assistance must be enrolled in approved rehabilitation programs. He said only 363 drug abusers of 1,338 in the three centers answered the letters requesting treatment information.

U.S. Hits New North Targets

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers Sunday blasted a strategic bridge in North Vietnam and hit targets never before attacked in the current bombing campaign, U.S. spokesmen said today. One jet was shot down and the pilot is missing.

In South Vietnam, 45 Americans were injured Sunday when a stack of 200 South Vietnamese Air Force bombs blew up at the Bien Hoa airbase, 14 miles northeast of Saigon. The incident was initially reported as a rocket attack that wounded 29 Americans, but the the U.S. command in an updated report today said additional Americans were wounded and it was believed to have been an accident or the work of Communist infiltrators.

Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the explosion, spokesmen said, and 20 wounded. The blast also destroyed four South Vietnamese Army tanks and "heavily damaged" a U.S. Air Force AC119 Stinger warplane. Spokesmen said some of the American casualties were caused by flying bomb fragments while others occurred during the scramble to find cover.

In South Vietnam, military officials said two new operations have been launched in the Central Highlands about 250 miles north of Saigon involving nearly 10,000 government troops. One of the drives is against a division of North Vietnamese infantrymen.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, government troops Sunday abandoned Tien Phuoc, a district capital vital to the defenses of Da Nang, in what field officers said was a "justified" retreat.

The U.S. command said pilots flew 320 raids into North Vietnam Sunday, the most in nearly a month. Spokesmen said a Navy A7 Corsair was shot down 14 miles southwest of Hanoi, the 1,019th U.S. plane lost over the North since the air war began more than eight years ago. The pilot was listed as missing.

Mrs. Cleaver Reported 'Set Up' For An Ambush

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Kathleen Cleaver, wife of Algerian-based Black Panther party leader Eldridge Cleaver, was "set up" for an ambush recently, but the attempt failed, according to the San Francisco Examiner.

The newspaper reported Sunday that Mrs. Cleaver, accompanied by two male bodyguards, entered the darkened basement of a Mission Street apartment house while it was being searched by police who had found some stolen clothing there.

"There is little doubt that it was a set-up ambush in which someone hoped the three would be shot down by police ..." Chief of Detectives Charles Barca was quoted as saying.

"We know Mrs. Cleaver is not in the hot clothes racket and was not there for that purpose. The clothes were nothing more than bait to put police on the scene when she returned to the building."

The Examiner said the incident occurred on the night of Aug. 25. Police following up an anonymous tip were examining the stolen clothing when a car drove up. The officers snapped off their flashlights and hid.

When two men and a woman emerged from the car and entered the basement, Sgt. Thomas O'Donnell turned his flashlight on and ordered them to "freeze."

The woman was later identified as Mrs. Cleaver and the men as John W. Washington, 27, and Roland Freeman, both of Los Angeles. Both men have police records.

Nixon Gets Support

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The 125,000-member Ohio Polish-American Congress has endorsed President Nixon for re-election, the first Republican to get its support in its 28-year history.

THE WAITING IS OVER

THE NEW KTIM

As KTIM begins its second quarter-century of broadcasting in Marin, it also embarks on a totally NEW and different era.

Vows Said By Novatans In Church

Katherine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Skinner, and John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Harris, all of Novato. Sandy Ann Skinner was maid of honor for her sister.

Glen Freedlander of Novato was best man and ushers were Barry and Brian Greer of Woodacre and Eric Nelson of Cotati.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Afterward the couple went on a wedding trip to Mt. Lassen. They will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from San Marin High School and is also the sister of David and Franny Skinner. Mrs. Frances Beatty of San Francisco is her local grandmother.

The bridegroom was graduated from Novato High School and is assistant manager at W. T. Grant Co. in Novato. He is the brother of Mrs. Stanley Greer of Woodacre, Mrs. Leo Brady of Larkspur, Mrs. Gilbert Nelson of Cotati and Mrs. Edward Kothgassner of San Rafael.

KTIM Has New Show Wednesday

A new weekly half-hour radio show, "What's Happening," will debut on station KTIM at 9 a.m. Wednesday, featuring a variety of Marin interviews. Hosting the show will be Jorie Parr of San Rafael, who previously was host of "Note from a Bicycle" on KTIM.

Mrs. Parr's guests for the show Wednesday will be Kay Ksanda of Terra Linda, who will present a fall astrological forecast, and Jackie Kudler of Sausalito, who will discuss the new North Bay School and Indian summer menu ideas.

The weekly show will include Marin fashion and dining ideas, decorating, health, beauty and pop trends and lifestyles, with a variety of entertaining and knowledgeable guests.

Mrs. Parr has been in the communications field for 20 years and has been chief copy writer for Jantzen sportswear, public relations agent for the Golden Nugget in Las Vegas, and continuity director for KTIM.

San Rafael Girl Is Wed At Seminary

Carol Davidson of San Rafael and John Buehler of Santa Clara were married Saturday in a ceremony at Stewart Chapel at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Buehler of Portland, Ore.; and Dr. John A. Buehler of Kentfield. Betsy Buehler of Portland is his sister.

The bride's sister, Barbara Davidson, was maid of honor, and Fred Buehler of Los Angeles was best man for his brother. The bride's brother, Larry Davidson, and Paul Wilson were ushers.

Following a wedding trip to Mendocino the couple will live in Santa Clara.

Carol and John are both graduates of San Rafael High School and the University of California at Santa Cruz. John is employed by the Santa Clara County Department of Public Social Services.

Child Can Aid In Decorating

NEW YORK (UPI) — Redecorating a child's room? Let child help. The more a child has to do with the way his or her room looks, the better care he will take of it.

When everything is finished, and the child moves into a brightly-decorated room, take advantage. Post a cleaning schedule, explaining that he can keep the room clean by himself with just a little help.

On the schedule list daily chores, such as bedmaking and clutter-cleaning. For Saturday morning, put down dusting and vacuuming. Then — cross your fingers and hope the new system works.

Mobile Home Is Answer For Professional Golfer

Susie Maxwell Berning of Lake Tahoe has figured out a way to continue her eight year professional golf career and still spend as much time as she can with her family.

Following the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament around the country is a gypsy existence. But Sue and her husband Dale simply pack up 18 month-old Robin and a babysitter in their mobile home and head for the action.

"YOU HAVEN'T lived until you've driven down a highway sitting in a bathtub with a cool drink in your hand," said the winner of her second U.S. Open title with a laugh.

The bus is 100 per cent self-sufficient, equipped with a TV, refrigerator, stove and air-conditioning. She estimates that having the bus saves the family $60 a day in living-on-the-road expenses and it prevents Dale from being a golf widow.

When she competes next, she'll also be trying to earn points toward the $20,000 Eve Challenge Cup fund which will be divided among the top five point earners at the end of the season.

Playing with a family on hand has both its advantages and disadvantages.

"I USED to bring my game home with me a lot more when I was single," Susie says. "Now I am anxious to get back to see the baby. The bus is not a motel though, so I also have to concern myself with household chores. Perhaps I could use more concentration on what goes on around the golf course."

Susie, 30 years old, is an eight time winner on the tour. Her biggest victory, the U.S. Open championship in 1968, came shortly after she married Dale. Dale, an Xavier University graduate who is in the real estate business in Lake Tahoe, met his wife at a tournament in Cincinnati.

"My brother said, 'Let's go out and watch the girls play,' " Dale recalled. "I canceled my golf date and went with him. I talked to Susie some after the tournament. I called her two months later and we got together."

Their courtship was usually at a distance. Dale lived in San Francisco and Susie was on the road with the tour.

"We both had an average phone bill of $125 to $150 a month. It was ridiculous. We dated for a year and a half before we got married."

"Before teeing off every day Dale gave me my morning medicine," she explained, "that of telling me how great I was playing and I should beat everybody in sight, etcetera. You know, when someone tells you that as often as he did, it sure doesn't hurt your ego, and eventually some of it rubs off on you. Nothing breeds good golf like confidence."

The 5'3½", 120-pound golfer had a two-stroke lead going into the final round. "After nine holes I was one under par, but heard that Mickey Wright was making her charge and really burning up the course," Susie recalled. "On the 11th hole, things were awfully tense and I heard Dale calling from across the other fairway. I ran all the way over to him expecting to hear that Mickey had the lead. Instead he whispered 'I love you,' and smiled. I had to run all the way back to keep from being penalized for holding up play. But that relaxed me and I managed to hold on for the title."

SHE HAD added incentives to try to regain her golf form this year. Not only is the LPGA tour reaching the million dollar mark, but the Eve Challenge Cup has been increased to $20,000 with the top five point earners dividing the fund.

Since traveling the tour together, the Bernings have become a very superstitious couple. For awhile they tried to dress in matching outfits. Also, they've decided that Susie plays better golf with no breakfast. Any deviation from this eating schedule with a following bad round leaves Dale shaking his head and muttering, "Two eggs and bacon!"

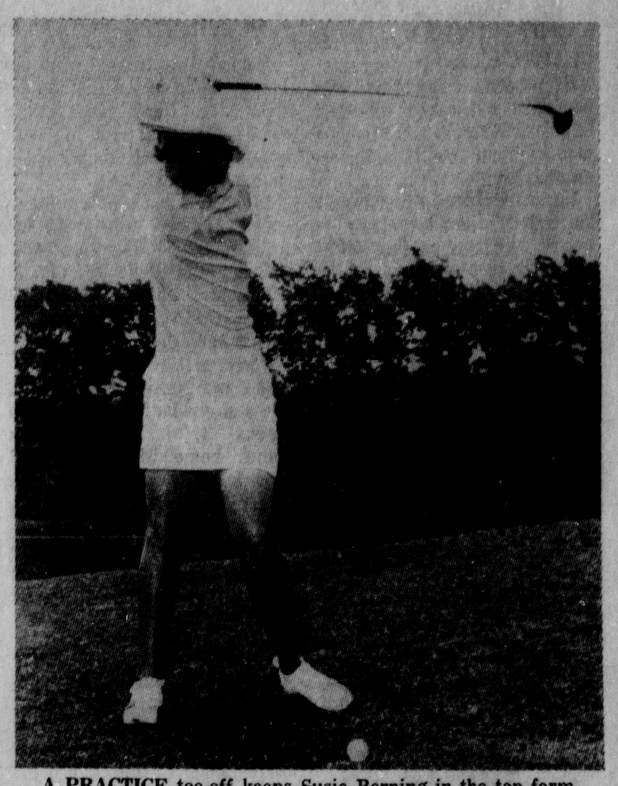
Dale even has to stand in different spots to watch Susie play. If he is standing by a particular tree, for instance, when his wife makes a bad shot, he remembers not to stand near that same tree the next day. It is also bad luck for him to throw away a cigar just before Susie hits; if he forgets, the gallery is treated to the unusual sight of a guy scrambling to pick up a discarded cigar before the next shot.

WATCHING THE women's golf tour for the past couple of years has given Dale much respect for the LPGA brand f golf.

"People look at the paper and see that a woman wins a tournament with a 71 while a man wins with 67," Dale says. "They don't understand the reason for the higher scores. What they don't realize is that the women are playing on courses designed for men. The only difference between the two games is muscle. Once off the tee, the women play just as good as the men all the way around."

Teens Like Them

The rolled-up slacks, revived from the forties, are going over with contemporary teen-agers. It's a totally new look for them, of course. The same for the wild socks that go on view when the pant legs are hiked.



A PRACTICE tee-off keeps Susie Berning in the top form with which she won the U.S. Open twice. She has been on the professional tour for eight years.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

I Was Bored With My Job, So . . .

By PEACE MOFFAT

NEW YORK (AP) — On June 12, 1971, Nicolette Milnes Walker climbed into her 30-foot sloop and set sail — alone — from the southwest tip of Wales. On July 26, 45 days and 3,500 miles later, she brought her boat to port in Newport, R.I., and became the first woman to sail nonstop across the Atlantic Ocean.

What kind of woman would want to do a thing like that — endure the known physical and the unknown emotional hazards of facing the Atlantic alone on a small boat? and Why?

"I really do think the reason I took this trip is that I was darned bored with my job, and I had to have a good reason to hand in my resignation," says Miss Walker, a petite 28-year-old woman. Here to promote the book she wrote about her trip, "When I Put Out to Sea," she went on:

"I HAD BEEN working in the city, had a lot of evenings at home, and started thinking about this trip. Before I knew it, I was making lists of what was needed and I had the thing organized."

Miss Walker's serious sailing experience had begun the previous year on a trip to the Azores with two friends. Later, at a boat show in London, she began thinking of what kind of sailboat she would need, and within several days had made a definite decision to go.

The fourth daughter of a surgeon, Miss Walker says she always had a need for attention and admits, "this might have been a hang-over."

In addition, Miss Walker says she thinks there is "something in the English character that likes to do things alone — there's not that much scope for adventure on the island.

"Before I left on this trip," she goes on, "my parents gave me no cause to worry about their worrying about me. I was amazed. Then, when I landed in America they had flown over to meet me. It was a brave thing for them to do — how long would they have stayed waiting?"

MISS WALKER says her greatest fear during the trip was of a disaster, such as falling overboard, or getting run down by a large ship. And she says the two strongest emotions she endured were fear — "an underlying fear all the time" —and boredom. "The last was the one thing I hadn't anticipated," she says. "For the first time in my life I got bored with reading books. The radio just kept going over the same old news, but at least I was picking up the radio from all over. I was in no country."

She says she slept when it was dark, was awake when it was light, and to help pass the time "nibbled all day," and worked on the boat. She spent much of her time on deck naked. "The water was often warmer than the air," she explains, "and you could dry off straight away. But I always had on a safety harness to keep from falling overboard. It would have made a funny Playboy photograph."

The noise from the sea and the boat were surprising, Miss Walker says. "There's always a slapping, and with bad weather, the whole boat shakes, and the water goes 'boom'."

TIME AND space were sometimes distorted, this blonde sailor also reports. "I was always aware of what time it was for navigational purposes," she says, "but I had no sense of time happening —of time passing.

"I also felt I was in a small environment. The world of the Atlantic is quite a small world. There's about a six-mile horizon — with just the sea — blue, green and always a swell. I would look back and not be able to believe I had gone past 2,000 miles of ocean."

There were several severe storms during her trip, but not many times when Miss Walker says she thought she wasn't going to make it. "Those were only on occasions when I was in bad weather, and felt the boat might not last," she recalls.

AFTER HER voyage, Miss Walker, who was recently married, says she has a "lot more confidence and self-awareness. The trip was a bit like going through analysis," she says.

But asked if she would try her lone passage again, she replies, "No. But it is tempting. I wouldn't have the same motivation, though," she says. "I could always tell myself I had already done it once. And it would be bad to repeat this kind of public adventure.

"Besides — there are so many other things to do."

HELEN HELP US!

Don't Give Up On Marriage, And Be Grateful For Check

DEAR HELEN:

Frank and I were married two days and a half before he left for 'Nam. That was five months ago, and I am five months pregnant.

He came home on a 30-day leave but, after spending two weeks with me, he took off to spend the rest with his folks. He didn't offer to take me with him because they have done their best to split us up. They've told lies about me, said I "stole" their furniture (when actually the store repossessed it) and that because of me, they left town (they sneaked off to avoid bill collectors).

I don't know who Frank believes, but it looks like he's on their side. Don't you think a man's place is with his wife especially when he's only got a month in the States?

I love him, but if he's going to spend half his time with his folks, maybe it means he prefers their shiftless ways. Should I just give up? — MARRIED TO A MAMA'S BOY

DEAR MTMB:

Don't give up until you've given marriage more than a two and one-half days, plus two weeks' trial. When Frank comes home for good you'll soon know which "mama" he prefers (men DO grow up when they realize they are husbands-and-fathers). Meanwhile write to him every day — and be grateful for your allotment check. — H.

DEAR MRS. B.:

About the "man" who was sent to jail for draft dodging and got gang-raped: He's now back to jail (crime conveniently unmentioned by him) unless his lawyer can soften up the jury with a big sob story.

That's the trouble with our country. A coward won't fight for it so he gets what he deserves — but I'll bet a lot of weeping-Lenas write in about how prison ruins "peaceful" young men!

Instead of sticking to the sidelines with a neutral answer, Mrs. B., you should have reminded him that sneaking deserters have been SHOT in other wars! — NO TEARS FOR TRAITORS

DEAR NO:

Sorry, I'm not that vindictive. Nor am I that dedicated to a war we should never have fought.

What this young man's present crime rating is I don't know but of one thing I'm sure: he did not "deserve" gang-rape.

I can do without your brand of bloodthirsty "patriotism"! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Please tell me the effect powdered starch has on a person who eats it by the box.

My wife consumes a full one pound of washing starch every day. She says she craves it. I may be wrong but I have noticed a change in her skin complexion and size of stomach. — HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND:

"I've heard of "putting starch in your backbone" but this is ridiculous. Your wife's unusual craving should be checked out by a doctor. It may come from an imbalance in her system. — H.

Good News - Postal Increase Cancelled

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen found some good news to report in his speech to the 3,000 people in attendance. He announced that the proposed $450-million rate increase scheduled for next January had been cancelled.

He explained that a freeze on hiring and other cost-cutting steps had made the increase unnecessary.

So, for a few months at least, mail users will be able to get deteriorating service for the same price rather than at higher rates. But mail experts are generally in agreement that the cost of stamps will have to increase at least by next spring.

AS REASONS, they cite the fact that labor contracts expire next July, with inevitable wage increases to follow. Rising costs of mechanization will add further pressure on rates.

In the meantime, according to Klassen, the 14-month-old Postal Service is providing better service with fewer employees.

"Right now, in most locations," he told the Postal Forum, "we are delivering 95 per cent of local mail, addressed to local destinations, on a next-day basis."

To most consumers, that statement might sound more like a dream than a fact. But closer analysis shows that Klassen is not claiming much. For the word "most" can mean only 51 per cent.

Klassen also sounded a positive note about airmail when he said, "We have in operation a service standard that calls for next-day delivery to designated cities within 600 miles, and in some instances much greater distances, if the airmail is in our hands by 4 p.m. For all other points, our target is delivery no later than second day."

With these words, Klassen was merely reciting a standard long sought but not yet reached by the Postal Service or its predecessor, the Post Office Department.

THE MOST that Klassen claimed was a "real improvement," as indicated by spot checks on delivery times.

He said, "We are capable of achieving a 95 per cent reliability rate."

Tests show that delivery sometimes meets or surpasses these goals. But nobody knows where or when service will reach the standard. The one word used most frequently by postal authorities to describe the service is "inconsistent."

Even if Klassen is right in saying that 95 per cent of the mail meets a certain standard of delivery time, the chance of experiencing such a performance is not unlike the chance of being hit by lightning.

When delivery of mail is important, people do not want to take chances. They want reliability, and that is not consistently available today from the Postal Service. In recent years, delivery times have been increasing rather than decreasing, according to official surveys.

Parcel Post service has become so bad that half of the business has gone elsewhere to such outfits as United Parcel Service. Klassen admits that special delivery has been a "disgrace." He says a new system of "speedy bags" will correct the situation. Stamps themselves will soon be sold by mail, with payment by check, Klassen predicts.

San Rafael Man Weds Chico Girl

Caren Bonds of Chico was married on Saturday to Gary Frank Hanson of San Rafael in a ceremony at St. Raphael'sCatholic Church in San Rafael.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John B. Bonds of Oakland, and the bridegroom is the son of the Frank Hansons of San Rafael.

Mrs. Carol Dickey of Chesapeake, Va., was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Francine Hanson of San Rafael, and Connie Plett of San Francisco were the bridesmaids. Darrell Ravoni served as best man.

Caren is a graduate of Piedmont High School and the University of California. She is employed in the law offices of Peter, Fuller and Bush in Chico. Her brothers are John Bonds of San Francisco, Paul Bonds of Panama and Scott Bonds of Daly City. Anna Stekall of Oakland is her local grandmother.

Gary was graduated from San Rafael High School and attends California State University, Chico. Elmer Hanson of San Rafael is his grandfather.

Following a wedding trip to the Monterey Peninsula the couple will live in Chico.

Carpeting May Be The Answer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Studies have shown children prefer carpeting to a hard-surface floor. Try indoor-outdoor carpeting.

It isn't as expensive as other carpeting, as a rule. It has the added feature: easily claned with soap or detergent suds.

Can Buy Less

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Association of University Professors reports purchasing power of American college and university faculty members, as measured by average salaries, decreased during the past year.

Chinese Clothes Have Good Quality

The quality of the Chinese ready-to-wear clothing beginning to reach U.S. shores is good, says Larry Horowitz, a chief importer of the Red Chinese goods.

"They are carefully made because they want a good image," he told Women's Wear Daily in Cincinnati. He added that the clothes coming in were manufactured for the Orient and that size conversion charts are being used. The jackets fit well, but some of the pants are quite narrow at the ankles.

Horowitz said he and a partner decided to try to import just the "people's cap" worn by the Chinese, but found that they could get the whole outfit. In eight months they have sold merchandise to top U.S. stores in the East and Midwest.

MORE MODEST — For families of more modest means, there are campers such as this one which are mounted on the backs of pickup trucks. (Christian Science Monitor photos)

SEEING THE U.S. — The Donald Anderson family of Saratoga, Ca., has been seeing the U.S. for the last four years in their Volkswagon camper.

CRAWLING THE WEST

Mobile Home Phenomenon

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BIG SUR, CALIF. — Many people call them "the great escape." Others claim they are the answer to the high cost of family vacation travel. Well-heeled retired folk say they love getting back to nature in mobile luxury.

Whatever the outburst of enthusiasm, motor homes, travel trailers, and campers have, this summer of '72, won the phenomenal support of travelers of all ages who like responding to the call of the wild, but hate roughing it. They prefer to carry their motel on board, and to cook with gas.

Here in the Big Sur, as we enjoy the last days of summer, we see these vehicles perched on seaside bluffs like birds spaced along a high wire ready for quick flight. We see them silhouetted against white sand dunes and nestled into redwood forests, with the whole fragrant outdoors as living room and playground.

The Donald H. Anderson family of Saratoga, Calif., picnics under the trees, and the children swim and explore trails. The Andersons have had a Volkswagen camper, which sleeps the couple and their two young daughters, for four years. They've made several cross-country trips in it and use it constantly or weekend trips to favorite spots.

"If we were traveling by car," Mrs. Anderson points out, "we'd be paying at least $20 a night for motels, plus meals in restaurants. This way, we never pay out more than $3 a night to park in a campground and we carry our own food and make our own meals."

"Weekendamping doesn't seem like work to me any more because it's fun. And certainly a camper gives flexibility to travel with children. We can stop when we need to, and the kids can play or sleep in the back while my husband and I alternate driving."

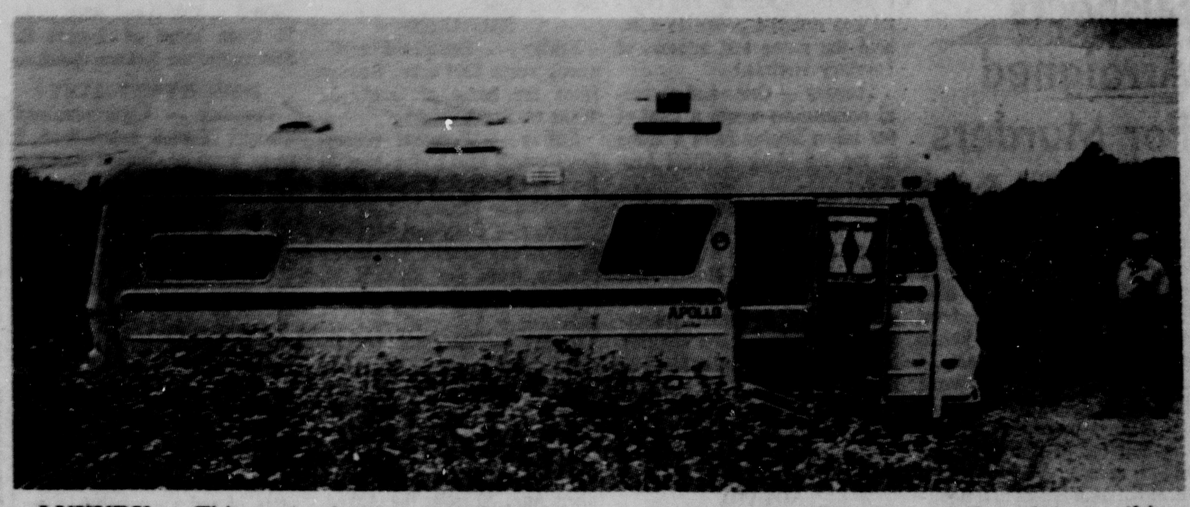
Then there is the semi-retired businessman from Yuma, Arizona, who has a deluxe $18,500 Apollo motor home in which he and his wife, and assorted friends and relatives, have traveled 25,000 miles around the West. This super conveyance has wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning, and is completely sefl-contained, meaning that it had, for four people, one week's supply of water, gas fuel for cooking and refrigeration, and sanitary disposal storage.

This jovial chap says they live "like royalty" and make waffles every morning for breakfast. As for costs, another couple recently joined him and his wife for two weeks of travel, and total costs for food, gas, tolls, etc. reckoned out at $5.05 per day per person. He gets only 7 miles to the gallon of gasoline, but doesn't consider this factor important. When he and his wife went calling on married children, he said, they rolled up with their own bedroom which was convenient too.

A young father with a second-hand camper fitted onto a Ford pickup truck told me he had been transferrej from Atlanta to California and so took three weeks to drive his wife and five children across the country, stopping at every national park and historic site along the way.



LUXURY — This motor home, named Apollo, is the last word in luxury on wheels. Parked near Big Sur in the picture, this Apollo sells for $18,500.

"This camper has cut us down to almost nothing in travel costs," he says, "which menas we've been able to spend more on sight-seeing."

His 12-year-old son says he liked the camper because he "felt like a pioneer crossing the prairie."

According to the Recreational Vehicle Institute, retail sales volume in 1971 hit a record high of $1,629,483,000, a 41 percent increase over 1970. By 1978, this figure is expected to double to more than $3 billion. Motor homes are the fastest growing segment of the industry. They range in length from 15 to 35 feet, and from $5,000 to more than $20,000 in price.

One help to consumers was the 1971 removal of the 7 percent automobile excise tax from motor homes, and the repeal of the 10 percent excise tax on the light-duty trucks used in the construction of many motor homes.

Biggest problem of owning a motor home is shortage of storage facilities. Apartment dwellers often can't find parking for them. Many residential areas have restrictive ordinances prohibiting recreational-vehicle parking. Some big cities are now planning nearby recreational-vehicle parking lots where these land cruisers may be garaged, protected, maintained, and repaired.

There is also a shortage of campgrounds and parks. Overnight parking in a commercially operated campground ranges from $1.40 to $8 per night, with $1 extra for utilities hookup. In public campgrounds fees run from $1 to $3 per night.

A nationwide survey of 500 camping families made last year shows that the average age of a recreational-vehicle owner is 45. Average trip taken by working people involved 15 days and was more than 2,600 miles in length. Retired vehicle owners averaged 63 days away from home and 4,600 miles of travel.

Willy Brandt's Hope Has Been Shattered

By DAVID R. FRANCIS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BONN, Germany — The tragedy at the Olympic games is the last of a series of incidents that observers here believe could tip the scales against Chancellor Willy Brandt in the expected general election later this year.

Mr. Brandt's government had hoped that a happy and successful Olympic games would be a feather in the cap of his government. That hope has been shattered.

What happened at the Olympics had prompted some to say that the tragic events of this week will strengthen those in Germany who advocate law and order.

The party most identified with law and order is the opposition party, the Christian Democratic Union. It holds about 50 per cent of the seats in the German Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament.

Mr. Brandt's Social Democratic Party and its partners in the governing coalition, the Free Democrats, hold the other half of the seats.

In hopes of winning a clear majority, Mr. Brandt had indicated he will call an election in late fall.

So far the opposition has not criticized the government's management of the Palestinian terrorist affair. Because the Bavarian government is a Christian Social Union government and the states in Germany are in charge of the police, it will be difficult for the opposition to attack the federal government on this score.

The morning after the tragedy the Bonn newspaper General Anzeiger said, "The world sorrows. Israeli hostages are dead."

It was a special edition handed out free in the streets of this capital city as its shocked citizens went to work.

The tragedy occurred too late for most early-sleeping Germans to have heard the news Tuesday night. They stood before the train station here with glum faces, reading the single page. The atmosphere was heavy.

"It is very bad," said a taxi driver. "But that it should happen in Germany is worse." After the first shock, the politicians here began wondering about the impact of the massacre on Germany's coming election.

"The government couldn't have done any more," said one young man, Volker Vormat. "It offered money. The Arabs refused.

"The former mayor of Munich and the police chief there offered themselves as substitutes for the hostages," he continued. "But that was refused, too."

Suspects Arraigned For Murders

CHRISTIANSTED, St. Croix V.I. (UPI)—Two suspects in the Fountain Valley golf course slaying of eight persons were ordered arraigned today, on this Virgin Islands resort where police, FBI agents and federal marshalls continued the jungle search for five other suspects.

The arrested men were charged with eight counts of first degree murder Saturday, with bail set at more than $1 million apiece. The suspects, Meral Orlando Smith and Beaumont Gereau, both St. Croix residents, were interned at Richmond jail when they could not post bail.

Bench warrants for the arrests of the five other suspects were issued Sunday by U.S. District Court Judge Warren Young, charging them with first degree murder.

Attorney General Ronal Tonkin said earlier five to seven masked gunmen were believed to be involved in the shootout, in which seven other persons were injured, during a robbery at the Rockefeller owned golf club.

Two of those injured were reported in good condition at Charles Harwood Hospital. The other five were treated and released Wednesday.

The search was concentrated in the heavy brush of the hills which border the golf course in the northwest corner of the island, according to Tonkin.

Tonkin and Virgin Islands Governor Melvin Evans warned St. Croix residents that the men being sought "are armed and should be considered dangerous."

The five men charged in the warrant were all believed to be natives of St. Croix.

Tonkin said they used nine-millimeter machine guns, a sawed off shotgun and several 45 caliber pistols in the attack.

A reward totalling $26,200 was offered for information leading to their arrests, with the Virgin Islands government putting up $5,000 and Laurance Rockefeller offering another $5,000.

The 350-acre course closed immediately after the shooting and is being used as a command center in the manhunt.

Indecent Exposure To Seven-Year-Old

A 7-year-old girl was the victim of indecent exposure at 9 a.m. Saturday in Boyd Memorial Park at Mission Avenue and B Street, San Rafael, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The man was described as a Caucasian, about 30 years of age, six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds. No description was given of his clothing.

National Guardsmen Injured In Accident

REDMOND, Ore. (UPI)—Five National Guardsmen were injured during the weekend when a .30 caliber machine gun slug was discharged accidentally and ricocheted through an armory.

The weapon was being cleaned following a tank gunnery exercise Saturday when the accident occurred. The shell's impact shattered cement, which injured four guardsmen. The fifth was hit by the ejected shell casing.

Hanoi's Peace Talk Official Is Back In Paris, Has Little To Say

PARIS (UPI)—Le Duc Tho, North Vietnam's top man for secret peace talks, returned to Paris today from consultations in Hanoi, Peking and Moscow, raising the possibility of a new round of private conversations to end the war.

"No, I haven't met him in Moscow," Tho told journalists at Le Bourgent airfield when asked whether he had conferred with U.S. Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger in the Soviet capital.

Queried whether his return will lead to new secret talks between him and Kissinger, who today opened talks in Moscow with Soviet leaders on Vietnam and other world issues, Tho said, "You will have an answer in a few days time."

The smiling and tough-talking North Vietnamese Communist official refused to answer questions on whether his monthlong consultations in Hanoi will lead to a shift in the Communist position allowing a break in the talks deadlock.

"I wish to stress I am returning here to continue negotiations with the United States to settle peacefully the Vietnamese problem," said Tho, who was wearing his traditional black high-buttoned Mao tunic.

"I also want to emphasize I am returning with good will and a serious attitude. If the United States shows a similar frame of mind, peace can return soon in the interests of the United States and all other peoples."

Tho's remarks on Kissinger were taken by Vietnamese diplomats present at the airfield as making it virtually certain that Tho and Kissinger will get together again soon.

Tho, usually talkative on his frequent returns from similar consultations, pushed his way through the crowd of news reporters and photographers, shaking an upraised arm and refusing to answer any other questions.

In a brief hand-written statement translated from the Vietnamese into French, the senior Hanoi diplomat said Communist armed forces are "scoring victories in spite of difficulties."

Tho reiterated the Communist warning that "if the United States listens to the voice of war the Vietnamese people will continue fighting until final victory."

In his brief statement Tho did not specifically request full compliance with the Viet Cong seven-point peace plan.

Trees Will Be Planted At Lake

The planting is the first phase in a beautification project by the committee that will ultimately involve 2,300 tree plantings.

Many youth groups have volunteered to plant, but more workers are needed that day, according to Walt Brown, publicity chairman. Volunteers are asked to contact the committee at 1294 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

WORKING ON THE RAILROAD TRAIL

$525,000 Sewage System To Go To Bolinas Voters

A $525,000 waste treatment and disposal system for Bolinas — designed to end dumping of raw sewage into the Bolinas Lagoon —will face a crucial voter test in November.

Residents in the Bolinas Community Public Utility District will be asked to approve a $385,000 bond issue to finance the local share of the project, which will treat sewage in a system of holding ponds, then dispose of it through spray irrigation. The district is also seeking $327,000 in state and federal grants.

The $712,000 total includes payment of a $187,000 bill from former district engineers, Kennedy Engineers, for work done on a subsequently abandoned $8.1 million project planned with Stinson Beach. That project was killed last year when the state refused to certify it for grants, agreeing with many residents that it was too big and too costly.

For nearly 10 years, the district has been under "cease and desist" orders from the Regional Water Quality Control Board to stop discharging its wastes into the lagoon.

The proposed system will serve the 161 homes and businesses in the downtown area presently polluting tha lagoon with their sewage. Homes on the Bolinas Mesa will not be sewered at present, because of the prohibitive cost of such a project.

Residences on the mesa now disposeof sewage through individual septic tanks and do not contribute to lagoon pollution, even though some tanks are failing. (To alleviate the problem of nonfunctioning tanks, the County of Marin will be asked to delegate responsibility for septic tank regulation, inspection and abatement of failing tanks to the utility district.)

At the heart of the system will be six treatment ponds on 52 acres of property at Mesa Road and Overlook Drive.

Sewage will settle in some of the ponds and be aerated and treated with algae in others. Two of the pools will serve as holding ponds for the treated wastes.

Also on the site will be areas where the highly treated effluent can be used for irrigation of crops which the district may elect to plant adjacent to the ponds.

There will be no discharge of effluent into surface waters around Bolinas, only land irrigation.

Sewage from existing sewers in the downtown area will be pumped to the higher treatment area on the mesa by an underground pumping station on the Bolinas-Olema Road near its intersection with Brighton Avenue.

The system, being planned by Kirker, Chapman and Associates of San Francisco, the district's consulting engineers, is designed to serve a population of approximately 1,000 persons and meet district needs until 1995.

Once built, its operation and maintenance costs will be about $12,000 annually, according to the engineers. Most of that will be financed by monthly sewer service charges levied against homes connected to the system.

Cost of construction and engineering of the project is estimated at $368,500 and land acquisition at approximately $156,000.

To pay for the project all residents in the district — whether directly benefited or not — will be assessed 29 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This means the owner of a $25,000 home will be assessed approximatley $20 a year to pay off the bonds over a 40-year period.

In addition, residents of homes on the sewer line will pay $14 a month in sewer service charges. Persons building new homes on the system will be billed retroactively, $100 a year from the date of the bond sale.

If the bond issue passes, the district hopes to begin construction of the project in January, with completion scheduled for next summer.

Coffees Slated For Candidate

Coffees for Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Fourth District, will be held this week in Larkspur, Woodacre, San Rafael, Corte Madera and Stinson Beach.

The coffees will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Larkspur home of J. Warnock Walsh Jr., 450 Riviera Circle; 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Woodacre home of Betty Gardner, 291 Railroad Avenue; 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the San Rafael home of Ken House, 246 Miramar Avenue; 8 p.m. Friday at the Corte Madera home of I. Thomas Zaragoza, 42 Chickasaw Court, and 1 p.m. Saturday at the Stinson Beach home of Douglas C. Smith, Calle Del Mar.

Santa Rosa Firm To Resurface Roads

Reichhold and Jurkovish of Santa Rosa were low bidder on five highway resurfacing jobs in Sonoma, Napa and Marin Counties at a cost of $282,781, according to the state Division of Highways.

Marin and Southern Sonoma jobs included in the bid opening Friday were resurfacing of Highway 37 from the Atherton Avenue undercrossing to Petaluma Creek Bridge and resurfacing of Highway 116 along a 3.3 mile section, between Adobe Road and Arnold Drive, about five miles north of Petaluma.

ENTHUSIASTIC EDITOR

By PATRICK CORMAN

You don't have to be a farmer to read the Farmer's Almanac.

And apparently you don't have to be a farmer to edit it.

The editor is Raymond A. Geiger, an affable man who, without embarrassment will lapse easily into a "gosh" or "golly."

Geiger, a shrewd publicist with enthusiasm for his job, takes only a week to compile the almanac from his office in Lewiston, Me. His real job, the one he loves best, is hitting the roads six months of the year drumming the 156-year-old publication.

Geiger is a walking testament to the Dale Carnegie approach to life. He's charged with enthusiasm and positive thinking, and has an unflagging capacity for being interviewed.

During the promotion season he'll talk up the almanac to s many as six radio and television stations, newspapers, magazines a day, and anyone else he can collar.

It's hard to tell where the almanac leaves off and the man begins. Geiger is given to puns,

RAYMOND A. GEIGER

anecdotes, and knee-slapping humor. Like a doting uncle, he keeps his pockets filled with surprises — felt-tip pens and playing cards with his caricature on the back — which he passes out to people he meets on his travels.

His amiable, folksy manner makes him much in demand as a speaker on the rubber chicken circuit. By his own count, he estimates he's given the same talk 2,500 times.

"Someone once described me as 'a man so dedicated to ecology he recycles his own material,' " he said the other day on a visit to the editorial offices of the Independent-Journal.

Under Geiger's tutelage, the almanac has remained on "a high moral plane", guaranteed to scintillate, not stimulate.

"This is a wholesome publication," he said. "We don't have any risque jokes, just good fun that the family can take into its home."

Amid the corn, tide tables, recipes, puzzles, and snappy comebacks, are the almanac's famous long-range weather forecasts which Geiger claimed are "way ahead of the U.S. Weather Bureau."

The monthly planting calendars are illustrated with woodcuts produced for the 1820 edition by a New York surgeon named Dr. Alexander Anderson who took up the hobby to keep his cutting hand in trim.

In its 156-year history, the almanac has had five editors. Geiger landed the job in 1932 when he was 23 after his family's novelty and calendar business took over the publication from the bankrupt owners.

Geiger's promotion techniques, sparked by the nostalgia boom, have paid off handsomely for the 48-page publication. Geiger will sell 5 million copies this year to institutions and companies who distribute them free to customers.

Asked for specifics, Geiger becomes a canny Yankee trader. He won't say how much a company pays for the almanac, only that it accounts for 8 per cent of the family business and "100 per cent of my fun."

Geiger, who is 63, doesn't have any retirement plans. The job, he said, guarantees longevity. Every editor of the Farmer's Almanac has lived to be older than 85 years.

Valley Oaks On Novato Plans List

The Novato Planning Commission will consider the master plan and tentative map of Valley Oaks Estates when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Kaehler-Timmer Development Co. has submitted the plan for 92 single-family lots on 22 out of 42 acres on the south side of Olive Avenue at Rita Court. The remaining 20 acres would be left in open space.

Other items to come before the commission include changing the name of Hill Avenue to Hill Road, changing the zoning from planned residential to administrative and professional for a 14,000 square foot lot at 1523 South Novato Boulevard for Richard Connell, revision of the sign ordinance, and development plans for 10 tennis courts and a swimming pool at Olive Ridge Tennis Club at Olive and Deer Island Lane for A. Quartaroli.

Scouts Gain $2,000 At Fair

San Rafael Boy Scout Troop 61 netted over $2,000 at the fast food booth it operated during the recent Marin County Fair, according to scoutmaster William Millar.

The 20 scouts, sponsored by Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia, prepared and served hamburgers and soft drinks supplied at cost by a local hamburger chain.

Millar said the money raised at the fair will be used to send 30 scouts to camp next year.

School Open Despite Threats Of Eviction

Marin City Learning Center opened its doors today at the Manzanita Center with about 20 students in attendance despite warning last week that the group risked eviction if it occupied the building.

According to a spokesman for the private school — which was started last September by Marin City parents who were dissatisfied with the education their children were receiving in the Sausalito School District — the students met in three classes with three teachers.

The spokesman said no one had asked the group to vacate the building today, despite pervious charges that they were occupying the vacated building illegally.

On July 22, about 25 parents took over the building and cleaned it of rubbish and debris, in preparation for today's beginning of school. At the time, Marin County Sheriffs asked the group to leave, but made no move to evict or arrest the cleanup crew.

Sausalito School District Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said he did not know if the building was occupied today, but if they were there, they were holding classes illegally.

He said the school board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the school district's office, 630 Nevada Street, Sausalito, to make a final decision on the Manzanita School Question.

Manzanita has been closed since June, 1971, when the district decided to send all its students to Martin Luther King and Bayside schools in Sausalito.

Tomorrow's Highway 101 Traffic Plan

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter the traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of the freeway involved are:

1. Between the Golden Gate and Richardson Bay bridges from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., various closures at different times of various lanes, to permit pavement marker placing.

2. Immediately north of Highway 37, both northbound and southbound median lanes will be closed from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for drainage work.

3. Between Forbes Overhead and North San Pedro Road, all three southbound lanes will be closed one at a time at various times between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. for repaving.

Mrs. Boxer Plans Campaign Events

Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Second District, will hold two campaign events this coming weekend.

A neighborhood gathering will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Greenbrae home of R.M. Armstrong, 485 Los Cerros Drive, and a party will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Kentfield home of Peter Charles, 33 Terrace Avenue. Guests are asked to wear red, white and lue.

Marin City Man, Woman Arrested

A Marin City man and his companion were arrested on Highway 101 yesterday on suspicion of burglary and conspiracy following the $100 robbery of a San Rafael service station.

David Walter Pedrico, 36, of 69 Cole Drive, and Francis Ann Arenado, 32, of the same address, were booked into Marin County Jail and held to appear today in Marin Municipal Court, he with bail set at $25,000, she with bail at $10,000.

According to police, the pair was arrested at the Sausalito-Marin City offramp on Highway 101 at 9:25 a.m. in a car described as similar to one involved in the robbery minutes earlier of a service station at Second and East streets, San Rafael.

Police said that a service station attendant reported seeing a man loading the station's cash register into a car and speeding away. No register was found in Pedrico's car.

Police said that Pedrico had been paroled 14 days ago from San Quentin.

Smoke Bomb Chases Restaurant Patrons

Police said a small smoke bomb was tossed into the downstairs restaurant portion through a door at the back alley at 8:50 p.m. Smoke ejectors cleared the building in 15 minutes and the operation resumed.

QUALIFIED PERSONNEL — Merrill J. Yoh (seated) and O. Fred Mayer, both unemployed after years of experience as middle management executives, review a brochure they helped draw up which profiles out-of-work Bay Area executives for prospective employers.

EXPERIENCE UNLIMITED

Self-Help Group Finds Jobs For Out-Of-Work Executives

By NELS JOHNSON

Merrill J. Yoh of Terra Linda once earned $15,000 a year as national sales manager of a San Francisco drafting and engineering firm, but the 59-year-old was dumped on the job market in 1969 when a larger corporation absorbed his company.

O. Fred Mayer, 48, of Rohnert Park, earned $18,000 a year as a senior flight test engineer with Boeing Co. in Seattle until May 1971, when he was laid off.

A 51-year-old San Rafael family man earned $12,000 a year as superintendent of a San Francisco paint factory until the plant closed in 1968.

All three have been looking for permanent work ever since as their precious savings accounts have dwindled.

The trio, along with a half-dozen other unemployed Marin residents, belongs to a self-help organization in San Francisco designed to help employers find qualified executive personnel.

It's called Experience Unlimited, and its aim is to go out of business by placing all its members in jobs.

There are more than 20 chapters of Experience Unlimited located in offices of the state Department of Human Resources Development throughout California.

The San Francisco offices of the organization — established in 1930 as a private group, but since taken over by the state — are at 134 California Street.

More than 50 middle-management professionals, ranging from the doctorate to the technician level, belong to the local chapter, according to the husky, white-haired Yoh.

Yoh said active group members must log four hours of volunteer time each week, staffing the office or canvassing prospective employers.

In addition, weekly meetings are held during which members brush up on resume writing techniques, learn how to breeze through an interview or listen to speakers, who offer tips on job hunting.

In return, each active member is listed on the organization's master card file which details job history, education and qualifications. Bulletins listing the scope of Experience Unlimited's resource pool are periodically sent to employers.

The result is a "large turnover in membership", according to Yoh, who said he's been listed with the organization for about eight months.

Yoh said the organization can save a firm costly training expenses and provides able executives on short notice without charge.

Experience Unlimited provides a unique service for unemployed executives, many of whom find their out-of-work status a "peculiar and frightening predicament," Yoh said.

Unemployed middle management personnel are trapped, he said, because firms rarely hire at the middle management level. "Firms hire at the bottom or at the top, but never in the middle."

Yoh said he's been hounding employers since 1969 when a merger eliminated his managerial job. He had worked for his company for 20 years.

He received no severance pay, and unemployment checks stopped coming in July. "It's getting down to the nitty-gritty," he said.

Mayer tells a similar tale.

After 20 years in the engineering field, he was laid off at a Boeing plant in Seattle. He moved the family to Sonoma County, where his wife found a job as a waitress. But he's had less luck.

"Companies want to promote from within," he said. Mayer, who has been unemployed since January, said most firms won't allow a new executive to take a pay cut because then "they think you'll be looking for more pay elsewhere."

Mayer said he's written more than 400 letters to prospective employers since January. "I didn't even know how to type before," he said.

Audubon Feature — Talk On Predatory Animals

Scott Sway of the North American Association for the Preservation of Predatory Animals, will speak at the first fall meeting of the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. Oct. 6 at the Ross School auditorium.

Sway will bring a live tamed wolf with him and will show a film entitled "Death of a Legend," about the character of wolves and their place in nature.

Other Audubon Society events scheduled in October will include a field trip past the Farallones on Oct. 1, starting at 6:45 a.m. at the Blue Horizon pier in Sausalito behind the Spinnaker restaurant; and the start of the fall series of wildlife films with "The Yosemite — An Ecological Visit" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at Olney Hall, College of Marin.

The society reported that it has received a grant of $10,000 from Standard Oil Co. of California to produce three educational films for young children featuring Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley. Filming is scheduled this fall and next spring at nature areas in Marin.

Pilot Succumbs To Heart Attack

JAKARTA (UPI)—A Pan American World Airways pilot suffered an apparent heart attack and died minutes after he landed a Boeing 707 jetliner at Jakarta Airport late Saturday night.

The pilot, whose name was withheld pending notification of next of kin, was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

A company spokesman said the pilot had landed the jetliner normally and taxied to the Jakarta terminal building. He had just shut down the engines and was completing an instrument check when he slumped forward over the controls.

Big Storm Hits Arizona Town

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—A severe storm packing tornado-like winds, golf ball size hail and heavy rain, swept through portions of town Sunday night, causing severe damage in downtown and a residential area.

No injuries were reported.

The rear portion of a block building housing the S & H transmission repair shop was destroyed and a nearby dry cleaning establishment was heavily damaged.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

Slow Summer For Youth In Novato

The Novato Youth Employment Agency had a slack summer as jobs and income dropped to less than half of last year's totals, according to Ronald Pugh, agency director.

Despite the dip, Pugh said he hoped that youth employment service would become an all-year operation "with the Novato to Youth Commission or some other agency taking care of it."

The summer, the program designed to provide jobs for boys and girls between the ages of 15 and 18, was sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission and the Novato Rotary Club.

During the period from June 19 to Aug. 18, the agency handled 66 jobs as compared to 148 last summer and income totaled $2,280 as compared to $5,793 last summer.

Forty-two youths were registered and 33 placed in jobs as compared to 145 registered and 64 placed last summer, Pugh said.

Most of the jobs were yard work, some were baby-sitting and a few were offbeat such as the task of typing the batting averages of minor league baseball players for a baseball information service in Novato.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KRON (4), 7:30 p.m. — The nine-part California history series will be shown each Monday evening beginning tonight. Produced in color, the series includes historical key moments in history as well as locations important in the Golden State development.

KQED (9), 8 p.m. — The "Violent Universe" is one segment of a special documentary — a series of science programs presenting phenomena in outer space, the mind of man, and the restless earth.

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 9 p.m. — Sean Connery and Dyan Cannon star in "The Anderson Tapes," the story of the planning and execution of a daring robbery, will be colorcast as the season premiere of the NBC Monday Night Movies.

Gunfight Participant Will Not Be Charged

No charge will be filed against a 27-year-old English man arrested Thursday on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs during an investigation of a fatal gunfight in Homestead Valley, Marin's assistant district attorney said today.

Joshua W. Thomas said no complaint will be filed against Rufus John Shepherd because one and a half ounces of white powder thought seized in his room at 43 Homestead Boulevard turned out to be harmless.

Thomas said the powder was a kind sometimes blended with heroin to cut the drug, but not a narcotic itself.

Although Shepherd was cleared, Thomas said other possible drugs and paraphernalia found in a room shared by Ricky Eugene Caponio, 29, and Linda Leopold, 27, were still being analyzed.

According to sheriff's deputies who investigated the predawn shooting, an ex-convict known as Thomas Harold Boord and Donald Charles Brazao entered the room and began firing at Caponio, who shot back.

The intruder was killed, his body hit by five slugs, and Caponio was hospitalized with abdominal wounds.

Caponion may have been expecting trouble, inspectors said, because he reportedly told a neighbor he was having trouble with prowlers and not to worry if he heard shots.

When the shots came about 5:45 a.m., Shepherd, returning home at the time, dived behind a car as Mill Valley Police arrived and was taken into custody in the confusion. He was later booked after a search of the house.

23 Marinites Selected For Writers 'Shop

Twenty-three Marin residents have been chosen for the College of Marin writers' workshop which will prepare them as student workers and poetry readers at the college's fourth annual Writers' Conference scheduled for next spring.

They will attend a workshop to be held at the college on the Oct. 21-23 weekend. They were selected on the basis of poetry and short stories submitted to the college's English department.

Chosen were Sara Adams and Mrs. Thomas Price of Belvedere, Sean Freeman of Bolinas, Joel Obuchon of Corte Madera, Jim Lindauer of Fairfax, Anita Perna of Kentfield, Sarah Howard of Lagunitas, Florence Burroughs Elizaebth Keer and Frances Walter of Mill Valley, Linda Kay Reynolds, Jeannette Scovill and Annette Smail of Novato, Louisa M. Berger of Point Reyes Station, R. Lief Sibley of Ross, Fran Nikas, Kathy Rainey, Roy Stevens and Kathy Waters of San Anselmo, Helen Lindberg, Ellie Mooney and Les Turner of San Rafael, and Joy M. Crandall of Tiburon.

Dominican Students Make 'Who's Who'

Five seniors at Dominican College, San Rafael, will be listed in the new edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

They are: Janet Filippi of Mill Valley, Alicia Snyder of San Anselmo, Aurora Gurdian of Nicaragua, Kathleen Laubacher of Oxnard, and Peggy Machado, of Sacramento.

A QUESTION OF IDENTITY

If these puppies turn out meowing instead of barking, it will be no wonder. Since Labor Day, they've been under the maternal care of a cat named Betty who lives at the Little Red Dog Motel in San Rafael. The puppies — less than a week old — were adopted by Betty after a customer who found them abandoned on the beach turned them over to Jeffrey P. Mears and Bill Bear, operators of the motel. The motel men enlisted the aid of Betty, who was nursing her own litter of kittens at the time. So far, there's been enough food for all.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Reader Wonders: Why Don't Doctors Ever Make House Call?

P. C. writes: "Why don't doctors make house calls any more?"

I know several physicians who make house calls, especially those practicing in smaller communities. However, studies have shown that only one house call in 10 is necessary. All too often the person has been ill for 24 hours, the family panics, and decides the doctor should drop everything and come to the house.

There are many reasons why the house call no longer is practicable. At one time, the doctor carried all his equipment in a little black bag. Is also included the remedies that were available at the time. He took the pulse and temperature, listened to the heart and lungs, and felt the abdomen. The patient opened the mouth and said "Ah" — while the tongue was held down with a tongue depressor. A urine specimen was obtained and the patient was given a pill or a prescription for his problem. This was as complete an examination as the doctor could do.

BY MODERN standards this examination is far from complete, and a more thorough study can be done in the office or hospital emergency room. In the long run, the patient benefits.

Furthermore, making a house call in the city is becoming more difficult. It takes a long time, especially when the traffic is heavy, and parking is a problem. In addition, the doctor is in danger of being mugged or robbed. House calls are simply uneconomical and not practicable.

ON THE OTHER hand, in problem cases, the house call may aid in making the diagnosis. The physician has the opportunity to meet the family and look over the home surroundings. A house call is most valuable to the allergist or skin specialist who is trying to pinpoint the cause of a recurring rash or hives. Surprisingly, these physicians often find a significant cause that the patient has missed.

SPASTIC BOWEL

S. C. writes: Can a spastic bowel lead to ulcerated colitis?

REPLY

I doubt it. Spastic colon is common and a few of its victims will develop ulcerative colitis. On the other hand, ulcerated colitis is a very irritating condition and spasm invariably exists.

ATTACHED TO PSYCHIATRIST

A reader writes: My psychiatrist has helped me a great deal, but my attachment to him is making me ill. Should I quit seeing him or tell him about my problem?

REPLY

CROSS-EYED AT 60

N. E. B. writes: Will exercises help cross-eye in a man of 60?

REPLY

I doubt it if the eye has been crossed from birth. On the other hand, exercises may help if the abnormality developed suddenly only a few days or weeks ago.

IODINE AND GRAY HAIR

C. G. writes: Is iodine good for overcoming gray hair?

REPLY

No, and let's not consider using iodine as a dye.

Chinese To Buy Boeing Aircraft

SEATTLE (UPI) — The government of China has signed an agreement to buy commercial jetliners from the Boeing Co., a spokesman for the company said Sunday night.

"Additional details are unavailable pending the arrival in Washington, D.C., Tuesday afternoon of Byron H. Miller, Boeing's head salesman in the Chinese negotiations," said James Boynton, director of public relations for Boeing's commercial airplane division.

Despite lack of official confirmation, it was believed the contract called for the sale of 10 Boeing 707s and parts for $150 million.

Ex-S.F. Mayor Demands Apology From Candidate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— George Christopher, former San Francisco mayor and a Republican, Sunday demanded that Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver apologize to Greek-Americans for a remark he recently made.

Christopher said that Shriver told an audience in Northern Virginia that if Vice President Spiro Agnew doesn't like young people, he should "...go back to Greece with the young people there—not just to Baltimore, but all the way back to Greece."

The former mayor, who served two terms from 1955-1964, wrote a letter to Shriver citing the speech.

"I too, now call on you to unequivocally apologize for this insult, not only to the over 1,500,000 Americans of Greek extraction in the United States, but to every fair-minded American regardless of national origin."

Shorter, Hart Star In Olympic Finale; Russia Takes Crown

MUNICH (UPI) — Frank Shorter and Eddie Hart, a pair of Americans who wouldn't give up, won gold medals on the final day of Olympic track and field competition, but it did little to ease the pain of the overall Russian triumph in the Games.

The closing ceremony, tempered to the tragedy of the Israeli massacre, will end the 20th Games tonight. The carefree Bavarian dancers will not perform as scheduled and the gay sounds of carnival jazz will be replaced by classical music.

The somber mood should fit the Americans, who have had their worst Olympics of modern times. The U.S. won only 33 gold medals compared to 45 in 1968 while the Russians won 50, a Games record.

But Shorter, who was born in Munich 24 years ago, made Sunday more pleasant by winning the 26-mile marathon, the first American to win this grueling race in 64 years.

And Hart, deprived of a chance to run in the open 100 by a mixup of starting times on a qualifying heat, anchored the 400-meter relay team to victory in 38.2, equalling a world record.

The Americans also won two gold medals in archery and one in boxing. John Williams, 18, of Cranesville, Pa., the world champion, won the men's archery title easily and Mrs. Doreen Wilbur, 42, of Jefferson, Iowa, came from fourth place to win the women's title.

The U.S. also received two silvers—one it refused to accept in basketball—and a bronze, to 18-year-old Dwight Stones of UCLA with a leap of 7-3 in the high jump. The other silver went to the U.S. women's 1,600-meter relay team of Mabel Fergerson, Madeline Manning, Cheryl Toussaint and Kathy Hammond.

The U.S. women didn't win a track gold for the first time in history and the men only won six. The Russians won the most track gold medals, nine, and East Germany had eight while the Americans won the most track medals, 21, to 20 for East Germany and 17 for Russia.

The Soviet Union won two track golds the final day—Yuri Tarmak in the high jump with a leap of 7-3 3-4 and Fina Melnik in the women's discus with a throw of 218-7.

The Russians were declared winners of the Olympic basketball gold medal Sunday and the Americans' 36-year reign in the sport ended.

The end came when the International Basketball Federation (FIBA) announced that the American protest of their 51-50 loss to the Russians Saturday in the gold medal game was denied. But the American players declared they could not accept the decision and refused to accept a silver medal.

Ferenc Hepp of Hungary, chairman of the five-man FIBA group that made the decision on the basketball game, tried to explain how it was reached.

He began at the point where Doug Collins made two free throws to give the United States a 50-49 lead with three seconds to play.

Then, he said, play resumed with the Russians bringing the ball in, but Brazilian referee Renato Righetto "detected a disturbance on the sidelines which he believed interfered with the normal flow."

Hepp said the clock was ordered returned to the three second mark. But it was not and when play resumed the game-ending horn blew almost immediately.

Because the clock had not properly been placed back to three seconds, play was ordered resumed again with the three seconds showing on the clock and it was then that the Russians got their goal.

Munich police, still edgy after the massacre Tuesday of 11 Israelis, sent truckloads of armed police into the Olympic Village Sunday night after a report gunfire had broken out near the Soviet quarters.

An unidentified policeman in the village complex told newsmen one man was shot dead and three wounded in the shooting outside the Russian housing complex, but a spokesman for the Olympic Games denied the report.

Meanwhile, West Germany won the team grand prix jumping Olympic gold medal today ahead of the United States and Italy.

Player's Song Is Different

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — When you call Gary Player a scrambler, he usually denies it emphatically.

But the 17-year PGA tour veteran sang a different tune Sunday after he picked up $50,000 for his 71-71-142, two-stroke victory over Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino in the 11th annual World Series of Golf. It was the third time the South African has captured the 36-hole event.

Player, who won the Professional Golf Association championship a month ago, one-putted 10 out of the first 14 holes in the final round, nine of which were to salvage par, "the best putting since I don't remember when."

"I don't remember putting so well from the No. 1 through No. 36 as I did here," Player said. "Yes, I did have a scrambling day.

"A good example of that was on No. 11 when I hooked my drive in the left rough, couldn't see the flag and hat to hit a nine-iron to the green. The ball went by the hole 30 feet. My first putt went in for a birdie."

That was only the second birdie Player managed in two days over the par 70, 7,100-yard Firestone Country Club course. The first came in Saturday's opening round on the same par four 365-yard hole.

While Player hit only four of the first 14 greens in regulation during the finald round, he came on strong in the stretch, parring the final four holes. His only real difficulty came on the 625-yard 16th hole.

"Gary got it up and down on every hole," said a dejected Nicklaus, who along with Trevino picked up $11,250. "Nobody was putting any pressure on Gary so he just chipped up and made his par putts.

"I never got anything going here and when I went on the tee, all I would think about was getting par. I didn't get it sharp enough. I played less bad golf today (Sunday) but my three-putting on the first and fourth holes made the difference."

Trevino, who blamed his poor performance at least partly on new grips, said his even par final round "felt like I shot a 65 here because I just didn't hit it well."

"I just hit the ball terribly," said the British Open champion. "There are no excuses but I

Giants Get Split— And Some Praise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants may be down but they're definitely not out as a future National League power, says Cincinnati Reds' manager Sparky Anderson.

"There's no question in my mind the Giants could jump from fifth to first next season," says Anderson, whose Reds split a Sunday doubleheader with San Francisco, winning the opener, 8-7, and dropping the nightcap, 8-2.

"Those Giants can really hit and they have a lot of good-looking young players," adds Anderson. "In this division, the balance is so good you never know one year from the next."

Sunday's split, coupled with Houston's loss to Los Angeles, boosted the Reds' Western Division lead to 7½ games over the Astros. The fifth-place Giants were idle today before hosting the Dodgers Tuesday night.

Cincinnati won the opener with a two-run rally in the eighth inning, capped by Joe Morgan's run-scoring single with two outs. Morgan, a former Oakland prep, collected three singles, stole three bases and scored twice.

John Bench blasted his 31st homer and drove in three runs. The Reds' catcher added an RBI in the second game to boost his season total to 101. Reliever Tom Hall, 8-1, was the winner, while Randy Moffett took the loss.

Bobby Bonds ended a two-for-34 slump with a three-run homer that highlighted a four-run seventh inning rally that proved decisive for the Giants in the second game. The win went to Juan Marichal, 6-15, his first victory since Aug. 15.

"I was really getting frustrated," says Bonds. "I didn't really consider myself in a slump because I was hitting the ball, but I did start wondering when they'd start dropping for me."

READ SAYS:

Tar '11' Scrimmage Fruitful

"We got an awful lot accomplished — these scrimmages are great," said College of Marin coach Dick Read after his team devoted Saturday partly to traveling and partly to football.

The Tars held a two-part scrimmage with Diablo Valley College of Pleasant Hill. The visitors' offense worked against Marin's defense in Kentfield in the morning, and Marin's offense tested Diablo Valley's defense in Pleasant Hill in the evening.

"They scored seven or eight touchdowns and we got three," said Reed, "but the important thing is that we got an awful lot out of it in terms of personnel. We were able to concentrate on one aspect of the game for a couple of hours, and our whole coaching staff was able to watch and make constructive comments to the kids.

"We were pleased with the attitude, that type of thing. There was some good tackling, but some poor tackling, too. We were inconsistent."

Read liked the play on offense of end Mike Corder, tackle Tim Thompson and halfback Bob Daniele, a converted quarterback. On offense, cornerback Leon Howard and linebacker Les Dunn were impressive. "Dunn hadn't played much defense before — this scrimmage was good for him," Read said.

Conditioning Is 'Cats Key In Win

By LEW CODDINGTON

If any cynics expected Mari. Catholic High School's football team to get weary and fade Saturday afternoon, they must be pretty tired themselves by now, for they are still waiting.

"Conditioning was the key," said head coach Bruno Banducci after his Wildcats scored in every quarter to defeat St. Elizabeth of Oakland, 25-0, in Marin County's first game of 1972.

Several men played both offense and defense for each school, as Marin Catholic entered the game with 22 men on its roster, and St. Elizabeth with 24.

The difference was that Marin Catholic's overworked gridders held up. In fact, the Wildcats mounted their best offensive drive of the day in the fourth quarter, slashing 49 yards in three plays to score on an eight-yard run by Layne Cozza.

The busy Cozza also returned a pass interception 58 yards for a score in the third period, ending any hopes St. Elizabeth had of rallying him from a 12-0 halftime deficit.

Cozza's interception was the most conspicuous of a long series of standout plays by the Wildcat defense. Until the final minute of the first half, the visitors from Oakland had a total offense of minus five yards.

"Everybody was outstanding on defense," said Banducci, "especially (defensive back) Ben Partee. He came up well to stop the run."

The 'Cats, running sweeps outside St. Elizabeth's tightly-bunched defense, rushed for 133 yards. Rich Cervisi had 45 and Cozza 41, each averaging four yards a crack.

Cervisi scored the second touchdown on a one-yard burst after the two teams had exchanged fumbles inside St. Elizabeth's five. Tackle Steve McKeon made the crucial Wildcat recovery.

Partee, who also played quarterback, netted the first score on a one-yard run. The visitors contributed to their own misfortune by fluttering consecutive punts of 12, six and seven

DeMONT DID NOT KNOW ABOUT DRUG

MUNICH (UPI) — The president of the United States Olympic Committee said Sunday that swimmer Rick DeMont of Terra Linda did not know the asthma medicine he was taking contained the drug ephedrine.

Ephedrine is on the banned list of Olympic drugs and the International Olympic Committee (IOC) disqualified DeMont from the 1,500-meter freestyle finals and revoked his gold medal in the 400-meter freestyle.

Clifford Buck of Denver, president of the United States Olympic Committee said neither DeMont, 16, nor his parents knew the medicine contained ephedrine. The medicine was prescribed by his family doctor.

"I want to state positively that DeMont has done nothing wrong and that he took the medicine solely to ease the asthmatic symptioms, as he has done for years," Buck said. "He is a fine young man and a courageous athlete who competes in spite of his ailment.

"The connotation of the word 'dope' in connection with this outstanding competitor is unthinkable and totally unwarranted," Buck said. "We look forward to the possibility of having him on the United States of America team again in 1976."

A's Increase Lead In Topping Rangers

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics upped their margin as American League Western Division leaders to 3½ games over Chicago Sunday with a 7-2 win over the Texas Rangers.

Sal Bando drove in two runs with a single and Mike Epstein, Matty Alou and Joe Rudi knocked in one apiece in a six-run eighth inning for the A's.

Texas starter Rich Hand has given up no hits until the sixth when pinch-hitter Gonzalo Marquez singled. Allen Lewis came in to run for Marquez and stole second. He went to third on a groundout and came home on a single by Bert Campaneris.

The game was still a tight pitching duel going into the eighth between Hand and Oakland reliever Roland Fingers, who took over for starter Ken Holzman in the sixth.

Fingers, now 9-6, picked up the win. Jim Panther, who relieved Hand in the eighth, took the defeat to make his record 5-9.

The Rangers took a 2-1 lead off Fingers in the seventh on Joe Lovitto's single, a stolen base and Larry Bittner's single before the A's erupted in the eighth.

Oakland is at Minnesota tonight for a doubleheader. Vida Blue, 5-8, pitches for Oakland in the first game and Joe Horlen, 2-4, goes in the second.

Iron Curtain Arrives In International Tennis Play

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) —The Iron Curtain has arrived in international tennis — emphatically.

The victory of Ilie Nastase of Romania, 3-6, 6-3, 6-7, 6-4, 6-3 over Arthur Ashe in U.S. Open tennis championships Sunday, coupled with his loss to Stan Smith in five sets at Wimbledon, establishes Ilie as a top world player, and Ilie just could carry his country to the Davis Cup over the United States in Bucharest, Oct. 13-15.

Nastase waged a clever war with Ashe, who, had he not been troubled by first service difficulties throughout the two and a half hour match, might have won his second Open crown. Ashe had played back at times to his winning form of 1968, but Ilie, only the third European to win here in 36 years, never lost his concentration, even when the record throng of 14,696 hooted at him for his court manners.

Ashe had opened forcefully, but his game in the second set and through the early stages of the third gave the impression that Nastase was in control. But when they reached the tie break, Ashe sprang to life and raced through to lead 2-1 in sets when he took the tiebreak, five points to one.

Yet Nastase was not to be denied. He took the fourth set after beginning badly, losing his service to Ashe in the third game when he opened with a double fault, then missed two volleys and a cross court forehand. But he came back o square the set in the eighth game, racing to love-40 before Ashe fought back to deuce, before bowing out on a wide forehand and a fine passing shot by the Romanian. Ilie held serve easily, then broke through for the set, Ashe getting only one point.

In the final set, Nastase and Ashe exchanged service breaks in the first two games, but Nastase got what he needed in the sixth game when Ashe missed a cross court forehand for 30-40 and then was long on a backhand. Ilie then served out the match, although Arthur managed to get to deuce in the final game.

Arthur declined to comment much on Nastase's court behavior, although admitting "his manners could be better."

Nastase thought his loss at Wimbledon in the final to Smith was "a tougher match" because he had been more nervous there. Smith, the defender here, had been put out by Ashe in the quarter finals.

The Romanian protested his innocence of bad manners. "I didn't hit the ball at the linesman or throw my towel at him," he said.

Petty Survives A Spectacular Crash

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

RICHMOND, Va. — Plymouth driver Richard Petty survived a spectacular three-car crash Sunday to win the Capital City 500 Stock Car Race here.

The accident involved Petty of Randleman, N.C., Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., and Buddy Baker. It happened on the 392nd lap as Petty was forced from the lead by the hard driving Allison.

Petty's car was knocked into a retaining fence but the veteran was able to continue and take the lead. Allison also continued and finished second. Baker was forced out of the race.

MONZA, Italy — For one hour 29 minutes and 58.4 seconds, a diminutive Brazilian known to his friends as "The Little Rat" pushed a patched automobile to the limits of endurance.

Finally, Emerson Fittipaldi of Sao Paolo, Brazil emerged winner of the Italian Grand Prix at Monza's grueling I-shaped course on Sunday and assured himself of the driver's world championship for Formula One racers.

Football

DALLAS — In about 10 days, injured Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach can begin to start throwing footballs again, his doctors announced Sunday. But only in practice. It will still be weeks before Staubach is strong enough to play in a football game.

Golf

DALLAS — Jane Blalock and pressure have become old friends since her suspension by the Ladies Professional Golf Association back in May.

"Pressure is something I've learned to live with," said the controversial Miss Blalock after Sunday's sudden-death playoff victory over Kathy Whitworth in the $33,000 Dallas Civitan Golf Tournament.

Miss Blalock sank a birdie putt on the first hole of the playoff to win, after she and Miss Whitworth finished the regulation 54-hole tournament in a tie, at 211.

Bears' Running Back Sayers Retires After Comeback Fails

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

One of the most illustrious names in the history of the game will be among the missing next Sunday when the National Football League's 1,040 players start playing for real.

The tedious seven weeks of exhibition games ended Sunday with five games and the 26 coaches will slice their rosters from 44 to 40 players Monday for the start of the 1972 regular season next Sunday.

But the results Sunday were overshadowed by the announcement that Gale Sayers, labeled by George Halas—who has seen them all—as the greatest running back in the history of the game, has retired.

Sayers made his first appearance in an exhibition game this season Saturday night and fumbled twice while carrying only three times in the Chicago Bears' 33-14 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals. Both fumbles were turned into Cardinal touchdowns.

Sayers, who'd played only two games in each of the last two seasons while trying to come back from his second knee injury, decided after the sorry showing to call it a career at age 29.

"The leg felt fine, but just hitting the Astroturf and getting on the leg made it very sore and I felt I'd better give it up," Sayers said."I hate to leave football, but I know I'm finished and I know I cannot go on this year." said.

GALE SAYERS
Gridder retires

Besides being one of the most brilliant runners in the history of the game, Sayers' fame transcended the pro football world when his close friendship with Brian Piccolo, who died of cancer three years ago, became the subject of a moving Emmy award winning TV show, "Brian's Song."

Sayers' retirement spotlights a problem that worries pro football officials—severe injuries. Players of Sayers' caliber create a void in the game when their careers are cut short by unfortunate injuries.

In the final five practice games Sunday, Miami surprised Minnesota 21-19 in a nationally televised game, Baltimore topped Denver 20-13, New England upset Detroit 34-30, the New York Giants edged Cleveland 28-21 and Houston tied New Orleans 14-14.

Exhibition records are misleading but Dallas (6-1) ended up with the best record and three other teams—Washington, San Diego and Pittsburgh—ended with identical 4-1-1 marks.

The disappointing team of the exhibition season had to be Minnesota, which wound up at 3-2 even thegh the Vikings are generally considered to be the team to beat this year. Eugene (Mercury) Morris, playing in place of ailing Jim Kiick, ran for two touchdowns—including one in the final minute—to lead Miami past the Vikings.

Jim Plunkett fired three touchdown passes to lead New England to the surprising victory over Detroit.

Johnny Unitas, ready for another year at age 39, directed Baltimore to a 20-point first half as the Colts downed Denver. Denver, which scored 76 points in its last two games, was held to one touchdown on an 89-yard punt return by Floyd Little.

Running back Charlie Evans ran for four touchdowns to give the Giants the victory over Cleveland.

In the other five games Saturday besides the St. Louis victory over Chicago, Dallas topped Oakland 16-10, Green Bay blanked Kansas City 20-0, Pittsburgh tied Washington 10-10, the New York Jets tied San Diego 20-20 and Atlanta routed Cincinnati 44-14.

haven't hit a good shot since I changed my grips last week.

"The four of us played absolutely awful. Some folks are either going to have to give up golf after watching us on national television or want to go to qualifying school to come out and beat us on the tour." Canadian Open winner Gay Brewer finished last with a 145.

But Player, on the first leg of his 20,000-mile, six-day journey home, said he wasn't worried about the PGA tour until next year when he would return to the continental United States.

Kimball, Curtis Are Grid Players Of Week

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Craig Kimball of San Jose State and Isaac Curtis of San Diego State are the top players named for this week in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association.

As his Spartans beat Santa Clara by 33-28, Kimball completed 15-of-30 passes for 274 yards and three touchdowns.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Hot Red Sox Victorious

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Just ask a manager which club is going to win the complicated American League East and he'll explain it by saying it's as simple as hot and cold.

The one that gets hot will win the championship, that is.

Eastern Division leading Boston could certainly be called hot as the Red Sox swept a doubleheader from Cleveland Sunday, 5-1 in 12 innings and 2-0, to up their winning skein to five games. The twin-killing gave the Red Sox a 1-1-2 game lead over second-place Baltimore.

Luis Aparicio homered in the ninth inning of the second game to support John Curtis's five-hit pitching in Boston's second game win after rookie Carlton Fisk's 20th homer of the season triggered a four-run 12th inning in the Red Sox's opening game triumph.

"Anytime you're on top, you've got to like people chasing you but the team that is going to win it is the one that gets hot."

New York's Ralph Houk and Baltimore's Earl Weaver must have been operating on the same wave-length because both said, "The club that wins it is the one that gets hot."

In other American League games, Oakland defeated Texas, 7-2, New York downed Detroit, 5-0, Kansas City beat Minnesota, 3-1, Baltimore shaded Milwaukee 2-0, and California topped Chicago, 5-1.

Mel Stottlemyre, the only Yankee left from the 1964 league champions pitched a three-hit shutout and Horace Clarke and Bobby Murcer each drove in two runs as New York beat Detroit.

Jim Palmer edged closer to the 20-victory mark with a seven-hitter as he upped his season record to 19-8. Terry Crowley provided the batting support as he singled in a sixth inning run as Baltimore blanked Milwaukee.

Two-run homers by Bob Oliver and Leroy Stanton and rookie Bill Parker's first major league homer keyed California's victory over Chicago.

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Lightface type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Brodie Starting Quarterback

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— John Brodie still is the starting quarterback for the San Francisco Forty Niners but Coach Dick Nolan says he knows now he has two men "who can do the job."

The other is Steve Spurrier, who threw two touchdown passes in San Francisco's 17-14 victory Friday over the Los Angeles Rams.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Torrez Belated Success

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Montreal Expos are still in the building stage but Mike Torrez has finally come of age.

Torrez handcuffed the National League East's division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates on eight hits Sunday as the Expos exploded for six runs in the third inning to defeat the Pirates, 8-2.

The triumph was Torrez's 16th in 25 decisions.

The veteran righthander did not figure prominently in the Expos' plans this season and originally was not even supposed to make the club in spring training.

"They told me I would probably be sent down to the minors," Torrez said. "I'm very pleased with my season thus far and I'm going to give it a shot for 20 victories. I wanted to prove to the Expos that I could still pitch in the majors and I wanted to show them that I was mature enough to do the job."

In other National League games Chicago downed Philadelphia 5-3, New York edged St. Louis 3-2, Cincinnati and San Krancisco split a twinbill, the Reds winning the opener 8-7 and the Giants taking the nightcap 8-2, Los Angeles nipped Houston 3-2, and Atlanta and San Diego divided a pair, the Padres taking the first game 1-0 and the Braves winning the nightcap 4-1.

Fred Gladding made a wild throw after fielding Steve Garvey's bunt single to enable the deciding run to score as the Dodgers erupted for three runs in the eighth inning to down Houston.

Phil Niekro pitched the Braves to their second game win over the Padres after Leron Lee's seventh inning home run and Mike Corkins' first big league shutout won the opener for San Diego.

Relief pitching by Brent Strom and Bob Rauch and a sparkling defensive gem by Cleon Jones provided Tom Seaver with his 17th victory of the year as the Mets defeated the Cardinals.

Southern Open Golf Win Is Weaver's 'Big Thrill'

That was Dewitt Weaver's first reaction Sunday after defeating Chuck Courtney on the first hole of a sudden death playoff to win the Southern Open golf tournament.

Weaver, who lost three strokes on the final two holes of regulation play Sunday at the Green Island Country Club course, won the playoff with a par and collected first prize money of $20,000. "This one means more to me because I've now won both type tournaments," said Weaver, who plays at St. Simons Island, Ga.

"A lot of people had criticized my victory in the Match Play tournament, but I finally decided I had won it and nothing else mattered. I don't think I have anything left to prove any more."

What Weaver proved in the Southern Open was that he can overcome adversity. Despite the fact he played the entire tournament with an infected left ear that he said bothered his balance, he was never out of the lead.

However, things did get sticky Sunday when he bogeyed No. 17 and then took a double bogey on 18 after hitting his first tee shot out of bounds and almost doing the same with his second.

On the sudden death hole, Weaver said he tried to let his imagination hit his first two shots.

"I took a two-iron on the tee and imagined I was going to hit on the top of the hill," he said, "And I did.

MORE THAN TRANSPORTATION

The latest word in the Dodge compact line for 1973 is the Dart Sport. Equipped with fold down rear seat package, it does tasks of an economy station wagon. With sunroof option, it offers fresh-air convertible feeling, and the catchy "up and over" paint stripe and vinyl roof option conveys a young image. Marin dealers are Marin Dodge in San Rafael and Nave Dodge in Novato.

Interest Lags In Trading

Declines led advances, 679 to 395, among the 1,471 issues crossing the tape. Two-hour turnover amounted to more than 3,860,000 shares.

Many investors have remained on the sidelines for more than two weeks. Analysts said they are concerned about rising interest rates, among other things.

Also, since the massacre of Israeli athletes at Munich, many have shown concern the Middle East situation may flare up into a major confrontation, analysts said.

Shell Oil was the most active issue, up 1-4 at 49 5-8 on 78,800 shares.

Prices were lower in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange. National General new warrants were the most active issue, off 7-8 at 5 7-8 on 21,000 traded.

Glamors, electronics and computers generally took a pounding. Xerox managed to gain 1 1-4. But Walt Disney lost 4, Corning Glass 2, and Schlumberger, Upjohn and Winnebago around a point each.

Texas Instruments dropped 3, IBM 2 1-4, Fairchild Camera 1 5-8 and Honeywell 1 3-8.

Airlines were lower. Eastern Airlines and Delta lost a point apiece.

Steels, motors, chemicals, oils, rails and aircraft were mixed in fractions.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Stocks Speculative, Hold On To Them

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In January, 1970, I bought 154 shares of International Industries at 35½ per share. Shortly before that I had purchased 55 shares of Itel at 32¼. The $7,330 spent was our life savings and was our first experience with stocks. How can we salvage something from these stocks? — K.A.

A. International Industries (NYSE), in an effort to resolve its financial problems, has sold several operations, restructured its debt and is in the process of merging with the Master Hosts subsidiary. Deficits have been reported in each of the last seven quarters. Additional nonrecurring expenses are possible as a result of recent divestitures. Revenues from continuing operations could reach $85 million for the year ended August, up from $60 million in fiscal 1971.

Itel is an equally speculative situation. Earnings were off sharply last year, and for the first half of this year Itel reported a loss of $0.39 per share. In April the company's interest in Diablo System was sold to Xerox for 121,000 Xerox shares. Some 57 per cent of the common is held by a subsidiary of American Express and Fireman's Fund Insurance.

Although neither issue is suited to your needs, the harm is done now. With only a $1,350 current value remaining of your original $7,330 investment, shares should be held for eventual partial recovery.

Fotomat Has Good Quarterly Sales

LA JOLLA (BW) — Fotomat Corp. has reported that retail sales from all stores for the three months ended July 31 reached $17,381,000 compared with $14,178,000 in the like period in 1971.

Earnings per share, after extraordinary items of 36 cents per share, reached 47 cents compared with a loss of 1 cent per share for the like period in 1971.

Sears Auto Center Set For Opening

Sears' new Automotive Center at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will open Wednesday several weeks ahead of the main Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail store.

The Automotive Center alone occupies more than 30,000 squre feet for its 18-car capacity service area, parts and accessory departments, and basement stock room. In addition, it has a gasoline island with four double pumps, manned by young women attendants.

Charles C. Mace of Novato, manager of the automotive center, said it can perform services ranging from repairing windshield wipers to installing air conditioners, engines and transmissions. In addition to sale of tires, batteries, oil and automotive accessories, Sears is now equipped to do tune-up work and all automotive services except body and fender work.

Mace said the center provides other services such as brake work, custom seat cover and trim installation, muffler and tail pipe installation, radiator overhaul and repair as well as tire changing, repair, front end overhaul, wheel alignment and balancing.

Sears also sells parts over the counter for "repair it yourself" fans, or installs the parts at the center. Hours are 8 to 5:30 Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday and 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Catania Sound Inc. To Move To Northgate Shopping Center

Catania Sound Inc., the San Rafael stereo and hi-fi shop which has been in business for 24 years, will move into Northgate Mall by early fall, possibly October.

It will move from downtown San Rafael at 857 Fourth Street to 4400 Northgate Mall, the present location of McKenzie's children's shop. (McKenzie's is moving next door to 4000 Northgate Mall, vacated by Chandler's Fabrics, which in turn has brand new quarters near the new Sears complex.)

Charles J. Catania said his new shop will continue to provide the same services — specializing in stereo and hi-fi components for the home. Catania also sells tape recorders, portable radios, records, loudspeakers, custom furniture for stereo systems, and all audio accessories that go with sound and home music systems.

Catania Sound opened for business in 1948 in Kentfield, where it operated for three years before moving to San Rafael 21 years ago.

E. F. O'SULLIVAN of Greenbrae has been named director of marketing and sales for Leadership Homes of Northern California, a Lafayette-based development company.

O'Sullivan has been in Bay Area real estate for more than 12 years. Before joining Leadership Homes, he held management positions with Boise Cascade and Perma-Bilt Enterprises.

G. WESLEY PHILLIPS has been named director of marketing for the Northern California division of The McCarthy Company. The Northern California division headquarters is at 4340 Redwood Highway, Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael.

Phillips was marketing director for a major Southern California home builder before taking the San Rafael post. He has been involved in housing sales and marketing for more than 12 years.

RUSSEL D. JONES, an attorney who was associated with Buresh, Vallarino, Costamagna and Claxon for more than three years, has opened his own law office at the Holiday Plaza, 1050 Northgate Drive, San Rafael.

Jones specializes in corporation law and estate planning. He was deputy Commissioner of Corporations in San Francisco before joining the Buresh firm.

A MOTORCYCLE Shop for both repair and restoration of antique motorcycles has just opened at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio, 38-B Hamilton Drive.

Proprietor is Kris Stenz of Corte Madera, who has 10 years of automotive experience and has been tinkering with motorcycles for the past four years. Stenz said he made several trips to the mid-West to pick up truckloads of antique motorcycles and parts.

"I'm mainly interested in Harley Davidsons," said Stenz. "My business will be repair, antique restoration and custom construction of motorcycles." He will sell both new and used parts. He has not yet decided on the name of his new firm.

William Hoey Company of San Rafael arranged for the lease of space for the motorcycle shop. Hoey Company also negotiated four other leases at Hamilton Industrial Park and one in East San Rafael as follows:

ROCK ISLAND Foods, formerly located at 1915-A Bridgeway in Sausalito, leased warehouse space at 38-C Hamilton Drive. The company is a wholesale supplier of foods to health food stores in Marin. Owners are Henry Abramson of Mill Valley and Nancy Coner of Berkeley.

GERARD A. HENDRIKS San Rafael accountant, leased warehouse space at 56-H Hamilton Drive for storage of lumber for home building.

FRITZ WANNAMAKER of Ross leased a thousand square feet at 50 Lisbon Street in San Rafael for woodworking and sculpturing operations.

DR. DEL HERRICK, president of Farrar, Herrick & Associates, a real estate development company, will speak to the Redwood Dental Society at Los Robles Hotel in Santa Rosa this evening.

Dr. Herrick's firm has offices in San Rafael, San Bernardino, and Redondo Beach. Himself a dentist, Dr. Herrick will speak on the topic, "Who Says You Can't Keep a Good Man Down?"

TEACHERS MANAGEMENT and Investments (TMI) Corportation of Southern California, which has a branch on Mission Avenue in San Rafael, will build a convention center, Hilton Hotel and a specialty village shopping center at Lighthouse Point in Santa Cruz.

Charles Jones Jr., manager of the San Rafael office of TMI, said his firm and the Lighthouse Point Ltd., composed of some 1,500 California educators, bought the 30 acres on which the $25 million project will be built. The City of Santa Cruz bought an adjoining 10 acres on which the public sector of the project will build a convention center auditorium-theater complex.

SAN QUENTIN Seminar — Kirk G. Aguer, account executive for Dean Witter & Co., conducted a seminar on investments and money management in San Quentin Prison's north dining hall last Saturday, September 9, morning. The seminar covered such topics as why, when and where to invest; kinds of investments; and comparison of income, blue chip and speculative stock. Inmates had a chance to ask questions during a question and answer period.

AT LONG LAST — The Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART), opened today with service between Oakland and Fremont, 10 years and $1.4 billion after Bay Area voters approved its construction. The first completely new mass transit system in the U.S. in 65 years, BART will eventually connect San Francisco with the East Bay.

Demos Level Spy Charges At Stans

Formal Document Says Nixon's Money Involved

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Democratic Party accused Maurice Stans today of helping hire a "political espionage squad" to spy on Democratic officials and candidates, and financing the operation with funds intended for President Nixon's re-election campaign.

The Democrats named Stans in a formal legal document along with three other men formerly connected either with the President's campaign or with the White House.

The complaint alleged that they "embarked upon a conspiracy" last spring to purloin political secrets from the Democrats "by any available means, including theft and photographing of documents, and installation and monitoring of wiretapping and eavesdropping devices."

Named with Stans, chairman of the Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President, were former campaign aides Hugh W. Sloan Jr., G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt Jr.

The allegations were contained in an amended complaint, submitted by Democratic party lawyers in U.S. District Court here, to a civil suit filed last June against five men arrested in the break-in at the Watergate offices of the Democratic National Committee.

The amended complaint added the four men and the Committee for the Re-Election of the President as codefendants and upped the demands for damages from $1 million to $3.2 million.

The latest allegations, according to sources close to the Democrats, were based on information gleaned from a self-described participant in the alleged wiretap operation. He was not identified.

The Democrats charged that Stans, former commerce secretary, and the others conspired, among other things, to destroy financial records showing that $114,000 in Nixon campaign funds were diverted to a special account to pay the "espionage squad."

Sloan was treasurer of Stans' committee at the time of the Watergate incident, but left his post last July. Liddy was counsel to the committee but was fired in June after he refused to talk to the FBI about the Watergate Caper.

Hunt was a $100-a-day White House consultant at the time but he no longer holds that job either.

The Democrats alleged that the June 17 break-in was conducted to repair and replace faulty eavesdropping equipment installed earlier. They also alleged that the squad tried to break into the offices of Sen.George S. McGovern in May.

American Veto In U.N. Draws Arab Hostility

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Arab world reacted angrily today to the United States veto of a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning Israel for its punitive air raids against Lebanon and Syria. Syria threatened "hard strikes" at the interests of countries it said were supporting Israel.

Relations between Egypt and West Germany also took a sharp turn for the worse and Egypt rejected today as "unconvincing and insuffient" the West German explanation of statements made following the Munich Olympics slayings last week. Egypt also was angry because the Arabs were referred to as "terrorists," whereas they are regarded in the Arab world as heroes.

The sequence of events began last Tuesday morning in the Israeli section of the Olympic Village in Munich when Arab guerrillas killed two Israelis and kidnaped nine other who subsequently were murdered. Altogether five guerrillas, 11 Israelis and a West German policeman died.

A police spokesman in Munich reported that police arrested a Syrian Arab at Munich airport Sunday on suspicion he might have been connected with the guerrilla attack. Police said they had nothing definite against him, that it was a precautionary arrest and that the man was being questioned. Three other Arabs were arrested at the time of the shoot-out.

The first anti-American statement stemming from the events came today in Cairo where the 18-nation Arab League expressed its "dismay" over the Security Council failure to condemn the Israeli air attacks. The United States vetoed the

BART Trains Run At Long Last

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The sleek new Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) today began limited operations of the first completely new mass transit system built in the United States in 65 years.

"The whole world is watching the billion and a half dollar bet we're making out here in Golden Gate country," said San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto. "We're going to win that bet. We're going to have the most beautiful and efficient transit system in the world. We're going to show that we can develop balanced transportation in the fourth largest population mass in the country."

"That train has been a long time coming down that track, but it's finally here," said Ogawa, standing in for Mayor John Reading who was out of town.

Turnstiles opened at noon for the first paying customers, who inserted fares ranging from 30 cents to $1 into automatic ticket dispensing machines.

The first trains rolled one decade and $1.4 billion after voters in three San Francisco Bay Area counties approved construction of the first completely new mass transit system in the nation since 1907.

With its luxurious, high-speed cars and a schedule promising to carry passengers into San Francisco more rapidly than they can drive from outlying suburbs, BART is viewed by mass transit experts as a crucial test of whether commuters can be lured out of their cars.

The key section—a 3.6-mile transbay tube between San Francisco and Oakland and the downtown San Francisco subway—won't begin operation until midsummerof next year. By 1975-76, BART expects to carry 62 million passengers a year over 75 miles of subway, elevated and ground level track.

"We think it will be what we promised the public, although it is bound to improve as we get additional equipment," said B. R. Stones, BART's general manager.

"Right now we're in the crazy position of hoping not too many people show up to ride our trains because we don't have enough cars to handle big excursion crowds," said Stokes. "The thing we do not want is hordes and hordes of people."

During the first two months of service, eight trains of two to three cars each will operate only on weekdays between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. BART, which is the first completely automated rail system ever built, was financed almost entirely by local taxpayers in San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties who approved the system in a 1962 election and by auto tolls from the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. A special sales tax was added in the three counties in 1969 after cost of the system jumped well above the original $1 billion estimate.

Bank Snooping Ruled Violation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal court ruled Monday that a new law allowing the government to check the banking records of individuals violates the right to privacy and is unconstitutional.

The U.S. district court said the Bank Secrecy Act, which was passed in 1970 and went into effect this year, insofar as it gives the government a blanket power to examine records of individuals "is such an invasion of a citizen's right to privacy as amounts to an unreasonable search within the meaning of the Fourth Amendment."

The provisions of the law requiring banks to maintain microfilmed records of all transactions and report to the government on large international money transactions were upheld.

But, the court said, the law, is unconstitutional insofar as it authorizes the government "to require virtually unlimited reporting from banks and their customers of domestic financial transactions as a surveillance device for the alleged purpose of discovering possible, but unspecified, wrongdoing among the citizenry."

The court said the relationship between the requirements of this law and the likelihood of uncovering wrongdoing was "far-fetched."

A three-judge panel which ruled on a challenge to the law noted that the Act makes no provision for any judicial or administrative requirement for the Secretary of the Treasury before he orders an individual's bank records disclosed.

The court also noted that when the government gets the records of an individual's bank account these might contain "details of his personal financial affairs" such as to whom he is paying money, and other information appearing on checks.

The judges said this is the kind of information that must be obtained from the individual himself through legal means.

The challenge to the Bank Secrecy Act was made by California banker Fortney Stark and the American Civil Liberties Union and was backed by the American Bankers Association.

The government contended that the individual depositor had "no inherent interest" in bank records.

House Speaker Albert's Accident Comes To Light

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Speaker Carl Albert said today he "had a small accident" in traffic Saturday night, but damage was minor and "we settled it" at the scene.

The Washington Post published a story this morning saying that Albert was driving when his auto hit another car and a small truck in northwest Washington Saturday evening. There was no injury, damage was minor, and police did not file a report, the Post said.

The newspaper said a policeman drove Albert home after the accident, and that Albert earlier had tried to shove two other policemen at the scene, saying, "Leave me alone. I am Carl Albert, Speaker of the House...you cannot touch me."

Albert was asked whether that report of the incident was accurate.

"It's hard to say that a report is correct," he said. "I had a small accident. I was not drunk. I did not know I had hit the man (the other car) until I went around the corner and a boy told me I had. A boy came up and we had a friendly chat and we settled it —that's it."

Asked if he had had anything to drink, Albert said:

"I had been in New York all day. They were passing out drinks all day and I didn't have any. When it was all over, I took something. I don't know what it was."

He declined to say what the ettlement of the accident amounted to, but "there was less than $100 damage —let's put it that way."

Police were quoted as saying the accident occurred outside a night club in the northwest section of the city at about 11:30

13 Dead In Two Bus Accidents

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Two bus accidents only 30 minutes apart on the same highway leading to Mexico City killed 13 persons and injured 60, police said Monday.

The accidents happened on the northbound highway at 6:30 and at 7 p.m. Sunday. The first mishap occurred when a bus overturned, killing four passengers.

Half an hour later, another bus hit a protective guard rail and overturned, killing nine passengers.

G.M. Recalling 1972 Cadillacs

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. Monday announced recall of 37,000 Cadillacs produced at the end of the 1972 model year to find 5,000 defective left rear axle shafts.

The Cadillac Motor Division of GM said that the shafts may be a fraction of an inch too long and "could result in unusual pressure on the wheel bearing singled by loud noise.

"If this is ignored and the driver continues to operate the car without having it serviced," Cadillac said, "the bearing will fail and could cause a loss of rear wheel brakes."

Cadillac said that should the rear brakes fail "front brakes still are entirely operable, and by using caution, the car can be brought to a safe stop."

Slight Earthquake Hits Southern Cal

RIVERSIDE (UPI)—A slight earthquake rumbled through two southern California counties early today but there were no injuries or damage reports.

Scientists at the Cal Tech seismological laboratory said the tremor occurred at 2:40 a.m. and measured 3.8 on the Richter scale. They said it apparently was along the San Jacinto fault line which is a branch of the San Andreas fault.

Frontrunners May Lose Out In Fight For McInnis' Seat

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Competition among the three front-runners to succeed Marin County Supervisor John F. McInnis is so intense that a fourth person may be appointed by the governor, Republican sources said today.

The front-runners since McInnis's death two weeks ago are Jack G. Nixon, Robert A. Roumiguiere and Beth Rowen.

But since none of the three has been able to outdo his rivals in broadening his support, "other names may be looked at," the sources said.

The other names cited as likely to be added to the competition were Richard P. Nave and Joseph J. Garbarino.

Others considered possible candidates are San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen, former Marin County Grand Jury chairman Clifford S. Lund, Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission Chairman Albert J. Boro, John A. Busterud, head of environmental planning for the Pentagon, and Dr. Charles W. Aby, former San Rafael city councilman.

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini has decided not to seek the appointment.

Of the three front-runners, only Nixon, an insurance broker, has served in an elective position. He was a director of the Marinwood Community Services District from 1968 to 1970. He is chairman of the county planning commission.

Roumiguiere is a real estate broker. Mrs. Rowen is a former vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee. Garbarino, a partner in a garbage company, is chairman of the San Rafael Planning Commission. Nave is president of the Marin Property Owners Association.

No appointment is expected until at least late next week.

Mines May Have Crippled U.S. Ship

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon has revealed that a U.S. Navy destroyer may have been the first victim of the American mine blockade placed around North Vietnam in early May.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said Friday the destroyer Warrington was racked by two underwater explosions while operating in the Tonkin Gulf July 17. The ship was damaged so badly it may have to be scrapped rather than repaired, Friedheim said.

Blast In Manila

The incidents were the latest in a series of bombing attacks in the Greater Manila area that Philippine military authorities blamed on Communist urban guerrillas of the Maoist New Peoples Army.

Down Drifts

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical Storm Dawn, returning to the area of its birth almost a week ago, drifted about 475 miles off the Florida coast today as only a windy rainstorm.

The National Hurricane Center said Dawn, with peak winds of 40 miles per hour in squalls, may turn toward the coast tonight but will "not pose a threat to any land area for the next 36 hours."

Korea Talks Set

SEOUL (UPI) — The first official North Korean delegation to enter South Korea since World War II will arrive in Seoul tomorrow for a second round of Red Cross talks on reuniting "lost" families in divided Korea, South Korean officials said today.

Red Cross delegations of the two sides will meet Wednesday for the first and only official meeting between the two sides during the northerners' four-day stay in South Korea. The return visit reciprocates a similar meeting held Aug. 30.

Racial Violence

GAINESVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Several fires broke out in businesses in the black district last night and police arrested about 20 persons for violating a curfew imposed during a weekend of racial violence.

A police spokesman said early today that "everything is just as quiet as can be now." He said the flurry of fires, along with isolated incidents of rock throwing, ended about 12:30 a.m.

He said the largest fire was in a storage building.

The incidents followed a day of relative calm when black leaders met with city officials in this northeast Georgia city of 15,500 and demanded more participation in local government.

Star Injured

The singer-dancer was rushed to Barton Memorial Hospital where X-rays showed she also sustained five fractures of the face and a broken left arm, according to Paul Block, a spokesman for her public relations firm.

Block said the audience was aware something had happened even though it was unable to see the accident.

Jets Are Out

BERN, Switzerland (UPI) — The Swiss government today settled a two-year controversy over a new jet fighter for its air force by deciding to buy none at all.

Five countries entered the bidding when Switzerland went shopping for a new plane in 1970 — the United States, France, Britain, Italy and Sweden.

By early this year the choice had narrowed to the American Corsair and the French Milan.

The Corsair was given the Defense Ministry's approval which angered the French, who accused Switzerland of being "anti-European."

Today the Federal Council announced that "Switzerland has renounced for the time being the purchase of a new aircraft."

$2 Million Dredge Destroyed By Fire

Yemeni Suspected

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Yemeni diplomat living in Switzerland is the top suspect behind the Munich massacre of 11 Israeli athletes, according to Newsweek magazine.

The magazine identified the diplomat as Daoud Barakat, chief of the Black September organization in Western Europe. He lives in Switzerland and represents Yemen before the United Nationa and other international organizations in Geneva.

"Barakat has helped plan some of Black September's most spectucalr capers and is the prime suspect as a mastermind behind the Munich massacre," the magazine reported yesterday.

Scarf Fatalities

CHICAGO (UPI) — A study in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association showed that nearly half of the persons involved in accidents involving the wearing of scarfs died.

Reporting on the "long scarf" or "Isadora Duncan syndrome," JAMA said in the study of 11 cases the death rate was 45 per cent.

The journal said all accidents occurred in the winter when the scarfs became entangled in moving machinery. Nine of the victims were females between the ages of 10 and 30.

Goldwater Sees McGovern Loss

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., predicts that George McGovern will suffer the same fate he did as the 1964 presidential candidate.

"I got the hell beat out of me. He's going to get the hell beat out of him," Goldwater said Saturday night on a tour of the South to boost Republican candidates for the Senate and House.

America Uses Veto, Kills U.N. Measure

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States cast its second veto in U.N. history Sunday, killing a resolution calling for an end to hostilities in the Middle East because it ignored the massacre of Israeli athletes in Munich.

The United States vetoed the measure, a simple Somali resolution that called only for a cessation of military operations in the Middle East, because the Security Council refused to link recent retaliatory Israeli attacks on Syria and Lebanon with last week's slaying of 11 Israelis in Munich at the hands of Palestinian guerrillas.

Although the resolution had the necessary majority of votes for passage, the U.S. veto killed it. The vote was 13 in favor with the United States—one of the veto-holding powers on the council—voting against and Panama abstaining.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush earlier in the day had tried and failed at getting a U.S.-sponsored resolution to a vote. The resolution would have condemned the "senseless and completely unprovoked" attack by the Black September Arab guerrilla group on the Israeli team members.

Before the vote on the Somali resolution, the council—meeting in an emergency session called by Syria and Lebanon to condemn Israeli attacks into those countries—rejected a series of Western amendments that would have broadened the Somali measure to deplore all acts of terrorism.

The Soviet Union and China also cast two vetoes, blocking the acceptance of one of the Western amendments that was otherwise ratified by nine votes —the required majority for passage. It was China's second U.N. veto and the 109th for the Soviets.

The only other time the United States cast a veto was in March, 1970, when it helped Britain block an African attempt to extend the scope of the sanctions imposed on the white minority Rhodesian regime.

Bush said after Sunday's Security Council vote:

"Is it not a double standard to suggest that states must control their own forces, a point which we readily grant, but that these states need not control irregular forces in their territory—forces of murder, forces of terror?

"We have been walking a very dangerous path by our silence on terrorism. We invite more terrorism by our silence in the disaster in Munich. Are we indeed inviting more Munichs?"

In his speech before the council, Bush said: "Vunich was so horrible, so vicious, so brutal, so detrimental to order in the world and to peace in the Middle East that we simply must not act here as if it did not exist."

Mexico Seeking Exportation Law

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Finance Ministry is seeking a law to force non-Mexican companies to export a percentage of the products they produce in Mexico, a ministry spokesman said today.

The law could hit U.S. companies heavily, depending on the percentages of exports demanded.

American auto companies, for example, would be required to export either completed cars or parts manufactured in Mexico. Ford, Chrysler and General Motors all have factories in Mexico.

Finance Minister Hugo Margain Friday hinted at the measure during a speech to congress. He said more than 100 foreign companies were exploiting the Mexican market, while their own home offices forbid them to export products.

Forum To Discuss Coast Guard Plans

Cmdr. Irvin Lindemuth and Lt. Cmdr. Stephen Leane of the 12th Coast Guard District will tell of plans for Coast Guard housing at Point Reyes Station at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at West Marin School.

The forum, sponsored by the Marin County Chamber of Commerce, was scheduled to clear up any confusion about the plans which are to build ten townhouses for 36 families and bachelor quarters for 42 men.

MEYER LANSKY

Citizenship Application Turned Down

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israel's supreme court rejected today the citizenship application of reputed Mafia chieftain Meyer Lansky, in effect upholding the government's claim that he would constitute a "threat to the public safety."

Lansky, 72, came to Israel in 1970 and stayed for one year on a tourist visa before applying for citizenship under the law of return, which forbids rejecting the immigration request of any Jew unless he is adjudged such a threat.

The state had said that if the court ruled against Lansky, it would grant him free passage to anywhere he wants to go instead of sending him back to the United States, where he is under indictment on charges of illegal gambling and tax evasion.

"On the basis of the cumulative weight of the evidence ... the respondent (the government) was entitled to conclude that the appellant has a criminal record, closely tied in with organized crime," the court said.

"(the respondent) further was entitled to reason that because of this past ... there is a reasonable fear that if he were allowed to stay in the country he would consitute a danger to public safety."

Israeli Official Shot In Belgium

BRUSSELS (UPI)—A man believed to be an Arab shot and seriously wounded an Israeli Embassy official in an ambush Sunday night, police reported today.

The official was identified as Ophir Zadok, 42, a member of the Israeli Embassy staff. Police said he was lured to a downtown cafe by a man who claimed he had information on a planned terrorist attack on the embassy. As soon as they entered the cafe the other man pulled a gun and fired four or five times, police said.

Zadok was seriously injured. Police said his life was not in danger but that he was too badly hurt to be questioned.

In Tel Aviv, a Foreign Ministry communique said the assailant identified himself as a Moroccan in a telephone call and lured Zadok to the Princess Cafe with word he had information on an impending sabotage attack against an "Israeli object."

The communique said when Ophir reached the rendezvous the assailant drew a pistol and fired four shots at the Israeli.

The Israeli communique said the identity of the assailant "is known to the Belgian authorities, who are searching for him. The Israeli official has been operated on and is in no danger."

The incident took place at 8 p.m. Brussels time, according to the communique.

"On 10 September, a man identifying himself as of Moroccan nationality and giving his name, phoned the Israeli Embassy in Brussels claiming he had information with regard to an impending act of sabotage against an Israeli object," it said.

"The caller was not prepared to enter the embassy but was prepared to meet with the Israeli official in the Brussels Cafe Princess."

The attempt on Zadok's life happened five days after 11 members of the Israeli Olympic team, five Arab guerrillas and one German policeman were killed in Munich as result of an Arab terrorist attack.

The man said he could give information on a terrorist attack being prepared against the embassy. As he did not want to come to the embassy, Zadok agreed to a meeting in the cafe in the downtown Place de Brouckere, the officials said.

Police said Zadok entered the cafe Sunday around 8:40 p.m. accompanied by another man, believed to be an Arab. The shooting followed.

Poll: Voters Support Nixon's Bombing Policy

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A national pollster reported today that potential voters surveyed favor President Nixon's bombing policy in Vietnam by a margin of 55 to 32 per cent.

"The rationale behind public thinking is that 'by mining harbors and bombing, the North Vietnamese will come to peace terms faster,' " said syndicated poll-taker Louis Harris.

Harris also said the potential voters approved by 74 to 11 per cent the President's contention that "it is important that South Vietnam not fall into the control of the Communists."

The poll was anything but good news to Democratic presidential candidate George S. McGovern, who is pegging his campaign heavily on a pledge to get the United States out of Vietnam as quickly as possible.

Today, McGovern turned to the issue of wage-price controls, saying in a statement issued by his headquarters in Washington that the administration's program had been a "disaster" and the Price Commission "almost a total failure".

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew took up the same subject in a speech to union members in Las Vegas, Nev., saying the administration wants to abolish the economic controls as soon as possible.

"None of us likes wage and price controls," Agnew said. "We intend to rid ourselves of them as soon as we can. But the times and our legacy from the past, my friends, pretty much determine our policy options."

In his statement, McGovern said the Price Commission had failed to do its job because of a preoccupation with "maintaining profits, not with controlling inflation".

"The Republican wage-price controls have been a disaster," McGovern said. "The inflation has not stopped. Consumer prices rose at a rate of 3.5 per cent in the eight months between November, 1971, and July—only a little below the rate prior to the controls and considerably above the 2.5 per cent goal."

McGovern said inflation was "actually accelerating" because over the last three months, the wholesale index has risen at a 7.4 per cent rate, faster than at any time during the last 12 months.

A greatly different view of the state of the economy was taken Sunday by Donald Rumsfeld, director of the administration's Cost of Living Council, who said the job-producing record of the economy during a year of controls and defense industry cutbacks has been "nothing short of spectacular."

"The ability of this economy to grow and expand and break a new record practically every month on the employment side, that is to say the number of people productively employed in this economy, is amazing," Rumsfeld said.

Rumsfeld said the 5.6 per cent unemployment rate reported last month still was too high, but he said the rate has been coming down and he anticipated it would fall further "in the period just ahead."

McGovern scheduled campaign appearances in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area today. Sunday he made appearances at Espanola, N.M., and Houston, Tex., telling a crowd of 10,000 at Espanola that a "better day" was coming for Spanish-surnamed people of the United States.

Nixon scheduled a busy day in the White House today. He had meetings scheduled with the Council on International Economic Policy; Joseph DeSilva, a supporter who is secretary-treasurer of Local 770 of the Retail Clerks International Association in California; Joseph R. Samson, newly elected national commander of the AMVETS; and with Russell Train, chairman of the Council of Environmental Quality, who is leaving for the Soviet Union.

Sargent Shriver, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, said Sunday Israel should not be condemned for its raids on suspected terrorist bases in Lebanon and Syria because they were provoked by Arab terrorists' attack on the Israeli Olympic team.

Shriver was interviewed on ABC's Issues and Answers.

Shriver today started a two-day tour of California. In a taped interview in San Francisco he said Palestinian Arabs must be included in any peace solution to the mideast conflict.

Chicano Hecklers Stop Kennedy Speech

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Chicano Activists, chanting and jeering, prevented Sen. Edward M. Kennedy from making a speech Sunday on behalf of Democratic Presidential Candidate George McGovern.

About 30 hecklers clapped rapidly and chanted "Chicano power, Chicano power," as Kennedy tried to speak to a crowd of about 2,500, mostly Mexican-Americans at East Los Angeles College.

The Massachusetts Senator's prepared speech was a call for improvements in the lives of Spanish-speaking Americans, and criticized the Nixon administration's record in dealing with Hispanic-Americans.

He did not get to deliver it.

"It's nice to be back in sunny, Southern California," Kennedy said as the protesters kept him from being heard. "I'd forgotten what it was like to be heckled."

Kennedy offered to let the activists have the microphone if they had anything to say, proposing they send a spokesman to speak for seven minutes, and then let him talk for seven minutes.

One of the protestors spoke for seven minutes, but when Kennedy attempted to talk, the Chicano group again began chanting and jeering. After several minutes, Kennedy gave up.

Kennedy is on a campaign swing through Southern California for McGovern. He was scheduled to address the convention of the International Association of Machinists today, along with Democratic Vice Presidential Candidate Sargent Shriver.

Nixon Officials To Be Exonerated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When a federal grand jury hands down its decision in the Watergate bugging case—expected within a matter of days —top officials in President Nixon's re-election campaign will be exonerated of any involvement, according to Clark MacGregor, Nixon's campaign director.

MacGregor, in an interview on CBS-TV's "Face the Nation" program Sunday, said "We are anxious to see the grand jury action completed ... people in authority will be exonerated by not being indicted."

That 'Tax Loss' From Redevelopment

The Marin County Board of Supervisors has challenged plans of the City of San Rafael for downtown redevelopment. It last week asked the county counsel to investigate the possibility of court action to prevent San Rafael from going ahead with its redevelopment plans.

Similar attacks may be expected on redevelopment plans of the cities of Larkspur, Corte Madera and Novato.

They result from fears by county and school district officials that expected increased in tax revenues will be lost if the redevelopment plans go forward.

SAN RAFAEL, Larkspur, Corte Madera and Novato are acting under a state law which permits a city to set up a redevelopment area and to divert all taxes on private improvements made subsequently in that area to pay for public improvements which, in turn, will bring more private improvements.

For instance, the taxes on whatever McKeon Construction Co. builds on the Courthouse Square would go for downtown public projects in San Rafael — which might be street widening or redesign, recreation facilities, or anything else that would improve the downtown.

Taxes on the existing downtown valuation would continue to be split up among county, city, and the various school and special districts.

COUNTY AUDITOR-Controller Michael Mitchell has sounded a series of warnings about "loss of revenues" to the county end districts through this procedure. His latest figures, given to the board of supervisors last week, show the county losing $30,000 in tax revenues and San Rafael elementary and high school districts losing $63,000 next year if the plan goes ahead.

It should be made clear that the "revenue loss" projected by Mitchell is a guesstimate of possible loss from possible future assessment increases. It is based on application of the county-wide average annual increase in assessed valuation.

Neither county nor school districts would lose any of the tax revenue they already receive from the area proposed for redevelopment. The redevelopment plan would simply freeze the assessment on those properties at its present level, as far as those taxing agencies go. Full taxes would be paid on subsequent improvements, but they would go into redevelopment.

IT IS RATHER difficult to see where the county would be put to any added expense by improvement of downtown San Rafael. The county pays health and welfare costs in the cities — but commercial and public service developments would not add to such costs. Neither would they add to the school rolls.

On the other hand, if downtown San Rafael is permitted to continue deteriorating, its assessed valuation will decline rather than increase. The result will be higher tax rates for city, county and school districts to make up for the actual loss from decline of downtown property values.

How the redevelopment taxes are used will spell how well the scheme works. But without the infusion of some public money to improve the downtown, it is difficult to see how it can be expected to continue to produce more tax revenues for city, county, and schools.

Dog Days

Each autumn just prior to Labor Day, a kind of exhaustion or mental malaise sets in around the country, including even Marin. We believe it has something to do with the end of the growing season and the shortening days. It is one of those little-understood great natural rhythms which quietly influence our lives.

POLITICS — AS USUAL

Arrigoni Sweet As Lemon In 'Invitation' To Opponent

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The excess acid stomach of politics is off to an early start in the contest between Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and challenger Barbara Boxer.

The feelings between them came through in a letter Arrigoni sent Mrs. Boxer about his proposal that they schedule joint coffees. In a patronizing twist that would frost any libber, Arrigoni said the coffees should be held only twice a week in the early afternoon because "I realize you are a busy mother with two small children."

He suggested further that "we could have one coffee hosted from your camp of followers and one hosted from my continually growing list of supporters."

HIGH PRAISE for Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has come from Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger for Bagley's passage of a $166,000 special appropriation to prove state claims to some 40,000 acres of tidelands in San Francisco Bay.

Younger said the state's litigation with developes claiming title to the tidelands "should be one of the most significant ones in California's environmental history. It may create precedents affecting state lands throughout California.

"The people of the state are in your debt for the action that you took to provide us with the necessary tools to carry it on," Younger wrote Bagley.

The veteran assemblyman never has had an image as a conservationist, but in fact has scored numerous quiet credits in this field.

DESPITE HIS TOUGH challenge from San Francisco Supervisor Roger Boas, Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, has given little evidence of getting his campaign off the ground.

At least he does not lack for assurance. Asked if the President will campaign here and thus benefit Republican congressional candidates, Mailliard said he did not need Nixon's coattails. "I've been around just as long as he has," Mailliard said.

But where was Mailliard when the President was in San Francisco last week? Practically standing on the President's coattails.

THE REPUBLICAN National Committee gleefully reports it has dug up a Democrat in Sen. George S. McGovern's hometown of Mitchell, S.D., who actually is considering voting for Nixon.

The gent is Jake Martin, 72, who "has been active in Democrat Party politics for 38 years and never voted for a Republican for president," the GOP National Committee said. "This year he just might," it added.

What struck us was that with all their resources the Republicans could not even find a Democrat who is certain he will vote for Nixon.

"From the President of the United States to employees of all draft boards, greetings . . ."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

College Board Aspirant No Longer On Staff

Your editorial of Sept. 8 attached is not factually correct inasmuch as I completed a one year contract with the Marin Community College District June 30, 1972 under a federal grant. I conducted the Work Experience Education program during that period but am not presently on the college staff.

I appreciated being mentioned in your otherwise excellent editorial.

Applauds Reprisals Against Arab Countries

We were shocked and saddened by the newest act of Arab terrorism against the Jewish people, the massacre at Munich. We agree with the President of the United States that "there must be no point of refuge, there must be no place to hide." for those who cynically threaten and destroy human lives and interrupt the peaceful pursuit of international cooperation.

We applaud the action of both houses of our Congress in urging the United States and other countries to cut off all contacts with nations providing support and sanctuary to terrorists.

Reasons For Wearing POW-MIA Bracelets

The reason for wearing a POW-MIA bracelet is to remind us of our men who may or may not be prisoners of war in North Vietnam, and to pray for their safety and return. We disapprove of North Vietnam refusing to release the names of hundreds whose fate is unknown (our nephew has been missing since January, 1966). We wear these to register our disapproval of North Vietnam who refused to allow the flow of mail and packages.

Your article re the Marine who wants to wear one leaves the impression that the bracelets are worn to register disapproval of the war generally. The reasons are not political.

AN EDUCATOR'S VIEW

(Professor of Education, California State University, San Jose)

Education and politics have much in common. As there is a political spectrum to designate the left-wing or right-wing stance of politicians, there is also an educational spectrum on which left-wing, centrist, and right-wing educators can be identified.

For nearly a half century American public education has been dominated by left wingers. That is, controlled largely by advocates of social experimentalism, and social and naturalistic progressivism. Social experimentalists believe it is the job of the school to prepare youth for a progressive restructuring of society.

More than a full generation ago, the then president of the University of Wisconsin, Glenn Frank, warned of the danger to American public education from extreme forms of social experimentalism: "... from the widely separated quarters of the Right and the Left have arisen Americans who demand that the schools be made agencies of propaganda. Those on the right want the schools to become agencies of propaganda for their particular conservative concept of the traditional social order. Those on the left want them to become agencies of propaganda for their particular brand of a new social order based on some measure of collectivism."

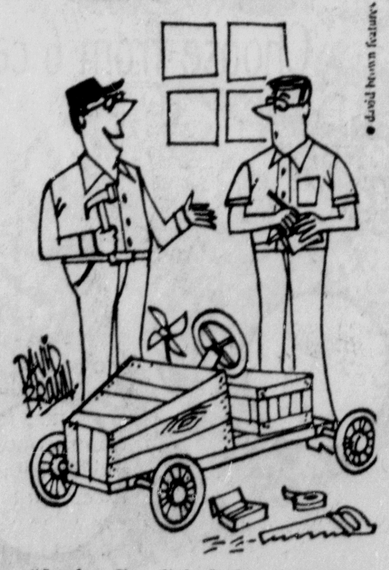
The social experimentalists play down competition and elevate cooperation to a status of dominance in school programs. Thus, education for individualism has lost ground while a favorable climate has been established for the belief that group judgment is superior to individual judgment.

While the social experimentalists and the progressivists occupy the left wing of the educational spectrum, the essentialists and perennialists are said to be right wingers.

The essentialists are advocates of basic education — the so-called three R's — and other subject matter and skills they believe will enable students to live effectively in present and future environments. The perennialists and essentialists espouse an educational system that is teacher and subject-matter centered, whereas the experimentalists and progressivists are child-centered in their approach.

Regardless of the outcome of the November elections, whether political conservatives or liberals emerge as victors at the polls, the American educational system will continue its leftward thrust with social experimentalists in firm control of United States education from kindergarten through the university. Thus, educational programs featuring social and emotional adjustment rather than academics will continue to preempt all other considerations in American public education.

TODAY'S WORLD



"So far I've licked the air pollution problem. Now all I've got to do is figure out how to make it go up hills."

ALMANAC

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Virgo.

American short story writer William Sidney Porter (O. Henry) was born Sept. 11, 1862.

On this day in history:

In 1777, troops of George Washington were badly defeated by the British in the Battle of Brandywine.

Danger Of Middle East War Lessens; Nixon, McGovern Helped

The danger of renewed war between Israel and Egypt is waning. At last the ingredients of an Arab-Israeli settlement are at hand.

Israel's discussed return of the Gaza Strip and substantial parts of the southern Sinai would have come sooner, but the Israelis had to be certain that the expulsion of the Soviet forces was firm.

With the Russians out, the Egyptians cannot risk attack. With the Russians out, Israel is militarily secure and can offer generous peace terms.

Negotiations may take many months. Reprisals against the Arab terrorists for their Olympic atrocities should be expected, but renewal of the 1967 war now seems unlikely.

HOW NIXON AND McGOVERN HELPED. Nixon persuaded the Russians that they shouldn't risk war with the United States in the Middle East. McGovern persuaded Israel that there would be continuity of United States support if he were elected.

At his first press conference in January, 1969, Nixon signaled a warning to Moscow that the greatest danger of war would be to risk a military confrontation with the United States in the Middle East. The Soviets expanded their forces in Egypt, but they served to restrain Egypt from going on the attack.

In the last two weeks McGovern has sent personal assurances to the Israeli leaders that he deemed it vital to the United States to keep Israel secure.

WHAT CAIRO HAD TO DECIDE. The Egyptians were in a box. They found that the Soviet forces in Egypt were unwilling to help them drive the Israelis out of Egyptian territory. They also found that the Israelis would offer them nothing approaching an acceptable settlement as long as the Soviet troops remained.

NIXON, McGOVERN HAVE SIMILAR PROBLEMS. One is the fantastically stupid Republican bugging of Democratic National Headquarters at the Watergate. The other is the bad mishandling of the Democratic vice-presidential nomination and the contradictory statements made about it.

The electronic invasion of the Democratic offices continues to embarrass the President and his re-election committee. It should. If it was authorized, the Republicans are covering up. If it was unauthorized, Nixon has appointed men at the top of his campaign who are incompetent to pick trustworthy subordinates.

Both camps see these incidents as minor and peripheral, not bearing on how voters will choose between McGovern and Nixon. But they do bear on the issue of competence and tend to cancel out.

"LET'S TAKE THE SUBWAY." There is a worldwide subway boom. Right now 19 cities on four continents are building new subways and 23 existing systems are being extended. When this construction is completed, total subway patronage is due to reach more than 12 billion fares a year.

When the new San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit is completed, it will comprise 19 miles of subways, 27 miles of surface tracks, 23 miles of elevated lines and a four-mile tube under San Francisco Bay.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN THE U.S.S.R. While many western countries have abolished the death penalty and the U.S. Supreme Court has restricted it, capital punishment in the Soviet Union is prescribed for 33 different offenses.

In czarist times (except under martial law) the death penalty applied only to attempts on the lives of the czar and his family.

McGovern Campaign In Better Shape Than Humphrey's Was

GRESHAM, Ore — The chartered jets, the crowds that run together in the mind, the contusions from lethal-edged television equipment, the postmidnight bus rides through snarling sirens and ugly suburbs, the predawn departures, the falling further and further behind schedule — aside from satisfying the masochist inside, there is a sensible reason for enduring all this again.

It is the price you pay for perspective. When you watched Hubert Humphrey stumble thorugh the first week of his 1968 campaign; when you have been before to the Labor Day parade in Barberton, Ohio; when you have gauged the crowds at the same airports and auditoriums more than once, you have a much more confident feeling, for example, of where George McGovern stands at the end of his first bona fide campaign week. You can report that the only things the Humphrey and McGovern campaigns have in common at this point is that both candidates are nominal Democrats and both started far behind Mr. Nixon in the polls.

THROUGH MOST of September, 1968, the Humphrey campaign reeled from city to city. It was numb, desperately hung over from the Chicago convention at the end of August. Humphrey carried the albatross of Vietnam around his neck, dragging him down. Now McGovern is running further behind in the public opinion surveys, yet there is none of that sickness — at least none visible to the public.

When McGovern rode on the back of a convertible through the sunny, shabby downtown streets of Barberton, it was more like an earlier era than like 1968 (except that when he got out to shake hands along the crowd at Tuscarawas and Second, a chill ran up my back that I have experienced only since what happened to Robert Kennedy and George Wallace). When he got to the uptown section, an elderly Republican-style lady in a folding chair said to passersby, "He's an uninvited guest here." She probably said the same thing about Humphrey when he rolled past in 1964, on his way to smite Barry Goldwater at the park by the lake, before a crowd bigger than the one McGovern drew. That was the year Humphrey first called himself "the happy warrior," and nobody then thought of it as a sick joke.

Some did in '68. He started his campaign in Philadelphia, mistakenly trying to match there the crowd Mr. Nixon had drawn earlier in Chicago. It was a flop, and to make it worse there were the chanting pickets with the words that haunted his campaign: "One, two, three, four, we don't want your blanking war!" and "Dump the Hump! Dump the Hump!

WHEN MCGOVERN came into Seattle the other night, he had a good crowd waiting in the street outside his hotel — mostly young people, university age. It was one of the best rallies of his beginning campaign. But the crowd was no larger than the one Humphrey had in an auditorium in Seattle slightly less than four years before.

The difference was that a platoon of university demonstrators with a bullhorn got inside and delayed Humphrey's speech, nearly drowning him out. Much the same thing happened when he came to Portland. Neither on television nor in the newspapers was there more than a line about what he came there to say, only the fact that he had to struggle to say anything.

McGovern has encountered nothing like that. He met sizable, warm gatherings wherever his advance men wanted them — at Savannah airport, Canton-Akron airport, on Labor Day at Barberton and Chippewa Lake, in Seattle and onward. There was an occasional pro-Nixon placard, and once a chant of "Four more years!" But the candidate may have missed them altogether.

THE PEOPLE who were victimizing poor Humphrey at every stop theoretically are the ones busy now registering other young voters for McGovern. They have switched from mob censorship to fundamental electioneering.

His aides believe that as he becomes more familiar, his standing in the polls will grow, and if he listens grimly to enough unemployed workers and examines enough food-stamp potatoes before enough carefully spaced cameras in the nine weeks ahead, he will surprise the world again in November.

It seems absurd, I know. Mr. Nixon's last reported margin over him was 34 percentage points. Yet, remembering how shattered Humphrey was at this point and how close he eventually came, andsadly realizing how the absence of venomous disruption can seem a positive advantage to a politician's campaign in our times in American, you are forced to believe a serious political contest is just ahead.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Sept. 11, 1962

The Soviet Union warned the United States to keep its hands off Cuba or risk world hydrogen bomb war.

The United States claimed that Russia had exploded a nuclear device in outer space in 1961.

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 11, 1952

Gov. Earl Warren appointed William A. Gnoss, Novato poultryman, to the Marin County Board of Supervisors to serve until the November election, with understanding that Gnoss would not be a candidate for the remaining two years of the term of Robert H. Trumbull, who died in office.

Assemblyman Ralph Brown, D-Modesto, announced he would appoint a citizen committee to help put into final shape his bill to curb secret meetings of governmental bodies.

Hippiedom's Own Establishment Celebrated In Fan Magazine Style

Howard Smith is a Village Voice columnist, present "at every 'hip' event in New York, standing a well-tailored six-foot-three, surveying the scene and getting ready to tell the world."

If Walter and Louella Parsons had had a son and brought him up on McDougal Street, that boy, Mr. and Mrs. America and all the ships at sea, might have become Howard Smith.

Or so Smith's anonymous biographer speculates, adding: "Many people have laid the term 'rip-off' at Howard's feet. . .but every culture has its chronicler, and in Howard Smith, the New York hip world finds, perhaps with some reluctance, a compiler of the marginalia that makes the movement more than just a collection of manifestos."

THE MINIBIOGRAPHY appears in a new counterculture reference book titled "Mug Shots: Who's Who in the New Earth." And if Howard Smith is ripping off the counterculture — alas, he's listed as a consultant to Youth Concepts (a "marketing firm") — then "Mug Shots" is certainly ripping off him. So it goes.

"Mug Shots" (and the Howard Smiths glamorized in it) are, in fact, the indicators that the counterculture now has its own Establihment, its own Beautiful People. The names in "Mug Shots" are indeed the Names of the '70s: Kate Millett, Abbie Hoffman, Andy Warhol, Marshall McLuhan, Ralph Nader, Eldridge Cleaver — these are no longer counterculture personalities but the candidates for the covers of Time magazine, the most sought guests for the Cavett-Carson-Griffin shows, the new household words. It is the old candidate for the cover of Time magazine — the president of General Motors, the Debutante of the Year, and so on — who now seems to belong to the minority culture.

"The times they are a-changin'," went the Bob Dylan song. In a doubly ironic sense the words are true: the changers, too, have changed. If the underground has surfaced to supply a nation in the market for Woodstock chic — for a hip life-style — who's left? "Where is that whole happy tormented crowd I used to know?" cried a hip Rip Van Winkle in Smith's own newspaper upon revisiting Greenwich Village a decade later. "Where have all the hipsters gone?"

"Mug Shots" with its hip-Horatio Alger success stories gives one answer. The old outsiders have become the new insiders, suffering the awful enshrinements of all celebrities. In gushing fan-magazine style, "Mug Shots" writes of a star poet-guru: "If the planet were leveled tomorrow, Gary Snyder is the one person you would want to have at your side."

WHAT A CONFUSION of hip values:

But if the counterculture is getting ripped off, co-opted, and — dirty word — institutionalized, it is also getting thought through. The palmy days of spontaneity may be over. But the best of those impulses are being connected into a coherent philosophy.

"Where the Wasteland Ends" by Theodore Roszak is the most successful attempt so far to codify the premises underlying the mere phenomenon of the counterculture. (Roszak's forthcoming work is distinctly more serious than Charles Reich's "The Greening of America," which managed to seem simultaneously premature and too late.)

"This book," Roszak states flatly, "is about the religious dimension of political life. . .It is the energy of religious renewal that will generate the next politics."

"How are we to create a sane life?"

"How do I save my soul?"

These are the political questions Roszak considers pertinent.

HIS INDICTMENT of the Superstate and Technology comes back to one fundamental argument: They turn "people and nature into mere, worthless things." In their emphasis on perfectible methods-and-systems, they neglect in the name of a false practicality what Wordsworth called "visionary power," what Goethe called "respect for the unfathomable."

Roszak sees the counterculture as "a massive salvage operation" to restore to honor the mystical, the playful aspects of human nature — to reassert the whole man celebrating the universe as well as manipulating it.

Years from now will the counterculture be judged as an erratic but effective refresher course in the Declaration of Independence? — an elementary reminder that man exists for man and for God before he exists for society with a capital S? If so, history will find it easy to forgive all the I Ching-schlock, all the do-it-yourself astrology, all the ripping off. Maybe even the deplorable fact that it costs $9.95 to find out who's who in 1972's world of hip.

EOC Directors Still Bicker While The Money Disappears

Despite all the studies, investigations and audits into the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, the reason for its near-collapse earlier this year has never really been brought into focus.

The administrative shortcomings have been thoroughly explored but apparently no one is willing to take it one step further and ask why the shortcomings arose.

Possibly the reason is that that's the job of the board of directors. And the directors know, as do others, that they are the reason.

THEY PERMITTED themselves to be manipulated by the former executive director. They were lulled into the feeling that they were really doing something.

As long as the personal insults and accusations were flying, no one had the time, energy or interest to check how Lomax was managing the agency. They simply took his word for it.

The former executive director, W. Robert Lomax Jr., was a master at keeping board members bickering and fighting among themselves.

Not until they found they didn't have an agency anymore did the directors realize what had happened.

That was months ago and one would think that the board of directors had learned something. Not the EOC board!

AS SHOWN at last week's meeting, the board is back to bickering and fighting — manipulated by a new executive director, Alfred R. Conklin III.

Conklin and his staff of seven are costing about $10,000 each month is salaries ($7,200) and operating expenses. What they do eight hours a day, five days a month, isn't clear.

Several former and present board members have pressed the question: "What are we getting for $10,000 a month?" The answer is always some vague explanation of planning new programs to help the poor.

Then, last month, in a move never even tried by Lomax, Conklin proposed the removal of two board members who had been questioning his productivity.

Charging they had tried to destroy the agency by wiring Governor Reagan to block a federal grant, Conklin gained some support from other members of the board.

While the ouster was rejected by the full board after a shouting, fist-pounding session, it was interesting to note Conklin managed to once again skip by without explanation of what he and his staff do for $10,000 each month.

It was also interesting to note that those who supported his attempt to oust two board members were among the strongest supporters of Lomax.

Not much has changed.

Blockbuster Kills Three In Ireland

BELFAST (UPI)—Three soldiers were killed by "the largest bomb yet" in Northern Ireland, a 500-pound blockbuster which destroyed a 10-ton Saracen armored car Sunday night.

Two soldiers inside the six-wheel vehicle were killed outright when the bomb, estimated at 500 pounds of explosive, blew up under the armored car, flipped it on its back and sent it flying upside down 20 yards along a quiet country road.

Two of the other five soldiers in the Saracen had to be cut free with acetylene torches. One of them died in a military hospital this morning. Two others were in critical condition.

The soldier's death was the 125th among British troopers in three years of Ulster violence which has so far taken 557 lives.

The blast blew a crater nearly 20 feet deep in the road. A civilian driver happening by just after the rescue failed to brake in time and his car plunged into the hole. He was hospitalized, but his injuries were minor.

In Belfast, members of the paramilitary Protestant Ulster Defense Association (UDA) and the political Vanguard front organization announced they were patching up their differences to oppose "ineffectual" British Ulster policy.

The new resolve grew out of a gunfight Thursday between UDA men and British troops, the first such army-Protestant clash in three years of troubles.

Board To Discuss Insurance Coverage

The Kentfield School District board will discuss a report on insurance coverage at its meeting at 8 p.m. today at Wolfe Grade School.

They will also discuss class sizes at Adaline E. Kent School and consider four transfer requests from parents of students.

More Lung Cancer Found In Cities

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Research Council says lung cancer, which claims the lives of 60,000 Americans annually, is twice as common among city-dwellers as it is in the countryside.

The council, research arm of the National Academy of Sciences, issued a 303-page report Sunday which concluded that city air is 15 times more polluted than country air. And, the report said, lung cancer is most common in those city areas where general industrial pollution is worse.

"Although not all studies are completely consistent," the report said, "it is clear that increased lung cancer mortality is generally associated with urban living."

The study noted that cigarette smoking is still the prime cause of the increase in lung cancer. "But smoking alone cannot account for the increase or the different rates of lung cancer in urban and rural areas."

The NRC said lung cancer is now the greatest cause of cancer deaths among American men, killing 50,000 a year. Lung cancer also claims the lives of 10,000 women annually, the scientific group added.

According to the NRC, most studies showed little if any differences in the cigarette smoking habits of city and rural dwellers. "These studies," the report said," provide some basis for concluding that the changes in lung cancer death rates are related to more than cigarette smoking i.e. an urban factor."

The NRC concluded that the urban factor was air pollution which included a group of chemical compounds created in any combustion process involving hydrocarbons such as coal, wood, gasoline and tobacco.

The group of compounds is called POM for "polychclic organic matter." A POM ingredient called benzo pyrene, carried by soot in the air, is a powerful cause of cancer in laboratory animals, the NRC said.

Though it has not been proved absolutely that POM pollution causes cancer in man," cigarette smoke and city air have some carcinogenic substances and gases in common," the report stated.

New Miss America Reigning

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) —Brown-eyed Terry Anne Meeuwsen, the new Miss America, says she is looking forward to her homecoming reception in DePere, Wis., next month as one of the highlights of her one year reign.

But another of the 50 original contestants, who holds opposing views on politics and lifestyle, is not so sure what her reception will be when she returns to her home state.

"I'm not going to tell anyone when I'm going back," Kathy Hebert, Miss Vermont, said Sunday.

More consumer service tips from PG&E:

How to conserve energy and reduce your bills this winter.

Have your furnace man check your heating system now. Also clean or replace filters. Then you'll be sure your furnace is working efficiently and is ready for the first cold snap.

Shut damper when your fireplace is not in use. If you leave it open, cold air rushes in and heat escapes. Also, closing drapes at night can stop up to 16% of the heat lost through windows.

Insulate. Good insulation in walls and ceilings can cut heating requirements up to 45%. You'll use less gas and reduce heating bills.

Agree on a comfortable setting for your thermostat and leave it there, except for turning it down when you go to bed. Frequent thermostat changes waste gas and increase your heating bill.

Your winter PG&E bill is usually higher than your summer bill because in winter months you need more heat and light and spend more time indoors. But if you follow these suggestions, you'll cut your winter bills and conserve natural gas. Though inflation has forced rates up modestly after years of rate reductions, PG&E service remains your best household bargain. PG and E

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Woman Champ's Son Writes The Chess Book Of The Year

The book of the year thus far is "The Bridge Philosopher," by James S. Kauder, a young man who writes as well as he plays — which is very high praise indeed. Kauder is the son of Mary Jane Farell, winner of two world championships and the highest ranked woman player in the records of the American Contract Bridge League. (If he writes any more books as good as this, the columnists of the future may have to explain that Mrs. Farell is related to the famous writer.) The first hand in Kauder's book gives the thoughtful player good material.

LEAD LOW

"I win the jack of hearts with the king and lead a low diamond to dummy's queen, which holds," Kauder reports in telling the story of his encounter with this hand. "Could East be ducking with the king of diamonds? Hardly. For all he knows, the queen of diamonds might be my ninth trick.

"The normal way to continue the diamonds is to play the ace and follow with a diamond toward my jack-nine. That loses only when West started with four diamonds, king-ten.

"But I'm wondering if there could be any merit in re-entering my hand and running the jack of diamonds through West. I'm tired, but I should be able to determine which is the better play."

CASE BY CASE

"Let's see. Either play will win three tricks when the diamonds are divided 3-3, when West has the doubleton king and when East has the doubleton ten. But leading the jack of diamonds will gain an extra trick when West holds K-10-x-x and East has the doubleton eight, for it West covers the jack of diamonds, I can later lead dummy's seven, making three tricks unless West started with K-10-8-x."

As you have surely noted, the decisive card is dummy's seven of diamonds. If dummy had the deuce or trey of diamonds, you would play the suit normally, taking the ace on the second round.

AMUSING

Most of the hands in the Kauder book are amusing, but when my young friend chooses he takes a very close look indeed at a hand. Close students of the game should make sure to read "The Bridge Philosopher."

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 10 7 5 2
♥ - Q 8 7 4 2
♦ - 8 3
♣ - A 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. You would jump to four hearts if you had a singleton or void in a side suit, but the actual distribution is not strong enough for this jump to game.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Dear GBG:
Your birthday determines the order in which you are drafted, if you are my age. Now President Nixon says he will end the draft by July 1st next year. Does this mean I won't have to worry about whether my birthday gets a high or low number in a lottery next year? Signed: 18-Year Old Guy

Dear Guy:
Have a Lucky Birthday, fella. The lottery goes on! I contacted the Selective Service System in Washington, D.C. and this is what one high official told me: "We do not know when the 1973 drawings will be held, but it should be early in the calendar year." The lottery numbers will be assigned, whether any men are called up or not. The lottery itself began in World War I, but it was President Nixon who introduced the idea of drawing birthdays by his Executive Order of Nov. 26, 1969. Oddly enough, if Nixon had been eligible for the draft, he would have been called to duty. Richard Nixon was born Jan. 9 and his birthday got 194 as its random sequence number in the first drawing. That year all men with numbers running to 195 were called up. A young Nixon, 19 to 26, would have become a buck private. Whew! Good thing he already was over age and Commander-in-Chief!

Corona Trial Starts; Jury To Be Selected

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (UPI)— Juan V. Corona, a 38-year-old farm labor contractor from Yuba City, Calif., went on trial today on charges of hacking and stabbing 25 field hands to death —the worst confirmed case of mass murder in U.S. history.

Wearing a blue suit and black shoes, Corona smiled and waved to his wife, Gloria, when he entered the courtroom. Before the beginning of the trial she was outside the courthouse with a group of 15 demonstrators, carrying a sign reading, "Justice for Juan Corona."

Other pickets, mostly Mexican-Americans, carried signs declaring "Corona is Innocent," "Frameup" and "Don't Pick a Racist Jury."

Corona, apparently recovered from two suspected heart attacks that followed his arrest, is being tried in a 77-seat, windowless, wood-panelled and gold-carpeted Solano County courtroom. Tight security has been imposed for the court proceedings.

Selection of a 12-member jury with two alternates is the first task during the opening sessions before visiting Superior Court Judge Richard Patton. A panel of 100 prospective jurors has been summoned. The entire trial is expected to last several months.

The Mexican-born Corona, who has steadfastly maintained his innocence, is being prosecuted by G. David Teja, a meticulous, pipe-smoking Sutter County district attorney. The defense attorney is Richard E. Hawk, a flamboyant veteran criminal lawyer from Concord, Calif.

The trial originally was to have begun Sept. 5 but was postponed briefly by an appellate court. It was reset for today after Corona relented to a prosecution demand for fresh handwriting samples.

Teja wants to compare Corona's handwriting with a list of names in a green ledger allegedly found in Corona's bedroom. The book reportedly contains the handwritten names of seven of the victims plus dates and locations the state says are pertinent to the case.

Corona's trial was moved to this rural town of 48,000, near big Travis Air Force Base, after Hawk contended massive pretrial publicity made it impossible for Corona to receive a fair trial in Yuba City, near the grave sites.

"Juan is a kind, gentle man," Hawk says in describing his client. He says Corona's prosecutors know he is innocent and that the identity of the killer will come out early in the trial.

The case began unfolding May 21, 1971, when the first body was found by a Japanese rancher on his property. Four days later eight more hacked corpses were pulled out of makeshift graves in fruit orchards near the Feather River.

measure because it did not allude to the Munich massacre.

The Middle East News Agency, in reporting the league statement, said the U.S. use of the veto is "practically a support of Israeli aggression." A Syrian commentary broadcast over Baghdad Radio and monitored in Beirut said the Israeli strikes against Syria and Lebanon were "premediatated and prepared in advance by the Israeli state of aggression." It said the U.S. veto showed that "Israel is one of the states of the United States of America."

"Our people will use all its potential to repel the aggression and direct hard strikes against the interests of those who are supporting the aggression and standing on the side of the enemy (Israel) giving it all support and aid," the Syrian broadcast said.

In Cairo, West German ambassador-designate Hans-Georg Steltzer was summoned to Arab League headquarters by Egyptian Foreign Minister Mohammed Hassan el Zayyat and told that Egypt rejected as "unacceptable" West German explanations of statements made following the Munich affair.

German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel was alleged to have said that Germany did not hold the Arab world responsible for the "terrorist" attack. He also was quoted as expressing regrets some Arab states did not issue statements condemning the Munich affair.

Drug Charges In Road Arrest

A 20-year-old San Rafael man was arrested at 3:50 a.m. today on Highway 101 on suspicion of speeding, possession of marijuana, dangerous drugs and drug paraphernalia, according to the California Highway Patrol.

The man, Ronald Ray Bresee, of Twelveoak Hill Drive, was reportedly seen speeding northbound on Waldo Grade. After a highway patrolman pulled him over in Strawberry, a plastic bag with marijuana and white powder was discovered in Bresee's car. In addition, the patrol reported it found about three unidentified white pills, a roach clip and two pipes in the car.

Bresee was booked into Marin County Jail and held to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Application To Install Docks

The Marine Minerals Technology Center, U.S. Department of Commerce, has applied for a permit to install two floating docks within an existing slip off 3150 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, the Army Corps of Engineers reported today.

The work would consist of driving fourteen piles, installing the two floating docks and extending a gangplank from an existing dock to one of the floating docks, the Army said. Each floating dock will consist of two barges held in position by the piles.

Anyone who has any objection to the proposed docks may notify the corps of engineers — in triplicate — at 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, before Oct. 9.

Dollar Mansion Merit Award

The Robert Dollar mansion on Mission Avenue in San Rafael has been given an "Award of Architectural Merit" by the California Heritage Council.

The council found the Dollar estate to be one of the finest examples of Eastlake-Queen Anne architecture in the San Rafael area, according to Mary C. Dekker, chairman of the San Rafael Historic Preservation Committee.

She said that the council is a statewide group recognized as an authority on old buildings.

The San Rafael Planning Commission tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. will consider a proposal to raze the mansion to make way for an 80-unit apartment and townhouse development at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Tiburon's Downtown Plan On Tap

The Tiburon City Council will hear a report at 7:30 p.m. today from its lands and development committee on a proposal to establish a redevelopment agency which could help finance the development of Tiburon's downtown area.

The lands and development committee, composed of Councilmen Branwell D. Fanning and Albert Aramburu, will discuss the necessary procedure to establish an agency under California law and recommend that the council begin hearings in October.

Under California law, designation of a redevelopment area and creation of a redevelopment agency freezes the assessed valuation in the area insofar as various taxing districts, such as schools, are concerned. Increased tax revenues from higher assessed valuation goes to the redevelopment agency until bonds sold to finance redevelopment are repaid.

p.m. Saturday. They said Albert's Thunderbird struck a small truck and another automobile.

Witnesses said Albert paid cash to the owner of the other automobile, whose identity was withheld by police. The witnesses said the driver of the truck left the scene after determining there had been little or no damage to the vehicle..

The Post said witnesses outside the night club expressed the opinion that Albert had been drinking, but quoted police sergeant James R. Sloan as saying that "in my professional opinion, he wasn't drunk."

Deputy Police Chief Tilmon O'Bryant was quoted as saying of the fact that no police report was filed on the incident: "A report doesn't have to be made if people can resolve minor accidents among themselves where there has been no flagrant violation of the law."

Under police rules, no accident report is required if damage is less than $100 and there are no personal injuries.

Interviews Set For School Aide

Public interviews to select one of three Redwood High School faculty members as assistant principal in charge of student management — government and discipline — for Tamalpais High School, will be held Wednesday through Friday mornings.

A committee of teachers, administrators and parents will recommend one of three finalists for the promotion after the interviews, scheduled for 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on the mezzanine of the Tamalpais High School student center.

James H. O'Conner, currently a Redwood High counselor will be interviewed Wednesday; Anthony Compagno, interim assistant principal at Redwood, on Thursday, and Maria Van Buskirk, a teacher, on Friday.

Good Condition After Accident

Two Marin County men were reported in good condition today at Kaiser Foundation Hospital. They were injured in a motorcycle accident Saturday evening.

Mark Anan, 17, of 108 Birch Road in San Rafael was admitted to Kaiser with multiple lacerations. Michael Tachet, 23, of 2130 Redwood Highway, Corte Madera suffered two broken arms.

According to Larkspur Police, Tachet's motorcycle was rounding a curve near his home and drifted into the rear of a trailer being towed by Francis Watson of Martinas Lake, Arizona. Both men were thrown from the motorcycle, police said.

Field Trip Policy Will Be Considered

The Lagunitas School District board will consider a field trip policy in which parents will give blanket permission for all trips at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at San Geronimo Valley Elementary School.

Trustees will also discuss the opening of school and a teacher intern program at the University of Massachusetts.

Firemen Give To Heart Fund

The Novato Professional Firemen's Association last week donated $200 to the Marin County Heart Association.

The gift was made "in view of the incidence of heart attack among firemen," according to John Rentz of the association.

The donation was earmarked for research into heart risk among professions where work is performed under stress, Rentz said.

The money was raised during a circus in Novato.

Winners Announced For Art Show

Susanita P. Chipman won best in show in the art show Friday and Saturday in Gerner Park, Novato, sponsored by the North Bay Artists, according to Herta Rothschild, publicity chairman.

Some Novato Phone Trouble

A portion of customers of the 897 exchange of Western California Telephone Co. in Novato did not receive incoming calls this morning because their telephones would not ring, according to manager Gordon Lee.

The first of nine complaints came in at 7 a.m. and the company had the trouble corrected by 7:30 a.m., Lee said.

The mechanical failure stopped telephones from ringing, but did not affect outgoing calls on these telephones, he said.

Three Building Plans On Agenda

The Belvedere City Council will once again consider three applications for use permits to build on three substandard lots whose owners own contiguous property, at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

The issue was aired Aug. 21 when the council met with the city's planning commission to discuss the question, but reached no conclusion.

20-Year-Old Is Arrested For Robbery

Leonard Franklin Pyles was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Pyle is believed by police to be one of four persons who robbed a 79-year-old invalid in his San Rafael home on July 11, according to San Rafael police.

Ralph D. Hoy, a television repairman confined to a wheelchair, was robbed of $242 in cash, a check and credit cards by four assailants who held a toy gun to his head, according to police. Paul Brent Caldwell, 25, of Sonoma, and Danny Ray Pyles, 23, of San Rafael, are to be tried the week of Oct. 24 in Marin Superior Court on suspicion of robbery and conspiracy in connection with the case.

A 13-year-old boy believed to be one of the four was turned over to juvenile authorities in August.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Marion Silva Succumbs At 60

Requiem Mass for Marion Ann Silva, wife of former Novato Mayor M. E. (Babe) Silva will be celebrated at 10 a.m., Wednesday at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato.

Mrs. Silva, 60, died Saturday in a local hospital after a long battle with cancer.

She was born and reared in Petaluma. She and Silva were married in 1934. They lived in San Francisco and Petaluma until they built their Novato home in 1950 at 837 Sweetser Avenue where they have lived ever since.

Her husband was a member of the first Novato City Council and served as mayor from 1962 to 1964 and again as a councilman from 1966 to 1970.

She was a member of Our Lady of Loretto Church, charter member of Catholic Daughters of America, president of Altar Society Legion of Mary, Ladies Auxiliary of Novato Volunteer Fire Department, Acacia Club and Novato Senior Citizens.

MARION ANN SILVA
Mass set Wednesday

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Michael Joseph Silva and Frank Robert Silva, both of Novato; her mother, Delia Hoppe of Novato; a sister, Josephine Baccaglio of Novato and one grandchild.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel of Marin, Novato. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to Our Lady of Loretto or St. Anthony's churches of Novato would be preferred by the family.

STANTON CREIGHTON

Funeral for photographer Stanton R. Creighton, brother of Jack J. Creighton of Mill Valley, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Godeau Funeral Home, San Francisco.

Creighton died Saturday of acute leukemia after a brief illness. He was 61.

Born in Mill Valley, Creighton was a son of the late Ralph Creighton, West Coast manager for Associated Press.

Creighton received a civil engineering degree from Stanford University in the mid-1930s, but turned to photography as a career because engineering jobs were scarce in Depression days.

He was a cameraman for Associated Press, became a Navy photographer during World War II and operated his own studio in Hollywood, doing publicity stills for movies, until joining the San Francisco Chronicle eight years ago. He was a member of the San Francisco-Oakland Newspaper Guild, the Presidio Golf and Country Club and the Alpine Hills Tennis and Swimming Club of Portola Valley.

He also is survived by his wife Virginia of the home in San Francisco; a son, Barry, of San Francisco; three daughters, Jill Creighton and Tonia Bush of San Francisco and Gayle O'Shea of Concord; another brother, Clifford Creighton of Los Angeles and eight grandchildren.

Burial will be in the San Francisco National Cemetery at the Presidio.

L.B. SANDERS

Funeral for Lloyd B. Sanders of San Rafael will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Salas Brothers Funeral Chapel in Modesto.

Sanders was fatally injured Friday evening in San Rafael when his motorcycle and an automobile collided.

A native of Modesto, he had lived in San Rafael for two years, and was a member of Barbers Union Local 582 of San Rafael. He was 29.

He is survived by his wife, Louise of San Rafael; his parents, Edgar and Sandra Boucher of Modesto; a sister, Patricia Ashlock of Lompoc, Santa Barbara County; and two brothers, Ralph Robinson of Tracy and Harvey Sandersof Riverbank, Stanislaus County.

Burial will be in Lakewood Memorial Cemetery, Modesto.

JOHN GEHRING

John Gehring, 60, a Hamilton Air Force Base employee, died today at a local hospital after a brief illness.

Gehring, a native of New York, had lived in Petaluma for 31 years. He served in the Air Force for eight years, and had been a civilian employee at Hamilton Air Force Base for 23 years.

Gehring was a member of the First Baptist Church of Petaluma and lived at 416 Seventh Street.

He is survived by his wife, Alma; a son, Mark Gehring of Redwood Valley, Mendocino County; a daughter, Mrs. Charles Kenyon of Lee, Mass.; four sisters, Inez Sadler and Olive Gehring of Lafayette, La., Gertrude Horton of Shreveport, La. and Clara Gehring of St. Louis, Mo.; a brother, Francis Gehring of McComb, Miss.; and a grandchild.

WALTER ANDREWS

Walter J. Andrews, 63, a Petaluma butcher, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

He was a lifelong Petaluma resident and had worked as a butcher all his adult life in markets in Petaluma and Marin County. Andrews lived at 415 E Street.

He is survived by a brother, Robert H. Maggetti, and a sister, Annette Heyward, both of Petaluma.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent De Paul Church, Petaluma, followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery. Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

LEO HOSFORD

Funeral for Dr. Leo W. Hosford, founder of the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science, will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Godeau Funeral Home, 41 Van Ness Avenue, in San Francisco.

Dr. Hosford, who was 75, died Saturday morning of a heart attack suffered in his home at 8 La Crescenta Way in San Rafael.

Born in Utah, he lived in Marin County 19 years.

Dr. Hosford, a chiropractor, first operated a chiropractic college on Sutter Street in San Francisco until the late 1930s when he changed it to a school of mortuary science.

He ran the college until his retirement in 1962. Under his leadership, it became the first to receive national accreditation.

After he stepped down as president, Dr. Hosford embarked on a world tour filming the burial rites of other cultures. Accompanied by his wife, Byrel, the project took him to the Philippines, Australia, New Guinea, India, and Africa.

A hip ailment he contracted in 1970 forced him to give up the project.

Dr. Hosford was also known in Marin County as an antique car buff and once spent 18 months rebuilding a 1919 fire truck which he later donated to the town of Klamath.

He was a member of Argonaut-Argone Lodge No. 461, Free and Accepted Order of Masons.

MARIO J. CASTELLON

Funeral for Mario J. Castellon, San Rafael dance studio instruction, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Castellon was found dead by a housekeeper Saturday in his apartment at 123 Canal Street. Cause of death was still under investigation today by the Marin County coroner's office.

Castellon had lived in Marin County for four years, after coming to California as an instructor for Arthur Murray studios 12 years ago. He was a native of Nicaragua. He was 33.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trinidad Castellon and a sister, Ena Gordillo, all of Nicaragua, and two brothers, Lionel and Ulises Castellon of San Francisco.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Monday in the Chapel of the Hills. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

RICHARD CLEARY

Funeral and burial for Richard Cleary, father of Jean Schmidt of Novato, will be tomorrow in Woodside, N.Y.

Cleary, 84, died Saturday in Novato where he had been visiting his daughter at 299 San Luis Way for the past six weeks. He had a history of emphysema, according to deputy coroner Donald L. Cornish.

He was born and lived all his life in New York. He was a retired mortuary employee.

In addition to his daughter Mrs. Schmidt, he is survived by a son, Richard Cleary; three daughters, Mary Giery, Dorothy McGowan and Catherine O'Neil, all of New York and 11 grandchildren.

JOHN STROZDAS

John S. Strozdas of Sioux City, Iowa, died yesterday in Novato, apparently of a heart attack, according to deputy coroner Bill J. Thomas.

Srozdas, 61, arrived in Novato Saturday to visit his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McDonald of 415 Fairway Drive, Novato.

He was a native and resident of Iowa. He was employed as a bakery salesman there.

He is also survived by his wife, Jeanette.

Funeral and burial will be tomorrow in Sioux City, Iowa.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
by JUNE EMBURY

That great nutritionist, Carleton Fredericks, recently illustrated the need for improved eating habits by quoting a former member of the A.M.A. Council on Foods. This official described how civilized diets suffer by comparison to those of primitive peoples. He cited the Navajo Indian as an example. In contrast to many Indian groups, he has retained his vigor, despite the disadvantage of living near the white man. The Navajo consumes all parts of the sheep or goat he slaughters and eats the organs first. But in our culture, the most nutritious part, the organ meats, are rejected by consumers and go to making fertilizers and feed.
Doctor Fredericks then described the availability of the supplement containing organ substance. We are proud to have just such items on our shelves. The one called MALABAR is prepared from 100% pure beef organ meats. Next week's column: more about MALABAR.

Four Hurt In Highway Accidents

One person was hospitalized and three others injured in two separate accidents Saturday afternoon, according to California Highway Patrol.

Natale Barsotti, 78, of San Francisco, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut forehead.

A passenger, Denise Di Pasqua, 16, of 5 Oak Park Drive, Novato, was treated for facial cuts, according to hospital reports.

Susan Joy Swan, 24, of Piedmont was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital with a broken pelvis and cuts received in another accident the hospital authorities reported.

Patrolmen reported that at 2:45 p.m. in the northbound lane of Highway 101 near the Rodeo Avenue exit, a mattress fell off a truck driven by Richard Texeira, 45, of Oakland. Barsott stopped his car as did Allan Ka-Pang Lee, 32, of San Francisco. Their cars were hit by one driven by Gary Maurice Ittig, 20, of San Francisco.

At 3:20 p.m. Saturday, Stoll was driving eastbound on Highway 37 east of the Petaluma River when his car hit the gravel at the side of the road, skidded across the eastbound lane and overturned in the center divider, patrolmen reported.

Taxi Driver Robbed Of Cash, Car

After riding in a taxi from the San Francisco bus depot to Mill Valley today, a passenger pulled a gun on the cab driver, stole about $60 and drove off with the cab.

The cab driver, Kevin D. O'Connell, of San Francisco, said he was forced at gunpoint to turn over all his money near 146 Elm Street at about 1:45 a.m.

A second passenger in the cab, who said he did not know his traveling companion, told police he had been dropped off at his home at 175 Elm Street, just before the holdup.

The man, Charles Dolson, 21, said he saw his traveling companion draw a gun on the 24-year-old cab driver just after Dolson got out of the car. Dolson fled and reported the holdup to the Mill Valley police.

According to police, Dolson said he had been offered a free ride home by a man, about 30 years old, whom he had just met in a San Francisco restaurant.

A few hours after the robbery, the California Highway Patrol discovered the Red and White Cab Co. car over an embankment on Shoreline Highway, between Muir Beach and Stinson Beach.

$28,000 Theft Case Bound Over

The Tiburon man charged with burglary and grand theft in connection with the theft of $28,000 from a motel room has been bound over to Marin Superior Court for trial.

The 34-year-old Hodge turned himself in to Federal bureau of Investigation agents in Indianapolis, Ind., on Aug. 14, reportedly following an unsuccessful attempt to leave the country, and was returned to Marin to face the charges.

He is charged with stealing a briefcase containing the money from the room of Lee Carbone of Napa at the Tiburon Lodge after dining with the man and his wife in Tiburon on Aug. 3.

Hodge also faces charges in Indiana, where he is accused of arranging a fire at an Ohio warehouse in order to collect $420,000 in insurance.

California Gets $20.7 Million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Thirty-nine counties have received a total of $20.7 million as their share of the 1971-72 revenues from U.S. forest reserves.

State Controller Houston Flournoy announced Sunday that the amount is $9.48 million more than the total for the previous year.

The $20.7 million represents 25 per cent of the federal revenues received from forest reserves in California during the fiscal year ending last June 30.

Plumas County received the largest amount, $2.9 million, followed by Trinity, $2.7 million, and Siskiyou, $2.68 million.

Art Exhibit

Marin County artist Emily Burns is currently showing seascapes and landscapes at the Bank of America Center in San Francisco. The exhibit will run through Sept. 30.

Workshops Set; Subject — Aged

Three workshops on the problems of the aged will be held at the Whistlestop, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, from 7:45 to 10 p.m. on three Tuesdays starting Sept. 26.

The workshops are sponsored by Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin County Chapter, American Red Cross; and Elizabeth Moody, coordinator of volunteer services for the Marin County Department of Public Social Services.

Persons who wish to register for the workshops may notify Mrs. Moody at the Marin County Civic Center.

Jewelry Taken

Rings and watches of undetermined value were taken from a display case at Harnell's Jewelers, 615 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, by thief who smashed a window at 2:15 a.m. today, police reported.

Kirchanski Due DAR Honors

JAMES W. KIRCHANSKI
Immigrant of the year

The Daughters of the American Revolution's national "Immigrant of the Year" award will be presented Sept. 28 to James W. Kirchanski, San Rafael educator.

The award is given annually to the immigrant citizen chosen by a DAR selection committee as having "done most to advance American ideals."

Kirchanski, who heads Three-R and Jameson Hall Schools in San Rafael, San Leandro and Santa Rosa, was proposed for the award by Sequoia Chapter of DAR in San Francisco. He was chosen for the devotion to American ideals characterizing his educational philosophy.

The presentation will be at a noon luncheon at the Hyatt House in Oakland.

Kirchanski was brought to the United States from his native Yugoslavia as an 8-month-old infant in October 1920. He and his Serbian parents returned to their native country in 1932, but again immigrated to the U. S. a year and one-half later.

Kirchanski says that the contrast between what he had experienced growing up in America and the repression under King Alexander in the Yugoslavia of 1932 imbued him with his appreciation of the superiority of American freedom.

He served as an Army paratrooper in the South Pacific during World War II, and after the war studied for his B.A. degree at Wayne State University in Ohio. Later he took postgraduate work at University of California.

He started teaching in public elementary schools in 1950 in Soledad, and spent two years in the Sausalito schools in 1952-54 leaving to establish the first Three-R School in San Rafael.

Teacher Walkouts Extend Vacations

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

School bells rang today in New York City and Kansas City, Mo., where labor disputes apparently had been settled, but walkouts elsewhere extended the summer vacations of half a million students at least one more day.

The continuing disputes affected school districts in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Nevada, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. The state hardest hit was Pennsylvania, where teacher walkouts in 28 districts, including Philadelphia, affected close to 400,000 students.

In New York City, the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) told its 60,000 members to report for work as a token of "good faith" even though they have not yet formally approved a new three-year contract.

The UFT said a vote on the contract has been put off "at least until Tuesday" because of problems in putting the contract into formal language and distributing copies to teachers.

In Kansas City, some 700 maintenance workers and custodians voted Sunday to end a strike which had forced city schools to close last Thursday. Terms of their union's agreement with schoot authorities were not announced immediately.

In Philadelphia, negotiators for the school district and the teachers' union were meeting today to try again to settle the city's second school strike in three years.

Negotiations between striking teachers and school officials in Rockford, Ill., second largest district in the state, were interrupted Friday when board members walked out Friday, but were resumed Saturday. Some 2,300 teachers are on strike, affecting 45,000 pupils.

In Las Vegas, Nev., no new action in a court battle over busing was expected until Tuesday. Fifty-two elementary schools serving 30,000 youngsters were shut down when a state court halted a federal ruling ordering busing for racial integration. Officials say the schools will stay closed until a decision is reached in federal court.

Arguments on a court order against teachers' strikes in seven Rhode Island communities will be heard Monday in state Supreme Court. Teachers and school officials appeared to be waiting for a ruling before making further decisions.

Gunmen Kill Police Chief Of Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (UPI) —One or more gunmen broke into the north shore home of Bermuda Police Chief George Duckett Saturday night, shot him to death and wounded his 17-year-old daughter, police said Sunday.

There was no known motive for the killing, spokesmen said. They said it had not been determined what weapon or weapons were used or whether there was more than one gunman. Officials said Scotland Yard was sending two investigators from London to enter the case since Bermuda is British.

Police said Duckett, 41, heard a noise at the back of his house and went to investigate. Gunfire rang out and his daughter, Marcia, ran to the kitchen, where her father lay on the floor. The girl was struck by a bullet moments later. She was reported in satisfactory condition Sunday in King Edward VII Memorial Hospital.

Soon after the shooting, police set up roadblocks around Duckett's home, located in what investigators described as a bleak and lonely area on Hamilton's north shore.

Police said Duckett's wife, Sheena, was in the house at the time of the shooting but was unharmed. She phoned police shortly afterwards.

Addicts Dropped From Welfare

NEW YORK (UPI)—About 1,000 drug addicts have been notified that the city has removed them from welfare rolls, an action prompted by the Department of Social Services' crackdown on welfare fraud.

The move affects addicts registered at three treatment centers who failed to reply to a department letter requesting information on where they received drug treatment.

Human Resources Administrator Jule Sugarman noted that a new welfare requirement provides that addicts receiving public assistance must be enrolled in approved rehabilitation programs. He said only 363 drug abusers of 1,338 in the three centers answered the letters requesting treatment information.

U.S. Hits New North Targets

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jet fighter-bombers Sunday blasted a strategic bridge in North Vietnam and hit targets never before attacked in the current bombing campaign, U.S. spokesmen said today. One jet was shot down and the pilot is missing.

In South Vietnam, 45 Americans were injured Sunday when a stack of 200 South Vietnamese Air Force bombs blew up at the Bien Hoa airbase, 14 miles northeast of Saigon. The incident was initially reported as a rocket attack that wounded 29 Americans, but the the U.S. command in an updated report today said additional Americans were wounded and it was believed to have been an accident or the work of Communist infiltrators.

Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed in the explosion, spokesmen said, and 20 wounded. The blast also destroyed four South Vietnamese Army tanks and "heavily damaged" a U.S. Air Force AC119 Stinger warplane. Spokesmen said some of the American casualties were caused by flying bomb fragments while others occurred during the scramble to find cover.

In South Vietnam, military officials said two new operations have been launched in the Central Highlands about 250 miles north of Saigon involving nearly 10,000 government troops. One of the drives is against a division of North Vietnamese infantrymen.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, government troops Sunday abandoned Tien Phuoc, a district capital vital to the defenses of Da Nang, in what field officers said was a "justified" retreat.

The U.S. command said pilots flew 320 raids into North Vietnam Sunday, the most in nearly a month. Spokesmen said a Navy A7 Corsair was shot down 14 miles southwest of Hanoi, the 1,019th U.S. plane lost over the North since the air war began more than eight years ago. The pilot was listed as missing.

Mrs. Cleaver Reported 'Set Up' For An Ambush

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Kathleen Cleaver, wife of Algerian-based Black Panther party leader Eldridge Cleaver, was "set up" for an ambush recently, but the attempt failed, according to the San Francisco Examiner.

The newspaper reported Sunday that Mrs. Cleaver, accompanied by two male bodyguards, entered the darkened basement of a Mission Street apartment house while it was being searched by police who had found some stolen clothing there.

"There is little doubt that it was a set-up ambush in which someone hoped the three would be shot down by police ..." Chief of Detectives Charles Barca was quoted as saying.

"We know Mrs. Cleaver is not in the hot clothes racket and was not there for that purpose. The clothes were nothing more than bait to put police on the scene when she returned to the building."

The Examiner said the incident occurred on the night of Aug. 25. Police following up an anonymous tip were examining the stolen clothing when a car drove up. The officers snapped off their flashlights and hid.

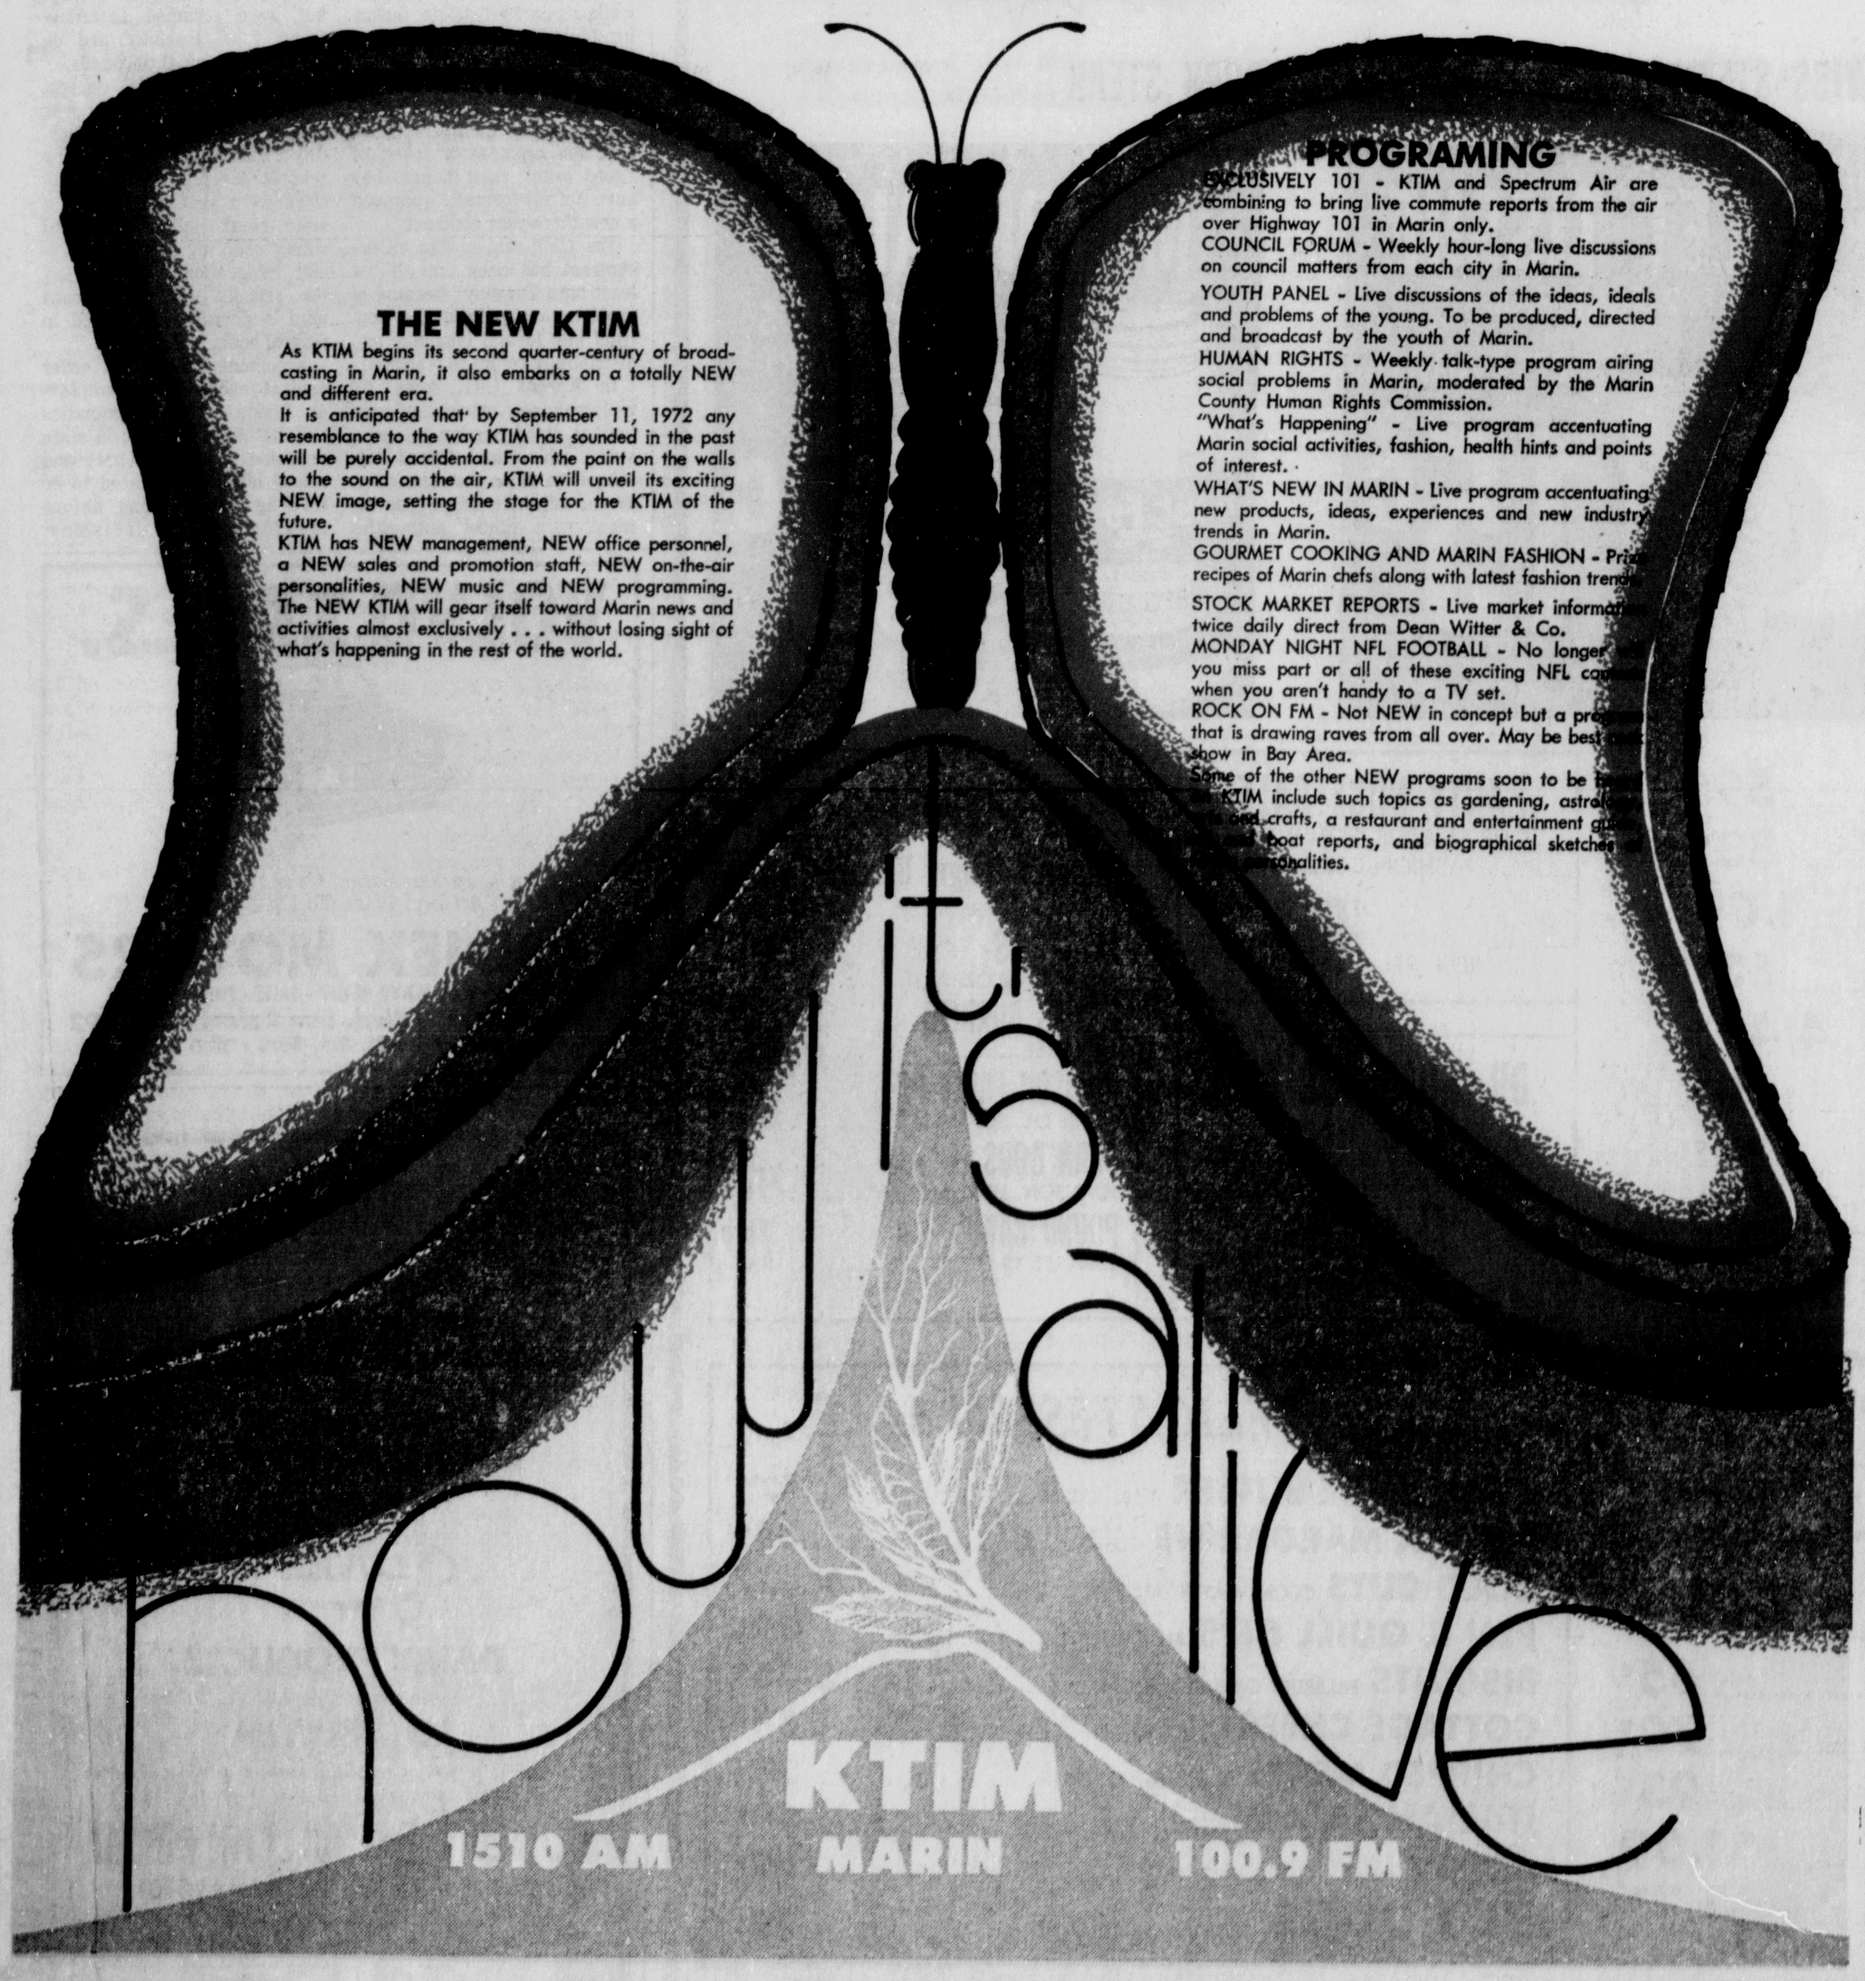
When two men and a woman emerged from the car and entered the basement, Sgt. Thomas O'Donnell turned his flashlight on and ordered them to "freeze."

The woman was later identified as Mrs. Cleaver and the men as John W. Washington, 27, and Roland Freeman, both of Los Angeles. Both men have police records.

Nixon Gets Support

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The 125,000-member Ohio Polish-American Congress has endorsed President Nixon for reelection, the first Republican to get its support in its 28-year history.

THE WAITING IS OVER



THE NEW KTIM

As KTIM begins its second quarter-century of broadcasting in Marin, it also embarks on a totally NEW and different era.

It is anticipated that by September 11, 1972 any resemblance to the way KTIM has sounded in the past will be purely accidental. From the paint on the walls to the sound on the air, KTIM will unveil its exciting NEW image, setting the stage for the KTIM of the future.

KTIM has NEW management, NEW office personnel, a NEW sales and promotion staff, NEW on-the-air personalities, NEW music and NEW programming. The NEW KTIM will gear itself toward Marin news and activities almost exclusively . . . without losing sight of what's happening in the rest of the world.

PROGRAMING

Boyd Museum Sets Net Tourney For This Weekend And Next

A tennis tournament will be given this weekend and the following weekend by the Mill Valley Guild of the Boyd Marin Museum of Science to benefit the museum.

This Friday and on Sept. 22, play will be at the Albert Park tennis courts in San Rafael. Saturdays and Sundays, Sept. 16, 17, and 23 and 24, the tournament will continue at San Rafael High School tennis courts.

Men's doubles, women's doubles and mixed doubles will be played. Entry forms can be obtained from Mrs. E. Joseph Bowler of Mill Valley or by writing the Boyd Tennis Tournament, P.O. Box 12, Mill Valley. The entry fees will go to the museum benefit. Refreshments and lunches are being prepared by the committee.

A kick-off wine tasting party will be given Thursday 14 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the museum in San Rafael. A highlight of the wine tasting party will be a fashion show previewing 1973 tennis styles. Guild members will model.

In charge of the wine tasting party are Mrs. Bowler and Mrs. Benjamin.

THE AUXILIARY of the San Francisco Suicide Prevention Center will have a benefit salad buffet and fashion show on Thursday at the William Symons home in Kentfield.

Models from Marin will include Mmes. Walter K. Dods of San Rafael, John Dreyfous of Belvedere, and Eugene D. Fox and Lee M. Gammill of Mill Valley. Mrs. Robert Quinlan of San Francisco (Kathee Murdock), formerly of Marin, will also model.

The luncheon is scheduled for noon.

THE PETALUMA Newcomers Club will hold its last summer coffee in McNear Park, at F and 11th Streets, on Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon. Plans for a pizza luncheon later in the month and other events will be discussed.

Vows Said By Novatans In Church

Katherine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Skinner, and John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Harris, all of Novato. Sandy Ann Skinner was maid of honor for her sister.

Glen Freedlander of Novato was best man and ushers were Barry and Brian Greer of Woodacre and Eric Nelson of Cotati.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Afterward the couple went on a wedding trip to Mt. Lassen. They will live in Novato.

The bride was graduated from San Marin High School and is also the sister of David and Franny Skinner. Mrs. Frances Beatty of San Francisco is her local grandmother.

The bridegroom was graduated from Novato High School and is assistant manager at W. T. Grant Co. in Novato. He is the brother of Mrs. Stanley Greer of Woodacre, Mrs. Leo Brady of Larkspur, Mrs. Gilbert Nelson of Cotati and Mrs. Edward Kothgassner of San Rafael.

KTIM Has New Show Wednesday

A new weekly half-hour radio show, "What's Happening," will debut on station KTIM at 9 a.m. Wednesday, featuring a variety of Marin interviews. Hosting the show will be Jorie Parr of San Rafael, who previously was host of "Note from a Bicycle" on KTIM.

Mrs. Parr's guests for the show Wednesday will be Kay Ksanda of Terra Linda, who will present a fall astrological forecast, and Jackie Kudler of Sausalito, who will discuss the new North Bay School and Indian summer menu ideas.

The weekly show will include Marin fashion and dining ideas, decorating, health, beauty and pop trends and lifestyles, with a variety of entertaining and knowledgeable guests.

Mrs. Parr has been in the communications field for 20 years and has been chief copy writer for Jantzen sportswear, public relations agent for the Golden Nugget in Las Vegas, and continuity director for KTIM.

San Rafael Girl Is Wed At Seminary

Carol Davidson of San Rafael and John Buehler of Santa Clara were married Saturday in a ceremony at Stewart Chapel at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Buehler of Portland, Ore.; and Dr. John A. Buehler of Kentfield. Betsy Buehler of Portland is his sister.

The bride's sister, Barbara Davidson, was maid of honor, and Fred Buehler of Los Angeles was best man for his brother. The bride's brother, Larry Davidson, and Paul Wilson were ushers.

Following a wedding trip to Mendocino the couple will live in Santa Clara.

Carol and John are both graduates of San Rafael High School and the University of California at Santa Cruz. John is employed by the Santa Clara County Department of Public Social Services.

Child Can Aid In Decorating

NEW YORK (UPI) — Redecorating a child's room? Let child help. The more a child has to do with the way his or her room looks, the better care he will take of it.

When everything is finished, and the child moves into a brightly-decorated room, take advantage. Post a cleaning schedule, explaining that he can keep the room clean by himself with just a little help.

On the schedule list daily chores, such as bedmaking and clutter-cleaning. For Saturday morning, put down dusting and vacuuming. Then — cross your fingers and hope the new system works.

Mobile Home Is Answer For Professional Golfer

Susie Maxwell Berning of Lake Tahoe has figured out a way to continue her eight year professional golf career and still spend as much time as she can with her family.

Following the Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament around the country is a gypsy existence. But Sue and her husband Dale simply pack up 18 month-old Robin and a babysitter in their mobile home and head for the action.

"YOU HAVEN'T lived until you've driven down a highway sitting in a bathtub with a cool drink in your hand," said the winner of her second U.S. Open title with a laugh.

The bus is 100 per cent self-sufficient, equipped with a TV, refrigerator, stove and air-conditioning. She estimates that having the bus saves the family $60 a day in living-on-the-road expenses and it prevents Dale from being a golf widow.

When she competes next, she'll also be trying to earn points toward the $20,000 Eve Challenge Cup fund which will be divided among the top five point earners at the end of the season.

Playing with a family on hand has both its advantages and disadvantages.

"I USED to bring my game home with me a lot more when I was single," Susie says. "Now I am anxious to get back to see the baby. The bus is not a motel though, so I also have to concern myself with household chores. Perhaps I could use more concentration on what goes on around the golf course."

Susie, 30 years old, is an eight time winner on the tour. Her biggest victory, the U.S. Open championship in 1968, came shortly after she married Dale. Dale, an Xavier University graduate who is in the real estate business in Lake Tahoe, met his wife at a tournament in Cincinnati.

"My brother said, 'Let's go out and watch the girls play,'" Dale recalled. "I canceled my golf date and went with him. I talked to Susie some after the tournament. I called her two months later and we got together."

Their courtship was usually at a distance. Dale lived in San Francisco and Susie was on the road with the tour.

"We both had an average phone bill of $125 to $150 a month. It was ridiculous. We dated for a year and a half before we got married."

"Before teeing off every day Dale gave me my morning medicine," she explained, "that of telling me how great I was playing and I should beat everybody in sight, etcetera. You know, when someone tells you that as often as he did, it sure doesn't hurt your ego, and eventually some of it rubs off on you. Nothing breeds good golf like confidence."

The 5'3½", 120-pound golfer had a two-stroke lead going into the final round. "After nine holes I was one under par, but heard that Mickey Wright was making her charge and really burning up the course," Susie recalled. "On the 11th hole, things were awfully tense and I heard Dale calling from across the other fairway. I ran all the way over to him expecting to hear that Mickey had the lead. Instead he whispered 'I love you,' and smiled. I had to run all the way back to keep from being penalized for holding up play. But that relaxed me and I managed to hold on for the title."

SHE HAD added incentives to try to regain her golf form this year. Not only is the LPGA tour reaching the million dollar mark, but the Eve Challenge Cup has been increased to $20,000 with the top five point earners dividing the fund.

Since traveling the tour together, the Bernings have become a very superstitious couple. For awhile they tried to dress in matching outfits. Also, they've decided that Susie plays better golf with no breakfast. Any deviation from this eating schedule with a following bad round leaves Dale shaking his head and muttering, "Two eggs and bacon!"

Dale even has to stand in different spots to watch Susie play. If he is standing by a particular tree, for instance, when his wife makes a bad shot, he remembers not to stand near that same tree the next day. It is also bad luck for him to throw away a cigar just before Susie hits; if he forgets, the gallery is treated to the unusual sight of a guy scrambling to pick up a discarded cigar before the next shot.

WATCHING THE women's golf tour for the past couple of years has given Dale much respect for the LPGA brand f golf.

"People look at the paper and see that a woman wins a tournament with a 71 while a man wins with 67," Dale says. "They don't understand the reason for the higher scores. What they don't realize is that the women are playing on courses designed for men. The only difference between the two games is muscle. Once off the tee, the women play just as good as the men all the way around."

Teens Like Them

The rolled-up slacks, revived from the forties, are going over with contemporary teen-agers. It's a totally new look for them, of course. The same for the wild socks that go on view when the pant legs are hiked.

A PRACTICE tee-off keeps Susie Berning in the top form with which she won the U.S. Open twice. She has been on the professional tour for eight years.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

I Was Bored With My Job, So . . .

By PEACE MOFFAT

NEW YORK (AP) — On June 12, 1971, Nicolette Milnes Walker climbed into her 30-foot sloop and set sail — alone — from the southwest tip of Wales. On July 26, 45 days and 3,500 miles later, she brought her boat to port in Newport, R.I., and became the first woman to sail nonstop across the Atlantic Ocean.

What kind of woman would want to do a thing like that — endure the known physical and the unknown emotional hazards of facing the Atlantic alone on a small boat? and Why?

"I really do think the reason I took this trip is that I was darned bored with my job, and I had to have a good reason to hand in my resignation," says Miss Walker, a petite 28-year-old woman. Here to promote the book she wrote about her trip, "When I Put Out to Sea," she went on:

"I HAD BEEN working in the city, had a lot of evenings at home, and started thinking about this trip. Before I knew it, I was making lists of what was needed and I had the thing organized."

Miss Walker's serious sailing experience had begun the previous year on a trip to the Azores with two friends. Later, at a boat show in London, she began thinking of what kind of sailboat she would need, and within several days had made a definite decision to go.

The fourth daughter of a surgeon, Miss Walker says she always had a need for attention and admits, "this might have been a hang-over."

In addition, Miss Walker says she thinks there is "something in the English character that likes to do things alone — there's not that much scope for adventure on the island.

"Before I left on this trip," she goes on, "my parents gave me no cause to worry about their worrying about me. I was amazed. Then, when I landed in America they had flown over to meet me. It was a brave thing for them to do — how long would they have stayed waiting?"

MISS WALKER says her greatest fear during the trip was of a disaster, such as falling overboard, or getting run down by a large ship. And she says the two strongest emotions she endured were fear — "an underlying fear all the time" —and boredom. "The last was the one thing I hadn't anticipated," she says. "For the first time in my life I got bored with reading books. The radio just kept going over the same old news, but at least I was picking up the radio from all over. I was in no country."

She says she slept when it was dark, was awake when it was light, and to help pass the time "nibbled all day," and worked on the boat. She spent much of her time on deck naked. "The water was often warmer than the air," she explains, "and you could dry off straight away. But I always had on a safety harness to keep from falling overboard. It would have made a funny Playboy photograph."

The noise from the sea and the boat were surprising, Miss Walker says. "There's always a slapping, and with bad weather, the whole boat shakes, and the water goes 'boom'."

TIME AND space were sometimes distorted, this blonde sailor also reports. "I was always aware of what time it was for navigational purposes," she says, "but I had no sense of time happening —of time passing.

"I also felt I was in a small environment. The world of the Atlantic is quite a small world. There's about a six-mile horizon — with just the sea — blue, green and always a swell. I would look back and not be able to believe I had gone past 2,000 miles of ocean."

There were several severe storms during her trip, but not many times when Miss Walker says she thought she wasn't going to make it. "Those were only on occasions when I was in bad weather, and felt the boat might not last," she recalls.

AFTER HER voyage, Miss Walker, who was recently married, says she has a "lot more confidence and self-awareness. The trip was a bit like going through analysis," she says.

But asked if she would try her lone passage again, she replies, "No. But it is tempting. I wouldn't have the same motivation, though," she says. "I could always tell myself I had already done it once. And it would be bad to repeat this kind of public adventure.

"Besides — there are so many other things to do."

Don't Give Up On Marriage, And Be Grateful For Check

DEAR HELEN:

Frank and I were married two days and a half before he left for 'Nam. That was five months ago, and I am five months pregnant.

He came home on a 30-day leave but, after spending two weeks with me, he took off to spend the rest with his folks. He didn't offer to take me with him because they have done their best to split us up. They've told lies about me, said I "stole" their furniture (when actually the store repossessed it) and that because of me, they left town (they sneaked off to avoid bill collectors).

I don't know who Frank believes, but it looks like he's on their side. Don't you think a man's place is with his wife especially when he's only got a month in the States?

I love him, but if he's going to spend half his time with his folks, maybe it means he prefers their shiftless ways. Should I just give up? — MARRIED TO A MAMA'S BOY

DEAR MTMB:

Don't give up until you've given marriage more than a two and one-half days, plus two weeks' trial. When Frank comes home for good you'll soon know which "mama" he prefers (men DO grow up when they realize they are husbands-and-fathers). Meanwhile write to him every day — and be grateful for your allotment check. — H.

DEAR MRS. B.:

About the "man" who was sent to jail for draft dodging and got gang-raped: He's now back to jail (crime conveniently unmentioned by him) unless his lawyer can soften up the jury with a big sob story.

That's the trouble with our country. A coward won't fight for it so he gets what he deserves — but I'll bet a lot of weeping-Lenas write in about how prison ruins "peaceful" young men!

Instead of sticking to the sidelines with a neutral answer, Mrs. B., you should have reminded him that sneaking deserters have been SHOT in other wars! — NO TEARS FOR TRAITORS

DEAR NO:

Sorry, I'm not that vindictive. Nor am I that dedicated to a war we should never have fought.

What this young man's present crime rating is I don't know but of one thing I'm sure: he did not "deserve" gang-rape.

I can do without your brand of bloodthirsty "patriotism"! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Please tell me the effect powdered starch has on a person who eats it by the box.

My wife consumes a full one pound of washing starch every day. She says she craves it. I may be wrong but I have noticed a change in her skin complexion and size of stomach. — HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND:

"I've heard of "putting starch in your backbone" but this is ridiculous. Your wife's unusual craving should be checked out by a doctor. It may come from an imbalance in her system. — H.

Good News - Postal Increase Cancelled

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

Postmaster General E. T. Klassen found some good news to report in his speech to the 3,000 people in attendance. He announced that the proposed $450-million rate increase scheduled for next January had been cancelled.

He explained that a freeze on hiring and other cost-cutting steps had made the increase unnecessary.

So, for a few months at least, mail users will be able to get deteriorating service for the same price rather than at higher rates. But mail experts are generally in agreement that the cost of stamps will have to increase at least by next spring.

AS REASONS, they cite the fact that labor contracts expire next July, with inevitable wage increases to follow. Rising costs of mechanization will add further pressure on rates.

In the meantime, according to Klassen, the 14-month-old Postal Service is providing better service with fewer employees.

"Right now, in most locations," he told the Postal Forum, "we are delivering 95 per cent of local mail, addressed to local destinations, on a next-day basis."

To most consumers, that statement might sound more like a dream than a fact. But closer analysis shows that Klassen is not claiming much. For the word "most" can mean only 51 per cent.

Klassen also sounded a positive note about airmail when he said, "We have in operation a service standard that calls for next-day delivery to designated cities within 600 miles, and in some instances much greater distances, if the airmail is in our hands by 4 p.m. For all other points, our target is delivery no later than second day."

With these words, Klassen was merely reciting a standard long sought but not yet reached by the Postal Service or its predecessor, the Post Office Department.

THE MOST that Klassen claimed was a "real improvement," as indicated by spot checks on delivery times.

He said, "We are capable of achieving a 95 per cent reliability rate."

Tests show that delivery sometimes meets or surpasses these goals. But nobody knows where or when service will reach the standard. The one word used most frequently by postal authorities to describe the service is "inconsistent."

Even if Klassen is right in saying that 95 per cent of the mail meets a certain standard of delivery time, the chance of experiencing such a performance is not unlike the chance of being hit by lightning.

When delivery of mail is important, people do not want to take chances. They want reliability, and that is not consistently available today from the Postal Service. In recent years, delivery times have been increasing rather than decreasing, according to official surveys.

Parcel Post service has become so bad that half of the business has gone elsewhere to such outfits as United Parcel Service. Klassen admits that special delivery has been a "disgrace." He says a new system of "speedy bags" will correct the situation. Stamps themselves will soon be sold by mail, with payment by check, Klassen predicts.

San Rafael Man Weds Chico Girl

Caren Bonds of Chico was married on Saturday to Gary Frank Hanson of San Rafael in a ceremony at St. Raphael'sCatholic Church in San Rafael.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. John B. Bonds of Oakland, and the bridegroom is the son of the Frank Hansons of San Rafael.

Mrs. Carol Dickey of Chesapeake, Va., was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Francine Hanson of San Rafael, and Connie Plett of San Francisco were the bridesmaids. Darrell Ravoni served as best man.

Caren is a graduate of Piedmont High School and the University of California. She is employed in the law offices of Peter, Fuller and Bush in Chico. Her brothers are John Bonds of San Francisco, Paul Bonds of Panama and Scott Bonds of Daly City. Anna Stekall of Oakland is her local grandmother.

Gary was graduated from San Rafael High School and attends California State University, Chico. Elmer Hanson of San Rafael is his grandfather.

Following a wedding trip to the Monterey Peninsula the couple will live in Chico.

Carpeting May Be The Answer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Studies have shown children prefer carpeting to a hard-surface floor. Try indoor-outdoor carpeting.

It isn't as expensive as other carpeting, as a rule. It has the added feature: easily claned with soap or detergent suds.

Can Buy Less

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Association of University Professors reports purchasing power of American college and university faculty members, as measured by average salaries, decreased during the past year.

Chinese Clothes Have Good Quality

The quality of the Chinese ready-to-wear clothing beginning to reach U.S. shores is good, says Larry Horowitz, a chief importer of the Red Chinese goods.

"They are carefully made because they want a good image," he told Women's Wear Daily in Cincinnati. He added that the clothes coming in were manufactured for the Orient and that size conversion charts are being used. The jackets fit well, but some of the pants are quite narrow at the ankles.

Horowitz said he and a partner decided to try to import just the "people's cap" worn by the Chinese, but found that they could get the whole outfit. In eight months they have sold merchandise to top U.S. stores in the East and Midwest.

MORE MODEST — For families of more modest means, there are campers such as this one which are mounted on the backs of pickup trucks. (Christian Science Monitor photos)

SEEING THE U.S. — The Donald Anderson family of Saratoga, Ca., has been seeing the U.S. for the last four years in their Volkswagon camper.

CRAWLING THE WEST

Mobile Home Phenomenon

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BIG SUR, CALIF. — Many people call them "the great escape." Others claim they are the answer to the high cost of family vacation travel. Well-heeled retired folk say they love getting back to nature in mobile luxury.

Whatever the outburst of enthusiasm, motor homes, travel trailers, and campers have, this summer of '72, won the phenomenal support of travelers of all ages who like responding to the call of the wild, but hate roughing it. They prefer to carry their motel on board, and to cook with gas.

Here in the Big Sur, as we enjoy the last days of summer, we see these vehicles perched on seaside bluffs like birds spaced along a high wire ready for quick flight. We see them silhouetted against white sand dunes and nestled into redwood forests, with the whole fragrant outdoors as living room and playground.

The Donald H. Anderson family of Saratoga, Calif., picnics under the trees, and the children swim and explore trails. The Andersons have had a Volkswagen camper, which sleeps the couple and their two young daughters, for four years. They've made several cross-country trips in it and use it constantly or weekend trips to favorite spots.

"If we were traveling by car," Mrs. Anderson points out, "we'd be paying at least $20 a night for motels, plus meals in restaurants. This way, we never pay out more than $3 a night to park in a campground and we carry our own food and make our own meals."

"Weekendamping doesn't seem like work to me any more because it's fun. And certainly a camper gives flexibility to travel with children. We can stop when we need to, and the kids can play or sleep in the back while my husband and I alternate driving."

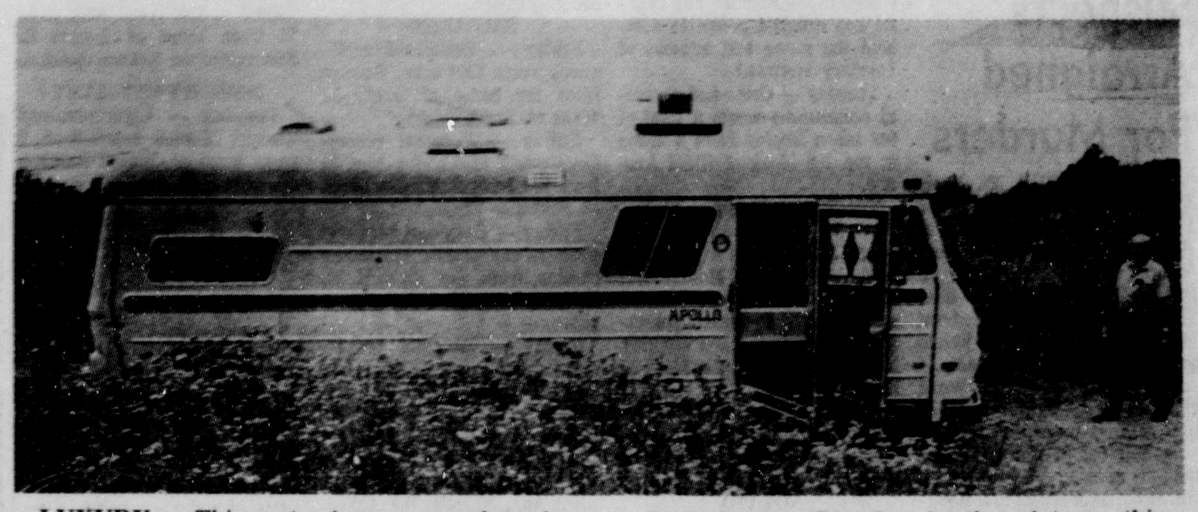
Then there is the semi-retired businessman from Yuma, Arizona, who has a deluxe $18,500 Apollo motor home in which he and his wife, and assorted friends and relatives, have traveled 25,000 miles around the West. This super conveyance has wall-to-wall carpeting, air conditioning, and is completely sefl-contained, meaning that it had, for four people, one week's supply of water, gas fuel for cooking and refrigeration, and sanitary disposal storage.

This jovial chap says they live "like royalty" and make waffles every morning for breakfast. As for costs, another couple recently joined him and his wife for two weeks of travel, and total costs for food, gas, tolls, etc. reckoned out at $5.05 per day per person. He gets only 7 miles to the gallon of gasoline, but doesn't consider this factor important. When he and his wife went calling on married children, he said, they rolled up with their own bedroom which was convenient too.

A young father with a second-hand camper fitted onto a Ford pickup truck told me he had been transferrej from Atlanta to California and so took three weeks to drive his wife and five children across the country, stopping at every national park and historic site along the way.



LUXURY — This motor home, named Apollo, is the last word in luxury on wheels. Parked near Big Sur in the picture, this Apollo sells for $18,500.

"This camper has cut us down to almost nothing in travel costs," he says, "which menas we've been able to spend more on sight-seeing."

According to the Recreational Vehicle Institute, retail sales volume in 1971 hit a record high of $1,629,483,000, a 41 percent increase over 1970. By 1978, this figure is expected to double to more than $3 billion. Motor homes are the fastest growing segment of the industry. They range in length from 15 to 35 feet, and from $5,000 to more than $20,000 in price.

One help to consumers was the 1971 removal of the 7 percent automobile excise tax from motor homes, and the repeal of the 10 percent excise tax on the light-duty trucks used in the construction of many motor homes.

Biggest problem of owning a motor home is shortage of storage facilities. Apartment dwellers often can't find parking for them. Many residential areas have restrictive ordinances prohibiting recreational-vehicle parking. Some big cities are now planning nearby recreational-vehicle parking lots where these land cruisers may be garaged, protected, maintained, and repaired.

There is also a shortage of campgrounds and parks. Overnight parking in a commercially operated campground ranges from $1.40 to $8 per night, with $1 extra for utilities hookup. In public campgrounds fees run from $1 to $3 per night.

A nationwide survey of 500 camping families made last year shows that the average age of a recreational-vehicle owner is 45. Average trip taken by working people involved 15 days and was more than 2,600 miles in length. Retired vehicle owners averaged 63 days away from home and 4,600 miles of travel.

Willy Brandt's Hope Has Been Shattered

By DAVID R. FRANCIS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

BONN, Germany — The tragedy at the Olympic games is the last of a series of incidents that observers here believe could tip the scales against Chancellor Willy Brandt in the expected general election later this year.

Mr. Brandt's government had hoped that a happy and successful Olympic games would be a feather in the cap of his government. That hope has been shattered.

What happened at the Olympics had prompted some to say that the tragic events of this week will strengthen those in Germany who advocate law and order.

The party most identified with law and order is the opposition party, the Christian Democratic Union. It holds about 50 per cent of the seats in the German Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament.

Mr. Brandt's Social Democratic Party and its partners in the governing coalition, the Free Democrats, hold the other half of the seats.

In hopes of winning a clear majority, Mr. Brandt had indicated he will call an election in late fall.

So far the opposition has not criticized the government's management of the Palestinian terrorist affair. Because the Bavarian government is a Christian Social Union government and the states in Germany are in charge of the police, it will be difficult for the opposition to attack the federal government on this score.

The morning after the tragedy the Bonn newspaper General Anzeiger said, "The world sorrows. Israeli hostages are dead."

It was a special edition handed out free in the streets of this capital city as its shocked citizens went to work.

The tragedy occurred too late for most early-sleeping Germans to have heard the news Tuesday night. They stood before the train station here with glum faces, reading the single page. The atmosphere was heavy.

"It is very bad," said a taxi driver. "But that it should happen in Germany is worse." After the first shock, the politicians here began wondering about the impact of the massacre on Germany's coming election.

"The government couldn't have done any more," said one young man, Volker Vormat. "It offered money. The Arabs refused.

"The former mayor of Munich and the police chief there offered themselves as substitutes for the hostages," he continued. "But that was refused, too."

Suspects Arraigned For Murders

CHRISTIANSTED, St. Croix V.I. (UPI)—Two suspects in the Fountain Valley golf course slaying of eight persons were ordered arraigned today, on this Virgin Islands resort where police, FBI agents and federal marshalls continued the jungle search for five other suspects.

The arrested men were charged with eight counts of first degree murder Saturday, with bail set at more than $1 million apiece. The suspects, Meral Orlando Smith and Beaumont Gereau, both St. Croix residents, were interned at Richmond jail when they could not post bail.

Bench warrants for the arrests of the five other suspects were issued Sunday by U.S. District Court Judge Warren Young, charging them with first degree murder.

Attorney General Ronal Tonkin said earlier five to seven masked gunmen were believed to be involved in the shootout, in which seven other persons were injured, during a robbery at the Rockefeller owned golf club.

Two of those injured were reported in good condition at Charles Harwood Hospital. The other five were treated and released Wednesday.

The search was concentrated in the heavy brush of the hills which border the golf course in the northwest corner of the island, according to Tonkin.

Tonkin and Virgin Islands Governor Melvin Evans warned St. Croix residents that the men being sought "are armed and should be considered dangerous."

The five men charged in the warrant were all believed to be natives of St. Croix.

Tonkin said they used nine-millimeter machine guns, a sawed off shotgun and several 45 caliber pistols in the attack.

A reward totalling $26,200 was offered for information leading to their arrests, with the Virgin Islands government putting up $5,000 and Laurance Rockefeller offering another $5,000.

The 350-acre course closed immediately after the shooting and is being used as a command center in the manhunt.

Indecent Exposure To Seven-Year-Old

A 7-year-old girl was the victim of indecent exposure at 9 a.m. Saturday in Boyd Memorial Park at Mission Avenue and B Street, San Rafael, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The man was described as a Caucasian, about 30 years of age, six feet tall and weighing 180 pounds. No description was given of his clothing.

National Guardsmen Injured In Accident

REDMOND, Ore. (UPI)—Five National Guardsmen were injured during the weekend when a .30 caliber machine gun slug was discharged accidentally and ricocheted through an armory.

The weapon was being cleaned following a tank gunnery exercise Saturday when the accident occurred. The shell's impact shattered cement, which injured four guardsmen. The fifth was hit by the ejected shell casing.

RECITAL — Nora Gohl, dramatic soprano 24, Greenbrae, will give a recital for the Sept. 19 meeting of the East Bay Opera League in Oakland. She is a soloist at the Mill Valley Christian Science Church and was guest artist with the Fresno Philharmonic in February.

Hanoi's Peace Talk Official Is Back In Paris, Has Little To Say

PARIS (UPI)—Le Duc Tho, North Vietnam's top man for secret peace talks, returned to Paris today from consultations in Hanoi, Peking and Moscow, raising the possibility of a new round of private conversations to end the war.

"No, I haven't met him in Moscow," Tho told journalists at Le Bourgent airfield when asked whether he had conferred with U.S. Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger in the Soviet capital.

Queried whether his return will lead to new secret talks between him and Kissinger, who today opened talks in Moscow with Soviet leaders on Vietnam and other world issues, Tho said, "You will have an answer in a few days time."

The smiling and tough-talking North Vietnamese Communist official refused to answer questions on whether his monthlong consultations in Hanoi will lead to a shift in the Communist position allowing a break in the talks deadlock.

"I wish to stress I am returning here to continue negotiations with the United States to settle peacefully the Vietnamese problem," said Tho, who was wearing his traditional black high-buttoned Mao tunic.

"I also want to emphasize I am returning with good will and a serious attitude. If the United States shows a similar frame of mind, peace can return soon in the interests of the United States and all other peoples."

Tho's remarks on Kissinger were taken by Vietnamese diplomats present at the airfield as making it virtually certain that Tho and Kissinger will get together again soon.

Tho, usually talkative on his frequent returns from similar consultations, pushed his way through the crowd of news reporters and photographers, shaking an upraised arm and refusing to answer any other questions.

In a brief hand-written statement translated from the Vietnamese into French, the senior Hanoi diplomat said Communist armed forces are "scoring victories in spite of difficulties."

Tho reiterated the Communist warning that "if the United States listens to the voice of war the Vietnamese people will continue fighting until final victory."

In his brief statement Tho did not specifically request full compliance with the Viet Cong seven-point peace plan.

Trees Will Be Planted At Lake

The planting is the first phase in a beautification project by the committee that will ultimately involve 2,300 tree plantings.

Many youth groups have volunteered to plant, but more workers are needed that day, according to Walt Brown, publicity chairman. Volunteers are asked to contact the committee at 1294 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

WORKING ON THE RAILROAD TRAIL

A $525,000 waste treatment and disposal system for Bolinas — designed to end dumping of raw sewage into the Bolinas Lagoon —will face a crucial voter test in November.

Residents in the Bolinas Community Public Utility District will be asked to approve a $385,000 bond issue to finance the local share of the project, which will treat sewage in a system of holding ponds, then dispose of it through spray irrigation. The district is also seeking $327,000 in state and federal grants.

The $712,000 total includes payment of a $187,000 bill from former district engineers, Kennedy Engineers, for work done on a subsequently abandoned $8.1 million project planned with Stinson Beach. That project was killed last year when the state refused to certify it for grants, agreeing with many residents that it was too big and too costly.

For nearly 10 years, the district has been under "cease and desist" orders from the Regional Water Quality Control Board to stop discharging its wastes into the lagoon.

The proposed system will serve the 161 homes and businesses in the downtown area presently polluting tha lagoon with their sewage. Homes on the Bolinas Mesa will not be sewered at present, because of the prohibitive cost of such a project.

Residences on the mesa now dispose of sewage through individual septic tanks and do not contribute to lagoon pollution, even though some tanks are failing. (To alleviate the problem of nonfunctioning tanks, the County of Marin will be asked to delegate responsibility for septic tank regulation, inspection and abatement of failing tanks to the utility district.)

At the heart of the system will be six treatment ponds on 52 acres of property at Mesa Road and Overlook Drive.

Sewage will settle in some of the ponds and be aerated and treated with algae in others. Two of the pools will serve as holding ponds for the treated wastes.

Also on the site will be areas where the highly treated effluent can be used for irrigation of crops which the district may elect to plant adjacent to the ponds.

There will be no discharge of effluent into surface waters around Bolinas, only land irrigation.

Sewage from existing sewers in the downtown area will be pumped to the higher treatment area on the mesa by an underground pumping station on the Bolinas-Olema Road near its intersection with Brighton Avenue.

The system, being planned by Kirker, Chapman and Associates of San Francisco, the district's consulting engineers, is designed to serve a population of approximately 1,000 persons and meet district needs until 1995.

Once built, its operation and maintenance costs will be about $12,000 annually, according to the engineers. Most of that will be financed by monthly sewer service charges levied against homes connected to the system.

Cost of construction and engineering of the project is estimated at $368,500 and land acquisition at approximately $156,000.

To pay for the project all residents in the district — whether directly benefited or not — will be assessed 29 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This means the owner of a $25,000 home will be assessed approximatley $20 a year to pay off the bonds over a 40-year period.

In addition, residents of homes on the sewer line will pay $14 a month in sewer service charges. Persons building new homes on the system will be billed retroactively, $100 a year from the date of the bond sale.

If the bond issue passes, the district hopes to begin construction of the project in January, with completion scheduled for next summer.

Coffees Slated For Candidate

Coffees for Michael R. Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Fourth District, will be held this week in Larkspur, Woodacre, San Rafael, Corte Madera and Stinson Beach.

The coffees will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Larkspur home of J. Warnock Walsh Jr., 450 Riviera Circle; 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Woodacre home of Betty Gardner, 291 Railroad Avenue; 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the San Rafael home of Ken House, 246 Miramar Avenue; 8 p.m. Friday at the Corte Madera home of I. Thomas Zaragoza, 42 Chickasaw Court, and 1 p.m. Saturday at the Stinson Beach home of Douglas C. Smith, Calle Del Mar.

Santa Rosa Firm To Resurface Roads

Reichhold and Jurkovish of Santa Rosa were low bidder on five highway resurfacing jobs in Sonoma, Napa and Marin Counties at a cost of $282,781, according to the state Division of Highways.

Marin and Southern Sonoma jobs included in the bid opening Friday were resurfacing of Highway 37 from the Atherton Avenue undercrossing to Petaluma Creek Bridge and resurfacing of Highway 116 along a 3.3 mile section, between Adobe Road and Arnold Drive, about five miles north of Petaluma.

ENTHUSIASTIC EDITOR

By PATRICK CORMAN

You don't have to be a farmer to read the Farmer's Almanac.

And apparently you don't have to be a farmer to edit it.

The editor is Raymond A. Geiger, an affable man who, without embarrassment will lapse easily into a "gosh" or "golly."

Geiger, a shrewd publicist with enthusiasm for his job, takes only a week to compile the almanac from his office in Lewiston, Me. His real job, the one he loves best, is hitting the roads six months of the year drumming the 156-year-old publication.

Geiger is a walking testament to the Dale Carnegie approach to life. He's charged with enthusiasm and positive thinking, and has an unflagging capacity for being interviewed.

During the promotion season he'll talk up the almanac to s many as six radio and television stations, newspapers, magazines a day, and anyone else he can collar.

It's hard to tell where the almanac leaves off and the man begins. Geiger is given to puns,

RAYMOND A. GEIGER

anecdotes, and knee-slapping humor. Like a doting uncle, he keeps his pockets filled with surprises — felt-tip pens and playing cards with his caricature on the back — which he passes out to people he meets on his travels.

His amiable, folksy manner makes him much in demand as a speaker on the rubber chicken circuit. By his own count, he estimates he's given the same talk 2,500 times.

"Someone once described me as 'a man so dedicated to ecology he recycles his own material,'" he said the other day on a visit to the editorial offices of the Independent-Journal.

Under Geiger's tutelage, the almanac has remained on "a high moral plane", guaranteed to scintillate, not stimulate.

"This is a wholesome publication," he said. "We don't have any risque jokes, just good fun that the family can take into its home."

Amid the corn, tide tables, recipes, puzzles, and snappy comebacks, are the almanac's famous long-range weather forecasts which Geiger claimed are "way ahead of the U.S. Weather Bureau."

The monthly planting calendars are illustrated with woodcuts produced for the 1820 edition by a New York surgeon named Dr. Alexander Anderson who took up the hobby to keep his cutting hand in trim.

In its 156-year history, the almanac has had five editors. Geiger landed the job in 1932 when he was 23 after his family's novelty and calendar business took over the publication from the bankrupt owners.

Geiger's promotion techniques, sparked by the nostalgia boom, have paid off handsomely for the 48-page publication. Geiger will sell 5 million copies this year to institutions and companies who distribute them free to customers.

Asked for specifics, Geiger becomes a canny Yankee trader. He won't say how much a company pays for the almanac, only that it accounts for 8 per cent of the family business and "100 per cent of my fun."

Geiger, who is 63, doesn't have any retirement plans. The job, he said, guarantees longevity. Every editor of the Farmer's Almanac has lived to be older than 85 years.

Valley Oaks On Novato Plans List

The Novato Planning Commission will consider the master plan and tentative map of Valley Oaks Estates when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Kaehler-Timmer Development Co. has submitted the plan for 92 single-family lots on 22 out of 42 acres on the south side of Olive Avenue at Rita Court. The remaining 20 acres would be left in open space.

Other items to come before the commission include changing the name of Hill Avenue to Hill Road, changing the zoning from planned residential to administrative and professional for a 14,000 square foot lot at 1523 South Novato Boulevard for Richard Connell, revision of the sign ordinance, and development plans for 10 tennis courts and a swimming pool at Olive Ridge Tennis Club at Olive and Deer Island Lane for A. Quartaroli.

Scouts Gain $2,000 At Fair

San Rafael Boy Scout Troop 61 netted over $2,000 at the fast food booth it operated during the recent Marin County Fair, according to scoutmaster William Millar.

The 20 scouts, sponsored by Blessed Sacrament Church in Santa Venetia, prepared and served hamburgers and soft drinks supplied at cost by a local hamburger chain.

Millar said the money raised at the fair will be used to send 30 scouts to camp next year.

School Open Despite Threats Of Eviction

Marin City Learning Center opened its doors today at the Manzanita Center with about 20 students in attendance despite warning last week that the group risked eviction if it occupied the building.

According to a spokesman for the private school — which was started last September by Marin City parents who were dissatisfied with the education their children were receiving in the Sausalito School District — the students met in three classes with three teachers.

The spokesman said no one had asked the group to vacate the building today, despite pervious charges that they were occupying the vacated building illegally.

On July 22, about 25 parents took over the building and cleaned it of rubbish and debris, in preparation for today's beginning of school. At the time, Marin County Sheriffs asked the group to leave, but made no move to evict or arrest the cleanup crew.

Sausalito School District Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said he did not know if the building was occupied today, but if they were there, they were holding classes illegally.

He said the school board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the school district's office, 630 Nevada Street, Sausalito, to make a final decision on the Manzanita School Question.

Manzanita has been closed since June, 1971, when the district decided to send all its students to Martin Luther King and Bayside schools in Sausalito.

Tomorrow's Highway 101 Traffic Plan

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter the traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of the freeway involved are:

1. Between the Golden Gate and Richardson Bay bridges from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., various closures at different times of various lanes, to permit pavement marker placing.

2. Immediately north of Highway 37, both northbound and southbound median lanes will be closed from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for drainage work.

3. Between Forbes Overhead and North San Pedro Road, all three southbound lanes will be closed one at a time at various times between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. for repaving.

Mrs. Boxer Plans Campaign Events

Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the Second District, will hold two campaign events this coming weekend.

A neighborhood gathering will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Greenbrae home of R.M. Armstrong, 485 Los Cerros Drive, and a party will be held at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Kentfield home of Peter Charles, 33 Terrace Avenue. Guests are asked to wear red, white and lue.

Marin City Man, Woman Arrested

A Marin City man and his companion were arrested on Highway 101 yesterday on suspicion of burglary and conspiracy following the $100 robbery of a San Rafael service station.

David Walter Pedrico, 36, of 69 Cole Drive, and Francis Ann Arenado, 32, of the same address, were booked into Marin County Jail and held to appear today in Marin Municipal Court, he with bail set at $25,000, she with bail at $10,000.

According to police, the pair was arrested at the Sausalito-Marin City offramp on Highway 101 at 9:25 a.m. in a car described as similar to one involved in the robbery minutes earlier of a service station at Second and East streets, San Rafael.

Police said that a service station attendant reported seeing a man loading the station's cash register into a car and speeding away. No register was found in Pedrico's car.

Police said that Pedrico had been paroled 14 days ago from San Quentin.

Smoke Bomb Chases Restaurant Patrons

Police said a small smoke bomb was tossed into the downstairs restaurant portion through a door at the back alley at 8:50 p.m. Smoke ejectors cleared the building in 15 minutes and the operation resumed.

QUALIFIED PERSONNEL — Merrill J. Yoh (seated) and O. Fred Mayer, both unemployed after years of experience as middle management executives, review a brochure they helped draw up which profiles out-of-work Bay Area executives for prospective employers.

EXPERIENCE UNLIMITED

Self-Help Group Finds Jobs For Out-Of-Work Executives

By NELS JOHNSON

Merrill J. Yoh of Terra Linda once earned $15,000 a year as national sales manager of a San Francisco drafting and engineering firm, but the 59-year-old was dumped on the job market in 1969 when a larger corporation absorbed his company.

O. Fred Mayer, 48, of Rohnert Park, earned $18,000 a year as a senior flight test engineer with Boeing Co. in Seattle until May 1971, when he was laid off.

A 51-year-old San Rafael family man earned $12,000 a year as superintendent of a San Francisco paint factory until the plant closed in 1968.

All three have been looking for permanent work ever since as their precious savings accounts have dwindled.

The trio, along with a half-dozen other unemployed Marin residents, belongs to a self-help organization in San Francisco designed to help employers find qualified executive personnel.

It's called Experience Unlimited, and its aim is to go out of business by placing all its members in jobs.

There are more than 20 chapters of Experience Unlimited located in offices of the state Department of Human Resources Development throughout California.

The San Francisco offices of the organization — established in 1930 as a private group, but since taken over by the state — are at 134 California Street.

More than 50 middle-management professionals, ranging from the doctorate to the technician level, belong to the local chapter, according to the husky, white-haired Yoh.

Yoh said active group members must log four hours of volunteer time each week, staffing the office or canvassing prospective employers.

In addition, weekly meetings are held during which members brush up on resume writing techniques, learn how to breeze through an interview or listen to speakers, who offer tips on job hunting.

In return, each active member is listed on the organization's master card file which details job history, education and qualifications. Bulletins listing the scope of Experience Unlimited's resource pool are periodically sent to employers.

The result is a "large turnover in membership", according to Yoh, who said he's been listed with the organization for about eight months.

Yoh said the organization can save a firm costly training expenses and provides able executives on short notice without charge.

Experience Unlimited provides a unique service for unemployed executives, many of whom find their out-of-work status a "peculiar and frightening predicament," Yoh said.

Unemployed middle management personnel are trapped, he said, because firms rarely hire at the middle management level. "Firms hire at the bottom or at the top, but never in the middle."

Yoh said he's been hounding employers since 1969 when a merger eliminated his managerial job. He had worked for his company for 20 years.

He received no severance pay, and unemployment checks stopped coming in July. "It's getting down to the nitty-gritty," he said.

After 20 years in the engineering field, he was laid off at a Boeing plant in Seattle. He moved the family to Sonoma County, where his wife found a job as a waitress. But he's had less luck.

"Companies want to promote from within," he said. Mayer, who has been unemployed since January, said most firms won't allow a new executive to take a pay cut because then "they think you'll be looking for more pay elsewhere."

Mayer said he's written more than 400 letters to prospective employers since January. "I didn't even know how to type before," he said.

Audubon Feature — Talk On Predatory Animals

Scott Sway of the North American Association for the Preservation of Predatory Animals, will speak at the first fall meeting of the Marin Audubon Society at 8 p.m. Oct. 6 at the Ross School auditorium.

Sway will bring a live tamed wolf with him and will show a film entitled "Death of a Legend," about the character of wolves and their place in nature.

Other Audubon Society events scheduled in October will include a field trip past the Farallones on Oct. 1, starting at 6:45 a.m. at the Blue Horizon pier in Sausalito behind the Spinnaker restaurant; and the start of the fall series of wildlife films with "The Yosemite — An Ecological Visit" at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at Olney Hall, College of Marin.

The society reported that it has received a grant of $10,000 from Standard Oil Co. of California to produce three educational films for young children featuring Elizabeth Terwilliger of Mill Valley. Filming is scheduled this fall and next spring at nature areas in Marin.

Pilot Succumbs To Heart Attack

JAKARTA (UPI)—A Pan American World Airways pilot suffered an apparent heart attack and died minutes after he landed a Boeing 707 jetliner at Jakarta Airport late Saturday night.

The pilot, whose name was withheld pending notification of next of kin, was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

A company spokesman said the pilot had landed the jetliner normally and taxied to the Jakarta terminal building. He had just shut down the engines and was completing an instrument check when he slumped forward over the controls.

Big Storm Hits Arizona Town

MESA, Ariz. (UPI) —A severe storm packing tornado-like winds, golf ball size hail and heavy rain, swept through portions of town Sunday night, causing severe damage in downtown and a residential area.

No injuries were reported.

The rear portion of a block building housing the S & H transmission repair shop was destroyed and a nearby dry cleaning establishment was heavily damaged.

TO A BLACK HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATE, THE QUESTION ISN'T WHICH COLLEGE HE'LL GO TO, IT'S WHETHER HE CAN GO AT ALL.

Every year, America is robbed of the contributions that blacks could make. Because of the thousands of potential doctors, teachers, and lawyers that graduate from high school, only a few ever make it to college.

We help to educate over 45,000 black students in 40 private, four-year colleges. Where they learn to turn their potentials into realities.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

Slow Summer For Youth In Novato

The Novato Youth Employment Agency had a slack summer as jobs and income dropped to less than half of last year's totals, according to Ronald Pugh, agency director.

Despite the dip, Pugh said he hoped that youth employment service would become an all-year operation "with the Novato Youth Commission or some other agency taking care of it."

The summer, the program designed to provide jobs for boys and girls between the ages of 15 and 18, was sponsored by the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission and the Novato Rotary Club.

During the period from June 19 to Aug. 18, the agency handled 66 jobs as compared to 148 last summer and income totaled $2,280 as compared to $5,793 last summer.

Forty-two youths were registered and 33 placed in jobs as compared to 145 registered and 64 placed last summer, Pugh said.

Most of the jobs were yard work, some were baby-sitting and a few were offbeat such as the task of typing the batting averages of minor league baseball players for a baseball information service in Novato.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 9 p.m. — Sean Connery and Dyan Cannon star in "The Anderson Tapes," the story of the planning and execution of a daring robbery, will be colorcast as the season premiere of the NBC Monday Night Movies.

Gunfight Participant Will Not Be Charged

No charge will be filed against a 27-year-old English man arrested Thursday on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs during an investigation of a fatal gunfight in Homestead Valley, Marin's assistant district attorney said today.

Joshua W. Thomas said no complaint will be filed against Rufus John Shepherd because one and a half ounces of white powder thought seized in his room at 43 Homestead Boulevard turned out to be harmless.

Thomas said the powder was a kind sometimes blended with heroin to cut the drug, but not a narcotic itself.

Although Shepherd was cleared, Thomas said other possible drugs and paraphernalia found in a room shared by Ricky Eugene Caponio, 29, and Linda Leopold, 27, were still being analyzed.

According to sheriff's deputies who investigated the predawn shooting, an ex-convict known as Thomas Harold Boord and Donald Charles Brazao entered the room and began firing at Caponio, who shot back.

The intruder was killed, his body hit by five slugs, and Caponio was hospitalized with abdominal wounds.

Caponion may have been expecting trouble, inspectors said, because he reportedly told a neighbor he was having trouble with prowlers and not to worry if he heard shots.

When the shots came about 5:45 a.m., Shepherd, returning home at the time, dived behind a car as Mill Valley Police arrived and was taken into custody in the confusion. He was later booked after a search of the house.

Dominican Students Make 'Who's Who'

Five seniors at Dominican College, San Rafael, will be listed in the new edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

They are: Janet Filippi of Mill Valley, Alicia Snyder of San Anselmo, Aurora Gurdian of Nicaragua, Kathleen Laubacher of Oxnard, and Peggy Machado, of Sacramento.

23 Marinites Selected For Writers 'Shop

Twenty-three Marin residents have been chosen for the College of Marin writers' workshop which will prepare them as student workers and poetry readers at the college's fourth annual Writers' Conference scheduled for next spring.

They will attend a workshop to be held at the college on the Oct. 21-23 weekend. They were selected on the basis of poetry and short stories submitted to the college's English department.

Chosen were Sara Adams and Mrs. Thomas Price of Belvedere, Sean Freeman of Bolinas, Joel Obuchon of Corte Madera, Jim Lindauer of Fairfax, Anita Perna of Kentfield, Sarah Howard of Lagunitas, Florence Burroughs Elizaebth Keer and Frances Walter of Mill Valley, Linda Kay Reynolds, Jeannette Scovill and Annette Smail of Novato, Louisa M. Berger of Point Reyes Station, R. Lief Sibley of Ross, Fran Nikas, Kathy Rainey, Roy Stevens and Kathy Waters of San Anselmo, Helen Lindberg, Ellie Mooney and Les Turner of San Rafael, and Joy M. Crandall of Tiburon.

A QUESTION OF IDENTITY

If these puppies turn out meowing instead of barking, it will be no wonder. Since Labor Day, they've been under the maternal care of a cat named Betty who lives at the Little Red Dog Motel in San Rafael. The puppies — less than a week old — were adopted by Betty after a customer who found them abandoned on the beach turned them over to Jeffrey P. Mears and Bill Bear, operators of the motel. The motel men enlisted the aid of Betty, who was nursing her own litter of kittens at the time. So far, there's been enough food for all.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Reader Wonders: Why Don't Doctors Ever Make House Call?

P. C. writes: "Why don't doctors make house calls any more?"

I know several physicians who make house calls, especially those practicing in smaller communities. However, studies have shown that only one house call in 10 is necessary. All too often the person has been ill for 24 hours, the family panics, and decides the doctor should drop everything and come to the house.

There are many reasons why the house call no longer is practicable. At one time, the doctor carried all his equipment in a little black bag. Is also included the remedies that were available at the time. He took the pulse and temperature, listened to the heart and lungs, and felt the abdomen. The patient opened the mouth and said "Ah" — while the tongue was held down with a tongue depressor. A urine specimen was obtained and the patient was given a pill or a prescription for his problem. This was as complete an examination as the doctor could do.

BY MODERN standards this examination is far from complete, and a more thorough study can be done in the office or hospital emergency room. In the long run, the patient benefits.

Furthermore, making a house call in the city is becoming more difficult. It takes a long time, especially when the traffic is heavy, and parking is a problem. In addition, the doctor is in danger of being mugged or robbed. House calls are simply uneconomical and not practicable.

ON THE OTHER hand, in problem cases, the house call may aid in making the diagnosis. The physician has the opportunity to meet the family and look over the home surroundings. A house call is most valuable to the allergist or skin specialist who is trying to pinpoint the cause of a recurring rash or hives. Surprisingly, these physicians often find a significant cause that the patient has missed.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

SPASTIC BOWEL

S. C. writes: Can a spastic bowel lead to ulcerated colitis?

REPLY

I doubt it. Spastic colon is common and a few of its victims will develop ulcerative colitis. On the other hand, ulcerated colitis is a very irritating condition and spasm invariably exists.

ATTACHED TO PSYCHIATRIST

A reader writes: My psychiatrist has helped me a great deal, but my attachment to him is making me ill. Should I quit seeing him or tell him about my problem?

REPLY

CROSS-EYED AT 60

N. E. B. writes: Will exercises help cross-eye in a man of 60?

REPLY

I doubt it if the eye has been crossed from birth. On the other hand, exercises may help if the abnormality developed suddenly only a few days or weeks ago.

IODINE AND GRAY HAIR

C. G. writes: Is iodine good for overcoming gray hair?

REPLY

No, and let's not consider using iodine as a dye.

Chinese To Buy Boeing Aircraft

SEATTLE (UPI) — The government of China has signed an agreement to buy commercial jetliners from the Boeing Co., a spokesman for the company said Sunday night.

"Additional details are unavailable pending the arrival in Washington, D.C., Tuesday afternoon of Byron H. Miller, Boeing's head salesman in the Chinese negotiations," said James Boynton, director of public relations for Boeing's commercial airplane division.

Despite lack of official confirmation, it was believed the contract called for the sale of 10 Boeing 707s and parts for $150 million.

Ex-S.F. Mayor Demands Apology From Candidate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— George Christopher, former San Francisco mayor and a Republican, Sunday demanded that Democratic vice presidential candidate Sargent Shriver apologize to Greek-Americans for a remark he recently made.

Christopher said that Shriver told an audience in Northern Virginia that if Vice President Spiro Agnew doesn't like young people, he should "...go back to Greece with the young people there—not just to Baltimore, but all the way back to Greece."

The former mayor, who served two terms from 1955-1964, wrote a letter to Shriver citing the speech.

"I too, now call on you to unequivocally apologize for this insult, not only to the over 1,500,000 Americans of Greek extraction in the United States, but to every fair-minded American regardless of national origin."

Shorter, Hart Star In Olympic Finale; Russia Takes Crown

MUNICH (UPI) — Frank Shorter and Eddie Hart, a pair of Americans who wouldn't give up, won gold medals on the final day of Olympic track and field competition, but it did little to ease the pain of the overall Russian triumph in the Games.

The closing ceremony, tempered to the tragedy of the Israeli massacre, will end the 20th Games tonight. The carefree Bavarian dancers will not perform as scheduled and the gay sounds of carnival jazz will be replaced by classical music.

The somber mood should fit the Americans, who have had their worst Olympics of modern times. The U.S. won only 33 gold medals compared to 45 in 1968 while the Russians won 50, a Games record.

But Shorter, who was born in Munich 24 years ago, made Sunday more pleasant by winning the 26-mile marathon, the first American to win this grueling race in 64 years.

And Hart, deprived of a chance to run in the open 100 by a mixup of starting times on a qualifying heat, anchored the 400-meter relay team to victory in 38.2, equalling a world record.

The Americans also won two gold medals in archery and one in boxing. John Williams, 18, of Cranesville, Pa., the world champion, won the men's archery title easily and Mrs. Doreen Wilbur, 42, of Jefferson, Iowa, came from fourth place to win the women's title.

The U.S. also received two silvers—one it refused to accept in basketball—and a bronze, to 18-year-old Dwight Stones of UCLA with a leap of 7-3 in the high jump. The other silver went to the U.S. women's 1,600-meter relay team of Mabel Fergerson, Madeline Manning, Cheryl Toussaint and Kathy Hammond.

The U.S. women didn't win a track gold for the first time in history and the men only won six. The Russians won the most track gold medals, nine, and East Germany had eight while the Americans won the most track medals, 21, to 20 for East Germany and 17 for Russia.

The Soviet Union won two track golds the final day—Yuri Tarmak in the high jump with a leap of 7-3 3-4 and Fina Melnik in the women's discus with a throw of 218-7.

The Russians were declared winners of the Olympic basketball gold medal Sunday and the Americans' 36-year reign in the sport ended.

The end came when the International Basketball Federation (FIBA) announced that the American protest of their 51-50 loss to the Russians Saturday in the gold medal game was denied. But the American players declared they could not accept the decision and refused to accept a silver medal.

Ferenc Hepp of Hungary, chairman of the five-man FIBA group that made the decision on the basketball game, tried to explain how it was reached.

He began at the point where Doug Collins made two free throws to give the United States a 50-49 lead with three seconds to play.

Then, he said, play resumed with the Russians bringing the ball in, but Brazilian referee Renato Righetto "detected a disturbance on the sidelines which he believed interfered with the normal flow."

The "disturbance," the Americans contended, was nothing more than the Russian coach jumping onto the court in an attempt to get a time out he could not legally call. One second was left on the clock.

Hepp said the clock was ordered returned to the three second mark. But it was not and when play resumed the game-ending horn blew almost immediately.

Because the clock had not properly been placed back to three seconds, play was ordered resumed again with the three seconds showing on the clock and it was then that the Russians got their goal.

Munich police, still edgy after the massacre Tuesday of 11 Israelis, sent truckloads of armed police into the Olympic Village Sunday night after a report gunfire had broken out near the Soviet quarters.

An unidentified policeman in the village complex told newsmen one man was shot dead and three wounded in the shooting outside the Russian housing complex, but a spokesman for the Olympic Games denied the report.

Meanwhile, West Germany won the team grand prix jumping Olympic gold medal today ahead of the United States and Italy.

AFTER GOLF WIN

Player's Song Is Different

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — When you call Gary Player a scrambler, he usually denies it emphatically.

But the 17-year PGA tour veteran sang a different tune Sunday after he picked up $50,000 for his 71-71-142, two-stroke victory over Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino in the 11th annual World Series of Golf. It was the third time the South African has captured the 36-hole event.

Player, who won the Professional Golf Association championship a month ago, one-putted 10 out of the first 14 holes in the final round, nine of which were to salvage par, "the best putting since I don't remember when."

"I don't remember putting so well from the No. 1 through No. 36 as I did here," Player said. "Yes, I did have a scrambling day.

"A good example of that was on No. 11 when I hooked my drive in the left rough, couldn't see the flag and hat to hit a nine-iron to the green. The ball went by the hole 30 feet. My first putt went in for a birdie."

That was only the second birdie Player managed in two days over the par 70, 7,100-yard Firestone Country Club course. The first came in Saturday's opening round on the same par four 365-yard hole.

While Player hit only four of the first 14 greens in regulation during the finald round, he came on strong in the stretch, parring the final four holes. His only real difficulty came on the 625-yard 16th hole.

"Gary got it up and down on every hole," said a dejected Nicklaus, who along with Trevino picked up $11,250. "Nobody was putting any pressure on Gary so he just chipped up and made his par putts.

"I never got anything going here and when I went on the tee, all I would think about was getting par. I didn't get it sharp enough. I played less bad golf today (Sunday) but my three-putting on the first and fourth holes made the difference."

Trevino, who blamed his poor performance at least partly on new grips, said his even par final round "felt like I shot a 65 here because I just didn't hit it well."

"I just hit the ball terribly," said the British Open champion. "There are no excuses but I

Giants Get Split— And Some Praise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants may be down but they're definitely not out as a future National League power, says Cincinnati Reds' manager Sparky Anderson.

"There's no question in my mind the Giants could jump from fifth to first next season," says Anderson, whose Reds split a Sunday doubleheader with San Francisco, winning the opener, 8-7, and dropping the nightcap, 8-2.

"Those Giants can really hit and they have a lot of good-looking young players," adds Anderson. "In this division, the balance is so good you never know one year from the next."

Sunday's split, coupled with Houston's loss to Los Angeles, boosted the Reds' Western Division lead to 7½ games over the Astros. The fifth-place Giants were idle today before hosting the Dodgers Tuesday night.

Cincinnati won the opener with a two-run rally in the eighth inning, capped by Joe Morgan's run-scoring single with two outs. Morgan, a former Oakland prep, collected three singles, stole three bases and scored twice.

John Bench blasted his 31st homer and drove in three runs. The Reds' catcher added an RBI in the second game to boost his season total to 101. Reliever Tom Hall, 8-1, was the winner, while Randy Moffett took the loss.

Bobby Bonds ended a two-for-34 slump with a three-run homer that highlighted a four-run seventh inning rally that proved decisive for the Giants in the second game. The win went to Juan Marichal, 6-15, his first victory since Aug. 15.

"I was really getting frustrated," says Bonds. "I didn't really consider myself in a slump because I was hitting the ball, but I did start wondering when they'd start dropping for me."

READ SAYS:

Tar '11' Scrimmage Fruitful

"We got an awful lot accomplished — these scrimmages are great," said College of Marin coach Dick Read after his team devoted Saturday partly to traveling and partly to football.

The Tars held a two-part scrimmage with Diablo Valley College of Pleasant Hill. The visitors' offense worked against Marin's defense in Kentfield in the morning, and Marin's offense tested Diablo Valley's defense in Pleasant Hill in the evening.

"They scored seven or eight touchdowns and we got three," said Reed, "but the important thing is that we got an awful lot out of it in terms of personnel. We were able to concentrate on one aspect of the game for a couple of hours, and our whole coaching staff was able to watch and make constructive comments to the kids.

"We were pleased with the attitude, that type of thing. There was some good tackling, but some poor tackling, too. We were inconsistent."

Read liked the play on offense of end Mike Corder, tackle Tim Thompson and halfback Bob Daniele, a converted quarterback. On offense, cornerback Leon Howard and linebacker Les Dunn were impressive. "Dunn hadn't played much defense before — this scrimmage was good for him," Read said.

Conditioning Is 'Cats Key In Win

By LEW CODDINGTON

If any cynics expected Mari. Catholic High School's football team to get weary and fade Saturday afternoon, they must be pretty tired themselves by now, for they are still waiting.

"Conditioning was the key," said head coach Bruno Banducci after his Wildcats scored in every quarter to defeat St. Elizabeth of Oakland, 25-0, in Marin County's first game of 1972.

Several men played both offense and defense for each school, as Marin Catholic entered the game with 22 men on its roster, and St. Elizabeth with 24.

The difference was that Marin Catholic's overworked gridders held up. In fact, the Wildcats mounted their best offensive drive of the day in the fourth quarter, slashing 49 yards in three plays to score on an eight-yard run by Layne Cozza.

The busy Cozza also returned a pass interception 58 yards for a score in the third period, ending any hopes St. Elizabeth had of rallying him from a 12-0 halftime deficit.

Cozza's interception was the most conspicuous of a long series of standout plays by the Wildcat defense. Until the final minute of the first half, the visitors from Oakland had a total offense of minus five yards.

"Everybody was outstanding on defense," said Banducci, "especially (defensive back) Ben Partee. He came up well to stop the run."

The 'Cats, running sweeps outside St. Elizabeth's tightly-bunched defense, rushed for 133 yards. Rich Cervisi had 45 and Cozza 41, each averaging four yards a crack.

Cervisi scored the second touchdown on a one-yard burst after the two teams had exchanged fumbles inside St. Elizabeth's five. Tackle Steve McKeon made the crucial Wildcat recovery.

Partee, who also played quarterback, netted the first score on a one-yard run. The visitors contributed to their own misfortune by fluttering consecutive punts of 12, six and seven

DeMONT DID NOT KNOW ABOUT DRUG

MUNICH (UPI) — The president of the United States Olympic Committee said Sunday that swimmer Rick DeMont of Terra Linda did not know the asthma medicine he was taking contained the drug ephedrine.

Ephedrine is on the banned list of Olympic drugs and the International Olympic Committee (IOC) disqualified DeMont from the 1,500-meter freestyle finals and revoked his gold medal in the 400-meter freestyle.

Clifford Buck of Denver, president of the United States Olympic Committee said neither DeMont, 16, nor his parents knew the medicine contained ephedrine. The medicine was prescribed by his family doctor.

"I want to state positively that DeMont has done nothing wrong and that he took the medicine solely to ease the asthmatic symptioms, as he has done for years," Buck said. "He is a fine young man and a courageous athlete who competes in spite of his ailment.

"The connotation of the word 'dope' in connection with this outstanding competitor is unthinkable and totally unwarranted," Buck said. "We look forward to the possibility of having him on the United States of America team again in 1976."

A's Increase Lead In Topping Rangers

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics upped their margin as American League Western Division leaders to 3½ games over Chicago Sunday with a 7-2 win over the Texas Rangers.

Sal Bando drove in two runs with a single and Mike Epstein, Matty Alou and Joe Rudi knocked in one apiece in a six-run eighth inning for the A's.

Texas starter Rich Hand has given up no hits until the sixth when pinch-hitter Gonzalo Marquez singled. Allen Lewis came in to run for Marquez and stole second. He went to third on a groundout and came home on a single by Bert Campaneris.

The game was still a tight pitching duel going into the eighth between Hand and Oakland reliever Roland Fingers, who took over for starter Ken Holzman in the sixth.

Fingers, now 9-6, picked up the win. Jim Panther, who relieved Hand in the eighth, took the defeat to make his record 5-9.

The Rangers took a 2-1 lead off Fingers in the seventh on Joe Lovitto's single, a stolen base and Larry Bittner's single before the A's erupted in the eighth.

Oakland is at Minnesota tonight for a doubleheader. Vida Blue, 5-8, pitches for Oakland in the first game and Joe Horlen, 2-4, goes in the second.

Three Homers Pace Headway's Victory

Bob Moore, Mel Camgros and Tim Barries hit home runs to lead Headway Enterprises to a 17-4 victory over Belly Whompers in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game Friday.

In other games, Marin Supply whipped Clobber, Inc., 12-2; 39 Marin edged Jackson 10, 6-3, and Fabulous Aliens thrashed Wrecking Crew, 16-7.

Trout Plantings

Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Phoenix reservoirs, southwest of Fairfax, were scheduled to get new plantings of rainbow trout this week, according to announcement from the Department of Fish and Game.

Boyd Museum Tennis Tourney Deadline Moved

The entry deadline has been extended until 5 p.m. today for the tennis doubles championships of the Louise A. Boyd Marin Museum of Science.

The tourney, open to players over 21 years of age, will be played at Albert Park and San Rafael High School Friday through Sunday and Sept. 22-24. Members of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association are eligible to play.

Applications are available at the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department or by writing to tournament chairman Mrs. E.J. Bowler, P.O. Box 12, Mill Valley 94941.

Iron Curtain Arrives In International Tennis Play

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) —The Iron Curtain has arrived in international tennis — emphatically.

The victory of Ilie Nastase of Romania, 3-6, 6-3, 6-7, 6-4, 6-3 over Arthur Ashe in U.S. Open tennis championships Sunday, coupled with his loss to Stan Smith in five sets at Wimbledon, establishes Ilie as a top world player, and Ilie just could carry his country to the Davis Cup over the United States in Bucharest, Oct. 13-15.

Nastase waged a clever war with Ashe, who, had he not been troubled by first service difficulties throughout the two and a half hour match, might have won his second Open crown. Ashe had played back at times to his winning form of 1968, but Ilie, only the third European to win here in 36 years, never lost his concentration, even when the record throng of 14,696 hooted at him for his court manners.

Ashe had opened forcefully, but his game in the second set and through the early stages of the third gave the impression that Nastase was in control. But when they reached the tie break, Ashe sprang to life and raced through to lead 2-1 in sets when he took the tiebreak, five points to one.

Yet Nastase was not to be denied. He took the fourth set after beginning badly, losing his service to Ashe in the third game when he opened with a double fault, then missed two volleys and a cross court forehand. But he came back o square the set in the eighth game, racing to love-40 before Ashe fought back to deuce, before bowing out on a wide forehand and a fine passing shot by the Romanian. Ilie held serve easily, then broke through for the set, Ashe getting only one point.

In the final set, Nastase and Ashe exchanged service breaks in the first two games, but Nastase got what he needed in the sixth game when Ashe missed a cross court forehand for 30-40 and then was long on a backhand. Ilie then served out the match, although Arthur managed to get to deuce in the final game.

Arthur declined to comment much on Nastase's court behavior, although admitting "his manners could be better."

Nastase thought his loss at Wimbledon in the final to Smith was "a tougher match" because he had been more nervous there. Smith, the defender here, had been put out by Ashe in the quarter finals.

The Romanian protested his innocence of bad manners. "I didn't hit the ball at the linesman or throw my towel at him," he said.

Petty Survives A Spectacular Crash

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

RICHMOND, Va. — Plymouth driver Richard Petty survived a spectacular three-car crash Sunday to win the Capital City 500 Stock Car Race here.

The accident involved Petty of Randleman, N.C., Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., and Buddy Baker. It happened on the 392nd lap as Petty was forced from the lead by the hard driving Allison.

Petty's car was knocked into a retaining fence but the veteran was able to continue and take the lead. Allison also continued and finished second. Baker was forced out of the race.

MONZA, Italy — For one hour 29 minutes and 58.4 seconds, a diminutive Brazilian known to his friends as "The Little Rat" pushed a patched automobile to the limits of endurance.

Finally, Emerson Fittipaldi of Sao Paolo, Brazil emerged winner of the Italian Grand Prix at Monza's grueling I-shaped course on Sunday and assured himself of the driver's world championship for Formula One racers.

Football

DALLAS — In about 10 days, injured Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach can begin to start throwing footballs again, his doctors announced Sunday. But only in practice. It will still be weeks before Staubach is strong enough to play in a football game.

Golf

DALLAS — Jane Blalock and pressure have become old friends since her suspension by the Ladies Professional Golf Association back in May.

"Pressure is something I've learned to live with," said the controversial Miss Blalock after Sunday's sudden-death playoff victory over Kathy Whitworth in the $33,000 Dallas Civitan Golf Tournament.

Miss Blalock sank a birdie putt on the first hole of the playoff to win, after she and Miss Whitworth finished the regulation 54-hole tournament in a tie, at 211.

Bears' Running Back Sayers Retires After Comeback Fails

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

One of the most illustrious names in the history of the game will be among the missing next Sunday when the National Football League's 1,040 players start playing for real.

The tedious seven weeks of exhibition games ended Sunday with five games and the 26 coaches will slice their rosters from 44 to 40 players Monday for the start of the 1972 regular season next Sunday.

But the results Sunday were overshadowed by the announcement that Gale Sayers, labeled by George Halas—who has seen them all—as the greatest running back in the history of the game, has retired.

Sayers made his first appearance in an exhibition game this season Saturday night and fumbled twice while carrying only three times in the Chicago Bears' 33-14 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals. Both fumbles were turned into Cardinal touchdowns.

Sayers, who'd played only two games in each of the last two seasons while trying to come back from his second knee injury, decided after the sorry showing to call it a career at age 29.

"The leg felt fine, but just hitting the Astroturf and getting on the leg made it very sore and I felt I'd better give it up," Sayers said."I hate to leave football, but I know I'm finished and I know I cannot go on this year." said.

GALE SAYERS
Gridder retires

Besides being one of the most brilliant runners in the history of the game, Sayers' fame transcended the pro football world when his close friendship with Brian Piccolo, who died of cancer three years ago, became the subject of a moving Emmy award winning TV show, "Brian's Song."

Sayers' retirement spotlights a problem that worries pro football officials—severe injuries. Players of Sayers' caliber create a void in the game when their careers are cut short by unfortunate injuries.

In the final five practice games Sunday, Miami surprised Minnesota 21-19 in a nationally televised game, Baltimore topped Denver 20-13, New England upset Detroit 34-30, the New York Giants edged Cleveland 28-21 and Houston tied New Orleans 14-14.

Exhibition records are misleading but Dallas (6-1) ended up with the best record and three other teams—Washington, San Diego and Pittsburgh—ended with identical 4-1-1 marks.

The disappointing team of the exhibition season had to be Minnesota, which wound up at 3-2 even thegh the Vikings are generally considered to be the team to beat this year. Eugene (Mercury) Morris, playing in place of ailing Jim Kiick, ran for two touchdowns—including one in the final minute—to lead Miami past the Vikings.

Jim Plunkett fired three touchdown passes to lead New England to the surprising victory over Detroit.

Johnny Unitas, ready for another year at age 39, directed Baltimore to a 20-point first half as the Colts downed Denver. Denver, which scored 76 points in its last two games, was held to one touchdown on an 89-yard punt return by Floyd Little.

Running back Charlie Evans ran for four touchdowns to give the Giants the victory over Cleveland.

In the other five games Saturday besides the St. Louis victory over Chicago, Dallas topped Oakland 16-10, Green Bay blanked Kansas City 20-0, Pittsburgh tied Washington 10-10, the New York Jets tied San Diego 20-20 and Atlanta routed Cincinnati 44-14.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Hot Red Sox Victorious

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Just ask a manager which club is going to win the complicated American League East and he'll explain it by saying it's as simple as hot and cold.

The one that gets hot will win the championship, that is.

Eastern Division leading Boston could certainly be called hot as the Red Sox swept a doubleheader from Cleveland Sunday, 5-1 in 12 innings and 2-0, to up their winning skein to five games. The twin-killing gave the Red Sox a 1-1-2 game lead over second-place Baltimore.

Luis Aparicio homered in the ninth inning of the second game to support John Curtis's five-hit pitching in Boston's second game win after rookie Carlton Fisk's 20th homer of the season triggered a four-run 12th inning in the Red Sox's opening game triumph.

"Anytime you're on top, you've got to like people chasing you but the team that is going to win it is the one that gets hot."

New York's Ralph Houk and Baltimore's Earl Weaver must have been operating on the same wave-length because both said, "The club that wins it is the one that gets hot."

In other American League games, Oakland defeated Texas, 7-2, New York downed Detroit, 5-0, Kansas City beat Minnesota, 3-1, Baltimore shaded Milwaukee 2-0, and California topped Chicago, 5-1.

Mel Stottlemyre, the only Yankee left from the 1964 league champions pitched a three-hit shutout and Horace Clarke and Bobby Murcer each drove in two runs as New York beat Detroit.

Jim Palmer edged closer to the 20-victory mark with a seven-hitter as he upped his season record to 19-8. Terry Crowley provided the batting support as he singled in a sixth inning run as Baltimore blanked Milwaukee.

Two-run homers by Bob Oliver and Leroy Stanton and rookie Bill Parker's first major league homer keyed California's victory over Chicago.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Torrez Belated Success

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Montreal Expos are still in the building stage but Mike Torrez has finally come of age.

Torrez handcuffed the National League East's division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates on eight hits Sunday as the Expos exploded for six runs in the third inning to defeat the Pirates, 8-2.

The triumph was Torrez's 16th in 25 decisions.

The veteran righthander did not figure prominently in the Expos' plans this season and originally was not even supposed to make the club in spring training.

"They told me I would probably be sent down to the minors," Torrez said. "I'm very pleased with my season thus far and I'm going to give it a shot for 20 victories. I wanted to prove to the Expos that I could still pitch in the majors and I wanted to show them that I was mature enough to do the job."

In other National League games Chicago downed Philadelphia 5-3, New York edged St. Louis 3-2, Cincinnati and San Krancisco split a twinbill, the Reds winning the opener 8-7 and the Giants taking the nightcap 8-2, Los Angeles nipped Houston 3-2, and Atlanta and San Diego divided a pair, the Padres taking the first game 1-0 and the Braves winning the nightcap 4-1.

Fred Gladding made a wild throw after fielding Steve Garvey's bunt single to enable the deciding run to score as the Dodgers erupted for three runs in the eighth inning to down Houston.

Phil Niekro pitched the Braves to their second game win over the Padres after Leron Lee's seventh inning home run and Mike Corkins' first big league shutout won the opener for San Diego.

That was Dewitt Weaver's first reaction Sunday after defeating Chuck Courtney on the first hole of a sudden death playoff to win the Southern Open golf tournament.

Weaver, who lost three strokes on the final two holes of regulation play Sunday at the Green Island Country Club course, won the playoff with a par and collected first prize money of $20,000. "This one means more to me because I've now won both type tournaments," said Weaver, who plays at St. Simons Island, Ga.

"A lot of people had criticized my victory in the Match Play tournament, but I finally decided I had won it and nothing else mattered. I don't think I have anything left to prove any more."

What Weaver proved in the Southern Open was that he can overcome adversity. Despite the fact he played the entire tournament with an infected left ear that he said bothered his balance, he was never out of the lead.

However, things did get sticky Sunday when he bogeyed No. 17 and then took a double bogey on 18 after hitting his first tee shot out of bounds and almost doing the same with his second.

On the sudden death hole, Weaver said he tried to let his imagination hit his first two shots.

"I took a two-iron on the tee and imagined I was going to hit on the top of the hill," he said, "And I did.

MORE THAN TRANSPORTATION

The latest word in the Dodge compact line for 1973 is the Dart Sport. Equipped with fold down rear seat package, it does tasks of an economy station wagon. With sunroof option, it offers fresh-air convertible feeling, and the catchy "up and over" paint stripe and vinyl roof option conveys a young image. Interest Lags In Trading

Declines led advances, 679 to 395, among the 1,471 issues crossing the tape. Two-hour turnover amounted to more than 3,860,000 shares.

Many investors have remained on the sidelines for more than two weeks. Analysts said they are concerned about rising interest rates, among other things.

Also, since the massacre of Israeli athletes at Munich, many have shown concern the Middle East situation may flare up into a major confrontation, analysts said.

Shell Oil was the most active issue, up 1-4 at 49 5-8 on 78,800 shares.

Prices were lower in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange. National General new warrants were the most active issue, off 7-8 at 5 7-8 on 21,000 traded.

Glamors, electronics and computers generally took a pounding. Xerox managed to gain 1 1-4. But Walt Disney lost 4, Corning Glass 2, and Schlumberger, Upjohn and Winnebago around a point each.

Texas Instruments dropped 3, IBM 2 1-4, Fairchild Camera 1 5-8 and Honeywell 1 3-8.

Airlines were lower. Eastern Airlines and Delta lost a point apiece.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In January, 1970, I bought 154 shares of International Industries at 35½ per share. Shortly before that I had purchased 55 shares of Itel at 32¼. The $7,330 spent was our life savings and was our first experience with stocks. How can we salvage something from these stocks? — K.A.

A. International Industries (NYSE), in an effort to resolve its financial problems, has sold several operations, restructured its debt and is in the process of merging with the Master Hosts subsidiary. Deficits have been reported in each of the last seven quarters. Additional nonrecurring expenses are possible as a result of recent divestitures. Revenues from continuing operations could reach $85 million for the year ended August, up from $60 million in fiscal 1971.

Itel is an equally speculative situation. Earnings were off sharply last year, and for the first half of this year Itel reported a loss of $0.39 per share. In April the company's interest in Diablo System was sold to Xerox for 121,000 Xerox shares. Some 57 per cent of the common is held by a subsidiary of American Express and Fireman's Fund Insurance.

Although neither issue is suited to your needs, the harm is done now. With only a $1,350 current value remaining of your original $7,330 investment, shares should be held for eventual partial recovery.

Fotomat Has Good Quarterly Sales

LA JOLLA (BW) — Fotomat Corp. has reported that retail sales from all stores for the three months ended July 31 reached $17,381,000 compared with $14,178,000 in the like period in 1971.

Earnings per share, after extraordinary items of 36 cents per share, reached 47 cents compared with a loss of 1 cent per share for the like period in 1971.

Sears Auto Center Set For Opening

Sears' new Automotive Center at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will open Wednesday several weeks ahead of the main Sears, Roebuck and Co. retail store.

The Automotive Center alone occupies more than 30,000 squre feet for its 18-car capacity service area, parts and accessory departments, and basement stock room. In addition, it has a gasoline island with four double pumps, manned by young women attendants.

Charles C. Mace of Novato, manager of the automotive center, said it can perform services ranging from repairing windshield wipers to installing air conditioners, engines and transmissions. In addition to sale of tires, batteries, oil and automotive accessories, Sears is now equipped to do tune-up work and all automotive services except body and fender work.

Mace said the center provides other services such as brake work, custom seat cover and trim installation, muffler and tail pipe installation, radiator overhaul and repair as well as tire changing, repair, front end overhaul, wheel alignment and balancing.

Sears also sells parts over the counter for "repair it yourself" fans, or installs the parts at the center. Hours are 8 to 5:30 Monday, Tuesday, and Saturday and 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Catania Sound Inc. To Move To Northgate Shopping Center

Catania Sound Inc., the San Rafael stereo and hi-fi shop which has been in business for 24 years, will move into Northgate Mall by early fall, possibly October.

It will move from downtown San Rafael at 857 Fourth Street to 4400 Northgate Mall, the present location of McKenzie's children's shop. (McKenzie's is moving next door to 4000 Northgate Mall, vacated by Chandler's Fabrics, which in turn has brand new quarters near the new Sears complex.)

Charles J. Catania said his new shop will continue to provide the same services — specializing in stereo and hi-fi components for the home. Catania also sells tape recorders, portable radios, records, loudspeakers, custom furniture for stereo systems, and all audio accessories that go with sound and home music systems.

Catania Sound opened for business in 1948 in Kentfield, where it operated for three years before moving to San Rafael 21 years ago.

E. F. O'SULLIVAN of Greenbrae has been named director of marketing and sales for Leadership Homes of Northern California, a Lafayette-based development company.

O'Sullivan has been in Bay Area real estate for more than 12 years. Before joining Leadership Homes, he held management positions with Boise Cascade and Perma-Bilt Enterprises.

O'Sullivan

Phillips

G. WESLEY PHILLIPS has been named director of marketing for the Northern California division of The McCarthy Company. The Northern California division headquarters is at 4340 Redwood Highway, Northgate Industrial Park, San Rafael.

Phillips was marketing director for a major Southern California home builder before taking the San Rafael post. He has been involved in housing sales and marketing for more than 12 years.

RUSSEL D. JONES, an attorney who was associated with Buresh, Vallarino, Costamagna and Claxon for more than three years, has opened his own law office at the Holiday Plaza, 1050 Northgate Drive, San Rafael.

Jones specializes in corporation law and estate planning. He was deputy Commissioner of Corporations in San Francsico before joining the Buresh firm.

A MOTORCYCLE Shop for both repair and restoration of antique motorcycles has just opened at Hamilton Industrial Park in Ignacio, 38-B Hamilton Drive.

Proprietor is Kris Stenz of Corte Madera, who has 10 years of automotive experience and has been tinkering with motorcycles for the past four years. Stenz said he made several trips to the mid-West to pick up truckloads of antique motorcycles and parts.

"I'm mainly interested in Harley Davidsons," said Stenz. "My business will be repair, antique restoration and custom construction of motorcycles." He will sell both new and used parts. He has not yet decided on the name of his new firm.

William Hoey Company of San Rafael arranged for the lease of space for the motorcycle shop. Hoey Company also negotiated four other leases at Hamilton Industrial Park and one in East San Rafael as follows:

ROCK ISLAND Foods, formerly located at 1915-A Bridgeway in Sausalito, leased warehouse space at 38-C Hamilton Drive. The company is a wholesale supplier of foods to health food stores in Marin. Owners are Henry Abramson of Mill Valley and Nancy Coner of Berkeley.

GERARD A. HENDRIKS San Rafael accountant, leased warehouse space at 56-H Hamilton Drive for storage of lumber for home building.

FRITZ WANNAMAKER of Ross leased a thousand square feet at 50 Lisbon Street in San Rafael for woodworking and sculpturing operations.

DR. DEL HERRICK, president of Farrar, Herrick & Associates, a real estate development company, will speak to the Redwood Dental Society at Los Robles Hotel in Santa Rosa this evening.

Dr. Herrick's firm has offices in San Rafael, San Bernardino, and Redondo Beach. Himself a dentist, Dr. Herrick will speak on the topic, "Who Says You Can't Keep a Good Man Down?"

TEACHERS MANAGEMENT and Investments (TMI) Corportation of Southern California, which has a branch on Mission Avenue in San Rafael, will build a convention center, Hilton Hotel and a specialty village shopping center at Lighthouse Point in Santa Cruz.

Charles Jones Jr., manager of the San Rafael office of TMI, said his firm and the Lighthouse Point Ltd., composed of some 1,500 California educators, bought the 30 acres on which the $25 million project will be built. The City of Santa Cruz bought an adjoining 10 acres on which the public sector of the project will build a convention center auditorium-theater complex.

SAN QUENTIN Seminar — Kirk G. Aguer, account executive for Dean Witter & Co., conducted a seminar on investments and money management in San Quentin Prison's north dining hall last Saturday, September 9, morning. The seminar covered such topics as why, when and where to invest; kinds of investments; and comparison of income, blue chip and speculative stock. Inmates had a chance to ask questions during a question and answer period.

New Executive For Oil Firm

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. has announced that John J. Dorgan has been elected to the position of vice president and treasurer, replacing Charles J. Lee who resigned.

Dorgan, whose appointment is effective immediately, has moved to Occidental's corporate offices in Los Angeles from Belgium where he served as executive managing director of the company's operations in that country and Holland.
